POLICE STRIKE FIRST BLOW AT HUNGER MARCH

Arrest Four for Soliciting for Cause on Eve of Child Gathering.

CAPITAL DETECTIVES SENT TO BALTIMORE

Squad Sworn to Secrecy Has Been Drilling Two Weeks at Camp Simms.

A stunning blow was struck at the national "hunger march" by Capital police yesterday with the arrest of four solicitors for the hunger cause on the eve of the "child misery" demonstration here, signaled as a "mighty prelude" to the hunger march advent here.

Even as police here were corraling the four solicitors and arresting them on charges of soliciting without a permit, three Washington detectives were on hand at Communist headquarters in Baltimore where the "child misery" protestants congregated last night prior to their entrance into Washington.

White and colored, ranging from 8 to 15 years old, the approximately 50 children—20 from Philadelphia and the remainder from Baltimore—last night sang Communist hymns as they prepared to hold a convention here at 10 a. m. today. The march to the White House is scheduled for 2 p. m.

Drilling for Two Weeks.

Also, it was learned last night that for the last two weeks a squad of 40 policemen have been drilling with gas bombs and gas masks at Camp Simms. The squad which was sworn to secrecy consisted of 20 rookies and a like number of older men who have seen war service.

The men have been under direction of Lieut. Harvey Callaghan, in charge of the police school, and Lieut. Lloyd Kelly, one of the marksmen of the department, who went with the police team to the shooting matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, last summer.

In addition to this group, 100 policemen have been instructed in handling mobs and in the use of gas masks so they may aid in dispersing mobs without injury to themselves.

Return and Make Report.

Led by Detective J. O. Patton, of the Crime Prevention Bureau, the three Washington detectives observed the meeting in Baltimore last night and hurried back at midnight to report to police officials who waited to hear the import of their investigation.

Those arrested were Amelia Shelton, 19, of 639 Lamont street northwest; L. H. Ferguson, 34, no address; Mrs. Anna Pearlmeter, 36, of 904 Shepherd street northwest, and Mrs. Lena Levine, of 528 Columbia road northwest.

The former two were held on nondeposit of bail for their appearance in Police Court this morning. They are represented by Samuel Levine and Bernard Ades, attorneys of the International Labor Defense. The other two put up $20 collateral each at the

Mrs. Calles Dying In Mexican Capital

All Hope Is Abandoned for Wife of Mexico's 'Strong Man.'

Mexico City, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The office of President Abelardo Rodriguez announced shortly before midnight tonight that Senora Leonora Llorente de Elias Calles, wife of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, was dying.

The president's office announced that the wife of Mexico's famous "strong man" was in desperate condition from a brain tumor just before midnight, but that she "had not yet passed away."

Previously unofficial reports from the Calles home here said Senora Calles had died at 10:40 p. m., but there was no immediate official information beyond a statement from the chief executive's office. Mrs. Calles' illness first became widely known last June, when her husband took her to Boston for a delicate brain operation.

Plunge From Trapeze Proves Fatal to Child

Billy Mooers, 8 years old, was fatally injured last night when he fell from a trapeze in the basement of his home at 6611 Sixth street northwest. He was treated by a private physician, but died within a few hours from a fractured skull.

The boy, who attended Takoma Park School, is survived by his father, Samuel E. Mooers, his mother and a brother, John, 10 years old.

Worm Turns

Pageant 'Indian,' Boy 15, Shoots 'Pilgrim' Girl Who Laughed.

Miami, Fla., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The Thanksgiving pageant wasn't held at Earlington Heights Elementary School today because one of the "Indians," aged 15, shot one of the "Pilgrims," a girl of 14. Richard Confeld was the "Indian" and Lilly Mae Anderson, 14, recovering tonight from a serious bullet wound in the chest, was the "Pilgrim."

Richard, according to the story of the teachers, had rehearsed faithfully his pageant part as an Indian, unsuccessful in the losing fight waged by his people 310 years ago against the newcomers from England.

Each day of rehearsal, Richard accepted dramatic defeat at the hands of Pilgrim fathers. Each day, his primitive bow and arrow proved in-

HOOVERS LEAD U. S. TODAY IN GIVING THANKS

Churches to Hold Special Services; Bicentennial Celebration to End.

From the White House to the most unpretentious home, in cathedral and humble church, in mansion and cottage, Thanksgiving will be observed in Washington today with prayer and song and exchange of good fellowship.

President and Mrs. Hoover will be hosts to a few close friends at a traditional turkey dinner at the White House. The President and the First Lady will attend services at the Foundry Methodist Church, on Sixteenth street northwest, this morning. Other high Government officials will observe the day either in their own homes or with relatives and friends. Five gobblers were sent to the White House, but four of them will be given to charity.

Special services will be held in churches, the leading ones to take place in the choir of Washington Cathedral and at St. Patrick's. Details of the churches' observances will be found on page 5.

Delegation to Place Wreath.

The George Washington Bicentennial celebration will be closed with the laying of a wreath at 10:15 a. m. at the base of the Washington Monument by a delegation representing the District Bicentennial Commission.

Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of the commission, and Dr. George C. Havenner, vice president, will head the delegation.

Hundreds of the necessitous will be given dinner by the Salvation Army, the Volunteers of America, Relief Mission, the Central Union Mission and the Gospel Mission. The Gospel Mission will serve 1,900 men at 214 John Marshall place northwest. Prisoners at Lorton Reformatory, Occoquan and

Author of Grand Hotel Netted Only $23,000

St. Louis, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Vicki Baum, German author of "Grand Hotel," said in an interview here today her earnings from the novel, play and movie have totaled but $23,000. She said she got $4,000 for the motion picture rights.

The German author said she was so bound by contracts and percentages to various agents that she has to "work hard to make a living."

CHEST'S DRIVE FALLS $575,988 SHORT OF GOAL

$1,843,798 Is Pledged in Official Campaign and Work Will Continue.

$2,419,787 IS FIXED AS AID FUND NEEDED

Big Gifts Reported by Many Units on Final Day; Pledge Against Want Renewed.

Officially closing the Community Chest campaign, the huge army of volunteer workers and their leaders gathered in Wardman Park Hotel last night to hear final reports from the various organization units, and learn that despite the untiring efforts the chest failed to "go over the top" and fell $575,988.51 short of its goal.

Their disappointment masked behind an air of gayety and laughter, the Chest workers sat for nearly three hours as officials and unit chairmen announced the final figures. A program of music and talks interspersed the reports.

Although many units reported a banner day, the greatest since the opening of the drive, the majority of contributions fell low and it was announced that the total sum of the entire campaign was $1,843,798.49. The quota had been set at $2,419,787.

Work to Continue.

Following the final tabulation, Newbold Noyes, chairman of the campaign, issued a dramatic plea for all workers to complete "the unfinished work you have undertaken."

"No one shall starve in Washington this winter," Mr. Noyes declared. "Although the campaign is officially over, I hope that each and every one of you will work to put every possible dollar at the disposal of these 63 agencies of mercy which constitute the Chest."

In a last gesture to swell the count of contributions, Mrs. James Carroll Fraser offered her prize Pekinese dog to be auctioned off to the highest bidder, the funds going to the Chest. Following several minutes of spirited bidding, the dog finally went to Lady Willmott Lewis, wife of Sir Willmott Lewis, correspondent for The London Times, for $450.

Workers Praised.

E. C. Graham, president of the Chest, paid tribute to the campaign organization and in praising heads of the various units, declared that "there

Alfonso Steadfast Against Abdication

Monarchists Informed He Only Suspended His Kingly Power.

Paris, Nov. 23 (U.P.).—Alfonso, former King of Spain, refused again today to sign papers abdicating the Spanish throne in favor of his second son, Juan. He declined abdication when a delegation of monarchists, including several former ministers, called on him.

Explaining his decision, Alfonso advised the delegation that "there is no development in Spanish politics that warrants such action at present."

"I signed a suspension of the king's power," he explained, "when I left Madrid. That's as far as I intend to go for the present."

Trouble

Chicago Students Charge School 'Terrorism;' Inquiry Is Set.

Chicago, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—An investigation of conditions at J. Sterling Morton High School in suburban Cicero was planned by citizens tonight as students won their first tilt against guards employed there to keep order.

Students said the guards instituted a reign of "hoodlum terrorism," and in retaliation boycotted the school cafeteria. Today Joseph A. Becker, comptroller of the school board, said the guards were ordered not to molest any of the 8,000 school children and to be "extremely careful."

Frank Svoboda, president of the board, was vehement in denials that "hoodlums and former saloonkeepers were employed as guards and said only 16 persons were acting in that

FIGHT BLAMED AS POLITICIAN DIES IN FAIRFAX

Son of Former Judge Is Held After Death of W. T. Oliver.

Former State Senator Walter Tansill Oliver, 60, of Fairfax, Va., died last night from a skull fracture said to have been received during an altercation with Lewis Ritchie, 21, son of A. C. Ritchie, former judge of the Fairfax juvenile court, at the Ritchie home Tuesday night.

Although there were no witnesses to the altercation, it was reported to Fairfax County authorities that Oliver had called at the Ritchie home to see young Ritchie's father.

The youth was the only member of the family at home, and when he came to the door, Oliver is said to have become abusive, singling out various members of the Ritchie family as objects of his disrespect. Young Ritchie is said to have told him to discontinue his disparagements and leave. Angered, Oliver is said to have struck at young Ritchie with a heavy walking stick, whereupon the youth hit him with his fist, knocking him to the pavement in front of the house.

Bad Feeling Reported.

Bad feeling is known to have existed between the two families since the marriage of Oliver's oldest son, Lewis, and Barbara Ritchie, about a year ago. The couple became estranged several months ago, and since then the ill feeling has increased. Since their separation, Barbara has been living with relatives in Baltimore.

Immediately after striking Oliver, young Ritchie is said to have notified Fairfax County authorities. Deputy Sheriff Henry Magarity removed Oliver, who was unconscious, to his home about a block away. Young Ritchie was being held last night under a $1,000 bond, pending further developments in the case.

Mr. Oliver was born and reared in Fairfax County. He was educated at the Episcopal High School near Alexandria and the University of Virginia.

Town in Arizona Dark in Tax Fight

Power Concern Turns Off Lights; Extra Police Patrol Streets.

Nogales, Ariz., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Extra night policemen have been called into service to patrol the streets of Nogales, darkened in a dispute between the city and the light company over taxes. Members of the local American Legion post have offered aid as special policemen.

The city was dark last night. The Public Utilities Consolidated Corporation cut off the street lights after receiving a reduced remittance from the city for its street-lighting bill. The reduction represented taxes the power company had refused to pay, describing the taxes as "excessive."

Mayor Harry J. Karns said the company was on a "tax strike" and the city would not pay in full for street lights as long as the company refused to pay its taxes.

Trapped in Fatal Flood, 4 Miners Are Rescued

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Four men trapped in a flood which killed two miners in the Brookside Colliery were brought out of the mine alive late today.

Officials of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Co., which operates the plant, said all the men working in that section have been accounted for.

Congress Chiefs Confer With Hoover.

ARE OPPOSED TO CANCELING

President-Elect Is in Favor of Direct Negotiation.

The statement by the White House on President Hoover's attitude on the war debts and that issued by Gov. Roosevelt en route to Georgia appear in full on page 4.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The United States in formal diplomatic notes dispatched yesterday to Great Britain, France and Belgium, called upon these countries and other debtor nations still solvent to honor the signature of their bond and forward the payments due here on December 15.

This was the answer of President Hoover to the appeals recently received here for continuation of the Hoover moratorium. President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt associated himself in principle with the four points that have been consistently applied in all debt dealings, although he differed with the President as to method. From the Roosevelt Special en route to Warm Springs came the announcement last night that the President-elect favors a policy of direct diplomacy without having recourse to commissions or other agencies.

Gov. Roosevelt had been apprised of the President's debt statement by Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills before his departure yesterday morning. Even while his train was pulling out of Union Station, southward bound, he was drafting his statement on the same subject. The President-elect gave to Congress the authority that belongs to Congress with regard to revision of the debt agreements, but he strongly emphasized the constitutional power of the President to negotiate with foreign governments. His statement foreshadows the new debt policy that will be in force after March 4.

Sympathetic Creditor.

The Roosevelt statement revealed him as a sympathetic and thoughtful creditor, accessible at all times to the representations of the debtor. He concurs in the established principles for all debt discussions which are: The debts are loans, made with the understanding of ultimate payment; all debt negotiations to be made on an individual basis with (a) due consideration for the capacity of the debtor to pay and (b) no relation to be entertained between reparations and war debts.

The President-elect declared his personal interpretaton of the most ef-

Simpson, Farm Leader, Urged for Cabinet Post

Oklahoma City, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Indorsements from 42 State-wide farm organizations in the Mississippi Valley urging the appointment of John Simpson, national president of the Farmers Union, as Secretary of Agriculture in the Roosevelt Cabinet were forwarded today to President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt by C. H. Hyde, of Alva, Oklahoma farm leader.

INSURGENTS BARRED FROM LABOR PARLEY

Police Battle Group Backing March on Capital at Cincinnati Session.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—An insurgent faction of the American Federation of Labor butted fruitlessly against a barrier of police, and locked doors today, and was forced to turn away, failing in its plan to present its own labor program to the federation's annual convention.

Federation officials refused to admit the delegation of 26 to the convention hall. The sergeant-at-arms refused to accept a letter to President William Green outlining the dissidents' views. Police stopped an attempt to hold a rump session outside the locked convention doors.

The insurgent leader, Louis Weinstock, of the Painters' Union of New York, said his group had planned to demand support of "immediate" unemployment insurance; of a "hunger march" on Washington; of recognition of the Soviet Republic; and of plans

Olympics Slaying Admitted on Stand

Egan Dramatically Shifts Plea to Guilty; Asks No Quarter.

Los Angeles, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Dramatically interrupting his trial on murder charges, Dallas Egan, former convict, confessed from the witness stand in Superior Court today he killed W. J. Kirkpatrick, Battle Creek, Mich., Olympic games visitor, in a jewelry store robbery July 23. Egan, who with two other men has been on trial several weeks, informed Superior Judge Isaac Pacht he wished to change his plea from not guilty to guilty.

"Are you changing your plea in hope the court will be merciful and that you will escape the death penalty?" Judge Pacht asked.

"No," declared Egan. "I have never given any quarter, and I don't expect to receive any."

Jimmy Walker Ignores Riviera Night Gayety

Antibes, France, Nov. 23 (U.P.).—James J. Walker, former Mayor of New York, is either staying indoors or devoting his time to sports, planning to take no part in the Riviera night life.

Walker is suffering from insomnia, he said today. He has been arising at 4 a. m. to take a walk. He plays golf later, in the hope it will induce sleep.

Man Dies in Alexandria After Fall From Train

A man known only as Howard Gray, about 35 years old, whose home is in West Virginia, died yesterday morning in Alexandria Hospital, where he was taken Monday after a fall from an eastbound freight train near Manassas, Va. He suffered a fractured skull.

According to railroad officials, Gray was riding an eastbound freight and fell from the moving train. The train was in charge of Conductor H. F. Keckley, of Strasburg, and Engineer H. B. Schacklett, section foreman.

Boy Gives Fowl to Poor; It Isn't His; He's Jailed

Springfield, Mo., Nov. 23 (A.P.). A modern Robin Hood, imbued with the Thanksgiving spirit, sat in the juvenile jail here today, hoping the judge had a sense of charity next Saturday.

The prisoner, Frank Anderson, 16, admitted, police said, that he stole a fat young duck and gave it to a poor family for dinner tomorrow. The dressed duck and a sack of feathers were recovered from the family to whom Anderson said he gave it.

JOBLESS MAN KILLS WIFE AND HIMSELF

Mate Had Just Returned to Him; Made Out His Will Only Two Days Ago.

Less than two days after he had made a will leaving everything to his wife and less than 24 hours after she had returned to live with him on his plea, Joseph Reed, 62, shot and killed his wife, Annie, and then killed himself at their home in Branchville, Md., yesterday.

The woman, who was 60, was shot in the back, apparently as she was fleeing from the house. Her body, face down, was found lying in the yard at the foot of the back steps. Reed's body was found in the kitchen, the double-barreled shotgun propped on a chair beside him.

The double tragedy was discovered by Frank Doyle, a nephew of Reed. He saw the woman's body in the yard as he was returning to his own home, nearby, for lunch. There were no witnesses to the shooting, but a daughter of the couple, Mrs. Effie Smith, arrived at the house shortly afterward. She collapsed over the body of her mother and was found there by police.

The shooting, police learned, climaxed domestic troubles which had

SWIFT BEER ACTION SET BY DEMOCRATS

Opening of Hearings Set for Dec. 7 After Parleys With Roosevelt.

(Associated Press.)

Moving swiftly after informal conferences with President-elect Roosevelt, House Democratic leaders announced yesterday that hearings on the proposals for legalized beer will start immediately after Congress convenes.

The decision to open hearings on Wednesday, December 7, was reached at a meeting of nine members of the ways and means committee held just as Mr. Roosevelt's train was leaving the Capital.

The five Democrats and four Republicans were together nearly an hour, during which they discarded suggestions for presession hearings.

Also early enactment of a farm relief bill which its sponsors estimate will enrich producers by at least $250,000,000 annually is to be sought by Democratic leaders in the December session of Congress.

Plans to push the legislation crystallized after conferences with President-elect Roosevelt before his departure for the South.

Mr. Roosevelt was represented as being particularly anxious that relief

Canada Won't Abandon Gold Coverage Policy

Ottawa, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett announced in the House of Commons today that the Government does not intend abandoning gold coverage for its paper money.

Since 1929 Canada technically has not been on the gold standard, but has covered its notes with gold. There is a statutory 25 per cent coverage for the first $50,000,000 in Dominion notes, and above that figure it is dollar for dollar. This coverage, Mr. Bennett said, will be maintained.

Farmer Cuts Off Own Arm And Walks Mile for Help

Saves His Life by Quick and Efficient Surgery With Pocketknife When Hand Is Caught in Tractor While He Works Alone in Field.

Mendota, Ill., Nov. 23 (U.P.).—Archie Smith cut off his left arm with a pocket knife today after it had been mangled, walked a mile for help, telephoned to his wife, then went to a hospital, where physicians said his self-surgery saved his life.

Smith was working alone in the cornfield of his brother, Richard, when he stopped the tractor he was driving. He reached into the clanking machinery for a husk which had clogged a gear. He tripped and fell forward.

The gear clutched his hand, mangled it and started to pull his arm into the mechanism.

Smith gritted his teeth and shut his eyes. He reached in his pocket with his right hand for his knife. He opened the blade with his teeth and finally hacked away the bone at the elbow. He shut off the motor and walked a mile to his brother's home.

Smith climbed three fences en route, but upon arriving found no one there. So he cranked the old-fashioned telephone and called his wife.

"Send Dick with the car," he said. "I'm hurt a little, but I'll walk up the road to meet him."

He walked another half mile before he met his brother, who took him to the hospital.

Smith had operated so skillfully upon himself, physicians said, that he lost little blood. They predicted that he would be at work within a few days.

"I hated to do it," said Smith, "because I'll miss that arm. But it was cut it off or get killed. So I cut."

Merry Christmas for Every Depression-Struck Child in Washington Is Goal After S O S Radiogram Is Received Direct From Santa Claus.

An S O S call came to The Washington Post last night in the form of a radiogram from the North Pole.

It was signed "Santa Claus," and the grinning messenger boy who brought it to the city editor's desk remarked: "Guess Santa got his dates mixed; this is Thanksgiving eve, not Christmas."

Here is what Santa Claus wired:

INAUGURAL PROGRAM MAPPED BY GRAYSON

Plans for Simple Ceremony Approved by Roosevelt; Committee Picks Soon.

The inaugural committee which will carry into effect the plans approved by President-elect Roosevelt for a simple ceremony, will be named within ten days by Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, who will head the committee.

The committee, according to Admiral Grayson and John F. Costello, Democratic national committeeman for the District, will be composed of about 300 representative citizens of the District, without regard to party affiliations.

Admiral Grayson expects that the group will be designated within ten days, and he will confer with leaders of the party to get their views on the personnnel. Mr. Costello said:

"In accordance with the wishes of the President-elect, the inaugural ceremonies will not be too elaborate nor too expensive. All sections of the city and all civic groups will be represented."

Roosevelt Approves Plans.

The plans for a simple inaugural ceremony were approved yesterday by President-elect Roosevelt after a conference at the Mayflower Hotel, at which Admiral Grayson accepted the chairmanship of the inaugural committee.

The announcement of the President-elect's approval of the plans was made by Mr. Costello, who participated in the conference along with James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and John B. Colpoys, chairman of the Democratic State central committee of the District.

Mr. Costello said the inaugural ceremony will be of Jeffersonian simplicity, and will be made up of a small and colorful parade, composed of civilian units and Army and Navy units, stationed near Washington. The President-elect insisted, Mr. Costello said, that whatever is to be done must be done without expense to the Federal or State governments. It was uncertain whether the cadets from Annapolis or West Point will participate in the parade.

Governors to Be Invited.

Mr. Costello pointed out there are 38 Democrats who will be governors at the time of the inaugural and it is probably that these will attend. Invitations will be sent to the governors of all the States.

Mr. Roosevelt is said to have been particularly pleased at the selection of Admiral Grayson as chairman of the committee and "ordered" him to take the post, his companions said.

Whether there will be an inaugural ball remained problematical last night. "Some of the leaders of the party want one, and others, do not," Mr. Costello said. "It will have to be decided later."

Testimony Closes In Tex-Penn Case

U. S. Charges Individuals and Firm Owes Income Tax of $8,000,000.

The taking of testimony in one of the most important cases to come before the United States Board of Tax Appeals closed yesterday. In it the Government is seeking $8,000,000, which is alleged to be due in income taxes from the Tex-Penn Oil Co., of West Virginia, M. L. Benedum, of Pittsburgh, and F. B. Parriott, of Tulsa.

The proposed tax is based upon the value of a large block of stock of the Transcontinental Oil Co. received by the taxpayers in 1919 through a consolidation of various oil properties. Mr. Benedum was the leading figure in the consolidation. The taxpayers contend that the stock had no fair market value, while the Government contended for a stock value of $10 per share, which would result in a tax total of $8,000,000.

Briefs will be filed and closing argument heard about February 1. The oil men were represented by John W. Davis, Montgomery B. Angell, Weston Vernon, jr., J. C. Adams, Col. Horace Mann and Harry Friedman. Ottamar Hamele, John D. Foley and Brooks Fullerton, of the staff of the general counsel, Bureau of Internal Revenue, presented the Government's case. Twenty-six days were consumed in the presentation of evidence.

capacity instead of 40 as charged by parents and pupils. He said the force of guards would be cut in half.

The boycott and uprising resulted after faculty members, parents and students said "political influence" was running the school and that a "roadhouse keeper" now was in charge of its cafeteria. The guards, they said, were paid $140 monthly while school teachers went unpaid.

Svoboda said within ten days he would discharge four teachers who "instigated this affair."

The investigation is planned by Chester Bragg, former president of the Berwyn Real Estate Board, and other citizens. Bragg said an audit of the expenditures of the school would be asked.

"All this," said Svoboda, "is political propaganda. The so-called 'hoodlums' are family men. All are needed because of the size of the building."

SWIFT ACTION TO LEGALIZE BEER IS SET BY DEMOCRATS

be extended to the farmers through legislation as quickly as possible.

Chairman Jones, of the House agriculture committee, and Representative Rainey, of Illinois, the Democratic floor leader, were designated by a group of leaders to make arrangements for formulation of the legislation.

Statement by Garner.

Jones and Rainey conferred with Mr. Roosevelt Tuesday night to obtain his views and the Texas Democrat was summoned again yesterday. Later, Speaker Garner, the Vice President-elect said:

"We will seek enactment of a farm relief measure at the coming session, which we hope will really bring relief. Both the Republican and Democratic platforms call for farm relief, and we hope to make it a nonpartisan bill, and obtain the support of the Republicans."

Rainey said the basis of the legislation would be a bill he and Senator Norbeck (Republican), South Dakota, introduced last spring. It was pased, by the Senate, but later reconsidered on a motion by Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, and withdrawn. Among its provisions is the so-called allotment plan.

Quick Action Planned.

"We will get into immediate communcation with farm leaders with a view to holding a conference before the convening of Congress on December 5," Rainey said. "Hearings will get under way on the bill before the agriculture committee during the first week of Congress. We want quick action."

Among the leaders to be called at the conference, he said, were Earl Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, and Edward O'Neil, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. The purpose of the conference, he added, is to get a cross-section of the views of the farm leaders.

Rainey made it clear that his measure probably would revise some but that its principal provisions would be adopted. It now calls for the creation of an adjustment fund in the Agriculture Department to be drawn from processors of domestically consumed wheat, hogs and cotton.

Plan for Payment.

The processors would pay 42 cents a bushel on wheat, 5 cents a pound on cotton and 2 cents a pound on hogs. Producers would be given negotiable adjustment certifications on the amount of products sold for domestic consumption.

To arrive at the quantity of products for domestic consumption, the Secretary of Agriculture would issue a statement annually giving the amount needed. On that basis, each farmer would be allotted so much of his product for domestic consumption and would receive the adjustment certificates. All of the overproduction would be slated for foreign trade and the producer would have to sell at the world price.

Rainey said that tobacco might be included, but that wheat was probably the first to be considered. No increase in the price of bread would result, he said. In addition, he added, the increased price in hogs would raise the price of corn.

Cites Success in England.

"Of course, the processors will oppose the legislation," the Illinois member said. "But such legislation has proved a success in England and it was patterned along the lines of this bill."

The ways and means committee meeting was summoned by Representative Rainey and Chairman Collier of the committee. Both attended the several conferences between Roosevelt and his party's congressional leaders and both had conferred with Speaker Garner.

Rainey declined to say whether his action was taken on the suggestion of Roosevelt, but did tell newspapermen the governor "certainly would like to see some more revenue coming in."

Though some members left yesterday's committee gathering with the understanding the first formal meeting would be Tuesday, December 6, the day after Congress convenes, Collier later said he preferred allowing another day for the routine opening activities.

Beer Tax Is Stressed.

Collier said the committee would consider "such revenue plans as come before it, including a tax on beer." Rainey stressed beer as the prime object of the forthcoming meeting and said that all beer-tax bills would receive consideration.

Some of those present thought little was to be gained by starting before the session begins," Collier said. "There was also a question of having the necessary funds and jurisdiction before the House meets."

Collier explained that while a quorum of the committee's 25 members were not present, he, as chairman, had authority to fix the meeting date.

Representative Hawley, of Oregon, ranking Republican on the committee, said after the meeting that while a beer tax had been made the chief subject for consideration, "I don't think California will permit beer to come up without insisting on light wines."

3 Issues in Wet Plan.

Representative Snell, the Republican leader, who returned to the Capital yesterday, declined to discuss beer legislation, but indicateed he would express his views shortly.

Collier divided the problem of beer legislation into three parts. He gave them as:

"First, the declaration of alcoholic content.

"Second, determination of the proper tax.

"Third, methods of distribution."

He said the decision on alcoholic content rested with the judiciary committee.

The Mississippian emphasized that yesterday's meeting dealt only with procedure and not with the merits of the legislation. He said that personally he doubted that "a beer tax will bulance the budget at the present time."

Questioned regarding a general sales tax, Collier said it "would offer another source of revenue," but added:

"I doubt whether any serious efforts will be made to press the sales tax this session."

Wants Some Taxes Repealed.

Collier said he favored repeal of 3-cent first class postage, repeal of the check tax and abandonment of the Federal gasoline tax. He estimated possible beer revenue at from $300,000,000 to $400,000,000, and said that "when the sale of beer has been legalized" he wanted "to get as much revenue as possible."

In this connection, Collier said he would favor the bill by Representative O'Connor (Democrat), New York, for a tax of $7.50 a barrel, if it would bring in more revenue than the present tax of $6 a barrel.

Committee members present at the meeting included Collier, Rainey, Doughton, of North Carolina; Ragon, of Arkansas, and Vinson, of Kentucky, Democrats, and Hawley, Treadway, of Massachusettts; Bachadach, of New Jersey, and Watson, of Pennsylvania, Republicans.

Welch Sees Legalized Wine at Short Session

San Francisco, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Representative Richard J. Welch, Republican, of San Francisco, predicted today a "wines bloc" in Congress would insist upon the legalization of light wines as well as beer in any modification of the prohibition laws at the December session in Washington.

The statement, issued through the Grape Growers League of California, came after a conference held by Welch, Representative Florence P. Kahn, Republican, also of San Francisco, and other California representatives and representatives-elect.

"The 'wine bloc,' in my opinion," said Welch, "will include the representatives of the States in which America's 30,000,000 wine-drinking citizens principally reside, and of the principal grape-producing States, which include California, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Missouri.

"The mandate of the people of the United States at the election November 8 was not only for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, but for immediate modification of the Volstead act to legalize light wines as well as beer. The electorate in unmistakable terms voted for the restoration of the legal status and the taxation of the beverages which now enrich gangsters and racketeers."

"INDIAN" IN PAGEANT SHOOTS SCHOOL GIRL

sufficient to quell the shot of make-believe rifles. Richard didn't like it.

Somewhere, his teachers recounted, he got a small-caliber pistol, which he said later he believed was empty. He took it to school this morning. Richard assumed his part in the rehearsal and challenged various of the actors of Pilgrim parts.

Secure in their knowledge that, in the play, the Indians always were defeated, they laughed. Among them was Lilly Mae Anderson. Richard pulled the pistol from his shirt and pointed it at her.

"I'll shoot you!" he cried.

Lilly Mae laughed again.

The boy aimed the pistol and pulled the trigger. Lilly Mae dropped to the ground, shot in the chest.

Teachers rushed to the playground. Lilly Mae was taken to a hospital, where physicians found the bullet had glanced upward from a rib into the lung area. They said her condition was serious.

The pageant, to have climaxed a Thanksgiving program, was postponed. Richard's teachers, after questioning him, said they were unable to explain his action other than to say he had taken too much to heart his part as a "vanquished Indian."

SENATE DEMOCRATS TO DELAY BANK BILLS

Word Received by Financial Circles Changes Will Be Kept for New Congress.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

In the wake of President-elect Roosevelt's conferences with Democratic leaders in Congress this week, banking circles received authoritative word yesterday of an informal agreement among Senate Democrats against any attempt to enact far-reaching banking measures at the short session of Congress.

The decision against pressing for prompt enactment of the Glass bill, or any other general legislation involving fundamental changes in the banking structure, is reported by members of the Federal Reserve Board to have been dictated by a desire on the part of influential members of the Senate banking and currency committee to avoid all possible disturbances to the investment sentiment during the next six months.

Members of the banking committee yesterday expressed themselves as gratified by the recent improvement in banking and credit throughout the country.

Seek to Protect Recovery.

The inevitable period of uncertainty incident to extensive revision of the banking laws, these senators declare, might retard this important factor of general business recovery. In addition, some members of the committee say, the problem of banking reform is entirely too complex to be undertaken in the crowded short session.

As reported yesterday to high officials of the Treasury Department, the new understanding on Capitol Hill contemplates the renewal of the Glass-Steagall law authorizing the use of United States Government bonds to back Federal Reserve currency. But the extension of this statute, which expires on March 3, 1933, is the only important piece of banking legislation now on the legislative horizon.

Senator Glass' general banking revision measure, which was set aside last session because of widespread disagreement regarding several of the new policies projected, still has preferred standing on the Senate calendar. It is certain that this bill, which was two years in the making, will serve as the basis for banking reform in the first session of the Roosevelt Congress.

Would Offset House Moves.

Some members of the House still are unwilling to abandon their pet banking measures during the short session, but the financial community has been assured that even in the event of passage in the House, none of these bills could receive Senate approval before March 4.

Conspicuously among those individually sponsored bills in the House which are to be dragged across the legislative stage again this winter are the Goldsborough price-stabilization scheme and the Steagall measure to guarantee all bank deposits with Federal funds.

Bankers who have been in intimate touch with recent developments on Capitol Hill expect that each of these freak measures will have its brief day in the House. They express the belief, however, that the presession agreement among the wiser heads in the Senate will prevent the country's regarding the House fireworks seriously.

The Federal Reserve Board is reported to have determined upon a new set of recommendations regarding trading-area branch banking. It is anticipated these recommendations will be sent to the short session of Congress, possibly with the indorsement of President Hoover. But the Senate Democrats have determined to reserve banking legislation for their own untrammeled work in the new Congress.

Coeds Go to College for Fun.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—In an effort to discover why coeds go to college, the New York University Daily News conducted a confidential survey—and only half those interviewed said they had come in quest of education. Many answered that they were seeking a good time.

$10 and Costs, Says One Mayor to Another

Magee, Miss., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The Mayor of Magee and the Mayor of Hattiesburg met officially here last night, but it was not to exchange the keys of their cities.

Specifically, "$10 and costs" was what the Mayor of Magee said to the Mayor of Hattiesburg.

W. S. F. Tatum—"his honor" in Hattiesburg—was brought into the Magee mayor's court, where J. B. Vinson presides, by a traffic policeman, who said the visitor had "whipped through town about 60 miles an hour."

Mayor Tatum paid the $14.50 fine under protest.

GIRL, 14, RECEIVED $1 FOR VOTE, SHE SAYS

Other Minors Testify They Were Paid in Tennessee Congressional Race.

Tazewell, Tenn., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Boys and girls, whose ages ranged from 14 to 18 years, testified today before Representative J. E. Nelson (Republican), Maine, that they received dollar bills for voting in the Tennessee primary in August.

Nelson is investigating the election at the request of O. B. Lovette, Independent Republican, who was defeated for First District member of Congress by former Representative B. Carroll Reece, Republican.

Anna May Lewis, 18, told Nelson she voted in the primary.

"Sam Caylor," she testified, "got me to vote. I told him I wasn't old enough, but he said it was all right. I went to the voting place at Tazewell and Elmer Arnold marked my ticket.

"John Greer gave me the ballot. I don't know who Arnold marked it for. After that I went to a room at the back of Lawyer Davis' office. Graham Welch was in the room and he gave me a dollar. Caylor had said I'd get a dollar for voting."

Others who said they voted at Tazewell and went "to the back of Mr. Davis' office for a dollar," were Aseneth Moore, 18; Cora Moore, 20; Winnie Lewis, 15, and Marie Moore, 14.

The "Mr. Davis" referred to is William I. Davis, manager for Reece in Claiborne County.

The hearing will be continued tomorrow at Jonesboro, where the inquiry began. After that, Nelson said, he plans to return to Washington.

Leahy Asks Delay In Al Capone Case

Gangster's Counsel Wants Additional Week to File Briefs.

Atlanta, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The office of Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood here announced today that an additional week to submit briefs in the Al Capone habeas corpus case was requested by William Leahy, Washington, D. C., attorney for the former Chicago gangster.

Judge Underwood was out of the city holding Federal Court at Rome. He is expected to return Friday and the request will wait until that time.

The briefs were ordered filed within a week when the judge took under advisement the Government's motion to dismiss the proceedings, in which Capone had sought his release on the grounds that he was imprisoned illegally based on the statute of limitations. The Government briefs have been filed.

March 4 Will See No Heavy Attack on Government Jobs

Distinct Impression Left With Departure of Incoming President That Civil Service Principle Sponsored in New York Will Hold.

President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt is a friend of the civil service.

The advent of his administration as Chief Executive of the Nation March 4 is not going to mean any wholesale firing of incumbents to provide government jobs for others who would like to have them.

That was one of the distinct impressions left in Washington as the President-elect boarded a train for Warm Springs, Ga., yesterday afternoon. There was no public statement on the subject, but those who are close to Mr. Roosevelt pointed to his record as a supporter of the civil service principle during his occupancy of the New York Governor's chair as ample proof of the position he will take when he assumes the Presidency.

The election undoubtedly will cost the jobs of many persons not only in Washington but throughout the country. Those who will lose their present jobs are those who hold jobs which are admittedly political appointements and are got through political influence.

The rank and file of the government employes are safe from any holocaust, born of the spoils system, friends of Mr. Roosevelt assert. Some of those whom John F. Costello, Democratic national committeeman for the District, has described as "petty tyrants" in the Government service, undoubtedly would lose the places of power they have occupied during the Republican regime. But, and President-elect Roosevelt's friends insist on the importance of the qualification, the Roosevelt administration is not to be patterned on Mr. Jackson's theory that the spoils belong to the victor in a national election.

ROOSEVELT OPPOSED TO SPECIAL SESSION

However, He May Call New Congress Early if Plans Fail in December.

(Associated Press.)

President-elect Roosevelt yesterday was represented by the Democratic pilots on Capitol Hill as very hopeful of avoiding an extra session of the new Congress in the spring.

However, he was said to predicate the avoidance of the extra session on the enactment of legislation before March 4 which would assure a balanced budget for the Nation. Gov. Roosevelt's train left yesterday afternoon for Warm Springs, Ga.

The Democratic fiscal program would be directed principally at further economies in government. New revenue raising would be confined solely to the proposed beer tax.

Down at his Warm Springs retreat during the next ten days, the President-elect will continue his parleys with the congressional chieftains.

Special Session Opposed.

He found the party leaders generally in agreement on the desirability of avoiding a special session of Congress at the very outset of changing administrations next March.

A memory of the troubles encountered by President Hoover with Congress in the opening days of his administration when he called an extra session is vividly in the minds of the Democratic hosts. However, Gov. Roosevelt has reached no decision one way or another on this question and will not until the time comes for him to take office.

A Democratic House gives opportunity for clearing up the party ideas in the short session beginning December 5, but, of course, the attitude of President Hoover and the Republican Senate on the beer and farm plans is still unknown and very much to be considered. It is realized that a presidential veto of either beer or farm legislation hardly could be overridden.

A continuous stream of callers consumed the last hours of Gov. Roosevelt's visit to the Capital. He remained at his Mayflower Hotel suite until boarding the train for Georgia shortly after 2 o'clock.

He was joined here by Mrs. Roosevelt and their daughter, Mrs. Curtis Dall, for the Thanksgiving Day in the South.

In a press conference at the hotel, the President-elect reiterated that he would give no consideration to Cabinet and other Federal appointments until he has concluded his term as Governor of New York, on January 1.

Receives Gov. Olson.

Among the callers he received were Gov. Floyd Olson, of Minnesota, a Farmer-Laborite, who indorsed Roosevelt in the campaign. Olson told reporters that the President-elect was interested in "immediate" passage of "progressive farm legislation."

Others received by Gov. Roosevelt included Justice Brandeis, of the Supreme Court; Senators Swanson, of Virginia, and Hull, of Tennessee; Representatives Douglas, of Arizona; Davis, of Tennessee; O'Connor and Celler, of New York, and Jones, of Texas; Warren Delano Robbins, of the State Department, a cousin; Frederic Delano, of Washington, an uncle; Col. William Mitchell and Swagar Sherley, of Kentucky, chairman of the House appropriations committee during the war.

BANK HEAD KILLED, BANDIT TRIO FELLED

Townsmen Finish Job After Bookkeeper in Oklahoma Shoots One Robber.

Boley, Okla., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Two white gunmen and a Negro accomplice fell today before the blazing weapons of residents of this all-Negro village who frustrated the attempted robbery of the Farmers and Merchants State Bank.

Enraged by the reckless killing of D. J. Turner, the Negro bank president, who pulled a hidden alarm in the presence of the robbers, a sharpshooting bookkeeper dropped one of the holdup men. Townsmen finished the job.

Possibility the slain white robber was George Birdwell, notorious lieutenant of Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, Oklahoma desperado, developed with identification of the dead Negro, Charles Glass, of Earlsboro. Glass' sister, who identified his body, said he had left Earlsboro this morning with Birdwell. The wounded white robber was identified as C. C. Patterson, of Kiowa.

Is Called Regular War.

In the words of W. W. Riley, cashier of the bank, "there was a regular war" after the first shot was fired by the white man who killed Turner.

Turner was rushed to Okemah, 14 miles away, but died en route. The bodies of the dead bandits, one white man and the Negro, and the wounded white robber were taken to Okemah. The wounded robber was shot in the legs, one knee and hip and his body was tattooed with buckshot. Physicians said he had an even chance for recovery.

The Negro village of 800 population was excited over the gunfight, but townsfolk were proud that they had "cleaned out" the robber gang. Officers recalled that the three robbers were seen loitering Tuesday in the vicinity of the bank.

Slips Into Vault.

H. G. McCormick, bookkeeper, slipped into the bank vault as the robbers entered the building. President Turner defiantly pulled the alarm as he faced the muzzle of a pistol.

"Did you pull that alarm?" one of the white men asked, while Riley pleaded, "don't kill anybody."

When Turner admitted he had pulled the alarm, the robber barked: "I'll kill you for that!"

His pistol blazed and the banker crumpled to the floor. McCormick, who had obtained his rifle in the vault, fired, too, and the robber fell mortally wounded at Riley's feet.

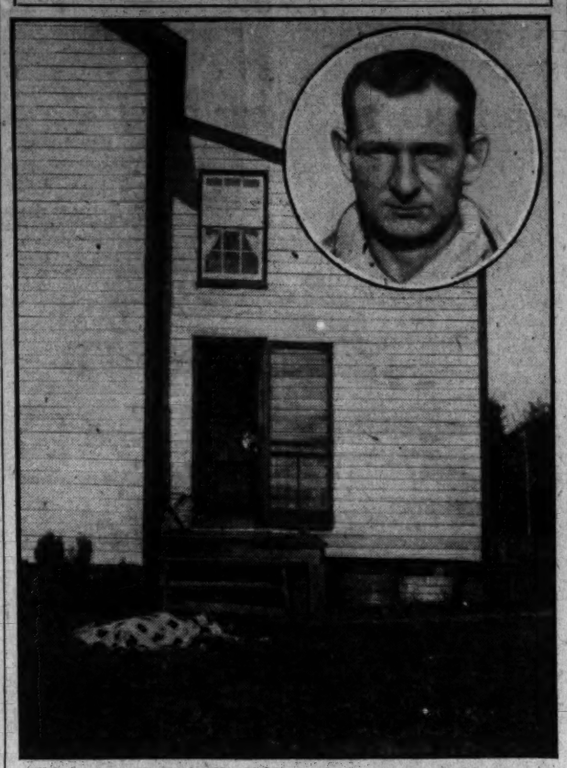
Is Dragged to Door.

By that time the vigilantes and town officers were on the job outside. The second white man took charge as angry townspeople swarmed toward the bank. He forced Riley and Horace Aldridge, a customer, to drag the wounded robber to the door, hoping to gain a motor car parked across the street.

As they reached the door, a rain of bullets came from the vigilantes and the second white man fell. Meanwhile, the Negro robber rushed to the motor car and drove down the street, but every weapon in sight was turned on him and the car.

The driver, mortally wounded, slumped in his seat and the car plunged into the curb, perforated with bullets. The $700 loot was recovered in the bank where it was dropped.

SCENE OF DOUBLE TRAGEDY



This house in Branchville, Md., was the scene of a double tragedy yesterday when Mrs. Annie Reed, 60, was found dead in the yard, while her husband, Joseph Reed, was found shot to death just inside the kitchen door. Inset—Frank Doyle, nephew of the dead man, who discovered Mrs. Reed's body in the yard.

BESIEGED MAN, 72, CAPTURED BY RUSE

Wounds Deputy as Machine Guns Are Used; Immune to Tear Gas.

Ross, Ky., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—After he had held officers at bay for hours and wounded one, a 72-year-old farmer was captured tonight when a neighbor lured him from his barricaded house on the pretext of buying some corn.

Police who had besieged his hilltop home with machine-gun bullets and tear gas, grabbed the battling farmer, Fred Henzimeier, as he went to his crib to get corn for the neighbor, John Leopold.

The police had withdrawn as Leopold approached the house with an empty sack and Henzimeier apparently believed they had given up hope of capturing him.

Tear Gas in House.

The siege of Henzimeier's house began early this afternoon when officers sought to arrest him on a charge of attempting to shoot to kill a neighbor with whom he had quarreled. Six county policemen were on the scene when he was captured.

They found his house filled with tear gas, but Henzimeier told them it did not affect him. The officers said they also found a shotgun, automatic pistol and a supply of shells for both in the house.

Besides the policeman wounded by shots from Henzimeier's weapons, a neighbor was injured in the afternoon battle when four officers attempted to arrest the farmer. When the officers appeared at his farmstead, Henzimeier issued his defy.

Bitter Disputes Recounted.

"You won't get me," he shouted. "I'll kill you." And he fired at the group, dashed back into his house, and the siege was on.

William Straus, a county patrolman, was struck in the face by a shotgun charge as he attempted to rush the rear door of the farm house. Ed Morsher, of Silver Grove, a friend of the farmer, fell and dislocated a shoulder in running to escape the fire Henzimeier poured upon him.

As darkness fell, the besiegers ringed about the place, lighting a fire here and there both for light and for warmth. They sent back to Newport, eleven miles away, for more tear gas and machine guns.

William Gunkel, the neighbor who signed the warrant, accused Henzimeier of firing on his automobile. He said he had several bitter disputes with the farmer.

COL. ROBINS LEAVES ASHEVILLE HOSPITAL

Hurriedly Drives Southward in Auto With Members of His Family.

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Col. Raymond Robins, who dropped out of sight in September, and caused a Nation-wide sensation, sped out of Asheville in a large automobile late today, and headed southward, presumably for his Brooksville, Fla., home.

Accompanied by Mrs. Robins and other relatives, the prohibition leader and social worker, who was located Friday in the mountain village of Whittier, apparently suffering from a partial mental lapse, left the sanitarium in which he had been a patient shortly before 5 o'clock.

They entered the automobile, which was rented from an agency for a five-day period, with obvious haste, with curtains pulled down.

Dr. Mark A. Griffin, psychiatrist in charge of the hospital, confirmed the fact that Col. Robins had left, and said a statement would be issued within a 24 hours giving the whereabouts of the dry advocate.

Col. Robins was described by the physician as being in "excellent condition."

Less than an hour before the family left, Dreier had said no plans had been made for his uncle's departure, and that he would probably remain at the sanitarium for several days longer.

Mrs. Robins and Dreier said he appeared to recall everything except for the first few days after he disappeared from New York City on September 3 while preparing, presumably, to go to Washington for a meeting with President Hoover.

Besides Col. and Mrs. Robins and Dreier, the automobile in which they left today was occupied by Miss Mary Dreier, a sister of Mrs. Robins, and Liza von Borowsky, secretary to Mrs. Robins.

Mother of Three Freed In Murder of Fiance

Oakland, Calif., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—It took a jury just five minutes here today to acquit Mrs. Catherine Del Masso, 27, mother of three children, of a charge of murdering Clyde Beers, her fiance—a case in which even the prosecution refused to ask a conviction.

By stipulation of attorneys, the word "murder" was not spoken during the trial and was omitted from the court's instructions to the jury, which was given the alternative of returning a verdict of manslaughter or acquittal. The accusation against the woman, however, was murder.

Happy End

Clothes Are Lent Father to Wear to Funeral; Is Given Job.

Baltimore, Nov. 24 (A.P.).—Stripped of all but the barest facts, this story is about a ragged young man who wanted to borrow "decent" clothes to attend his baby's funeral.

Drenched from the heavy rain, he walked into the family welfare office.

"I want to see," he said, "about borrowing a suit of clothes and a pair of shoes."

Mrs. Katherine Daiger, of the family welfare office, looked a bit dubious.

"Borrow?" she asked.

"Yes, just for a day—just for tomorrow. About 9 o'clock and I'll bring them back in the afternoon."

"Why do you want to borrow a suit?" Mrs. Daiger asked.

At this, the young man, who was in his early twenties and whose name Mrs. Daiger remembered as Robert Morefield, became evasive.

He wouldn't tell. He told her his wife had left him because he had been unable to get work and that he had a child, but he wouldn't say why he wanted to borrow clothes.

After almost 30 minutes, however, it came out.

"Is the baby with your wife?"

Tears ran down his cheeks.

"Our baby's dead. Died yesterday. The funeral's tomorrow. I haven't got a decent suit. I got to go, and gee, I can't go like this!"

The ending is in a bright chord. Mrs. Daiger got him the clothes and in addition today had secured him a job, but after all it is a story about a ragged young man who wanted to borrow "decent" clothes to attend his baby's funeral.

Glassford Off on Trip Of 5 Days to Bermuda

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, former police chief of Washington, D. C., sailed today on the Monarch of Bermuda for a 5-day visit to Bermuda. He was accompanied by his daughter, Elizabeth.

Before his departure, Glassford said his nationwide movement for relief for single men was under way, and in his absence the organizing work would be carried on by assistants.

BANK REPORT SHOWS EMPLOYMENT GAINS

Wholesale Prices Decline to Summer Levels and Loans Drop.

(United Press.)

Slight employment gains, further increases in factory pay rolls and maintenance of late summer advances in the volume of industrial output are high lights of the national economic picture, as presented last night by the Federal Reserve Board's report for the last month and a half.

The bright picture, however, was muddied partly by decreases in wholesale commodity prices to early summer levels and by further declines in loans and investments of Federal Reserve banks, except in New York and Chicago.

Demands for currency and the volume of reserve bank credit revealed little change for the four weeks ended November 16 and in the meantime member banks increased their balances at reserve banks by $75,000,000, or $475,000,000 above the amounts required for legal reserves.

The growth in reserve balances reflected a $60,000,000 increase in gold stocks, while money rates in the open market continued at the low level of one-half of 1 per cent on 90-day bankers' acceptances.

Industrial production continued at 66 per cent of the 1923-1925 average, as compared with July's low level of 58 per cent.

Steel mills expanded their operations 2 per cent over September, when they had operated 17 per cent of capacity, while increased production also was noted in the textile output. This offset seasonal decline in shoe production, the sinking of automobile manufacturers to a new low level and the continued slackness in the award of construction contracts.

Employment in most manufacturing industries increased between the middle of September and the middle of October, the board pointed out. Textile mills have increased their workers by more than the usual seasonal amount. Substantial increases also were reported in the steel and lumber mills and in car building shops.

Other favorable factors stressed were gains in the value of department store sales and the increase in freight volume up to the middle of October. Later car loadings declined chiefly because of seasonal developments.

JOBLESS MAN KILLS WIFE AND HIMSELF

extended over the last year. About a year ago Reed lost his job as nightwatchman at the Racquet Club, and had not worked since that time. His reluctance to look for work irked his wife, according to Thomas Smith, a son-in-law, and continual bickering resulted.

Last week Reed threatened Smith and Mrs. Smith and they left the house, where they had been living. Later in the week Mrs. Reed also left, going to live with a brother in Hyattsville. Reed pleaded with her to return to him, and she did so Tuesday afternoon. Smith said he begged his mother-in-law not to return.

Monday, while his wife was still away from him, Reed made his will leaving all his possessions to Mrs. Reed, Magistrate George S. Phillips said. Mr. Phillips and Albert Johnson were called on to witness the document.

Four Empty Shells Found.

Policeman Claude Reese and Constable Jack Wilson, who investigated, believe the man fired one or more times at his wife before killing her. Four empty shells were found, one charge of small shot tearing through a closet door in the kitchen. Another charge apparently had entered the kitchen wall.

After firing these two shells from a double-barreled, 12-gauge gun, Reed apparently ran upstairs for more ammunition. A handle had been jerked off the door of a cupboard in which the shells were kept, and the door was open. Reed apparently injured his hand in opening the door, for a trail of blood led from the cupboard downstairs.

Meantime, Mrs. Reed started to leave the house, police believe. She was apparently at the head of the steps which lead down from the back porch when she was shot. The charge tore a gaping hole in the right side of her back, under the shoulder blade. In her flight from the house, a slipper had dropped from one foot, and a torn sweater which she had not had time to put on bore witness to her hasty flight.

Uses Poker to Fire Gun.

After shooting his wife, Reed apparently returned to the kitchen and propped the gun on a chair, its butt against the wall. With a poker he pushed the trigger of the weapon, literally blowing out his brains.

After a preliminary investigation, police summoned Dr. A. O. Etienne, of Berwyn, who pronounced the couple dead, and Magistrate George S. Phillips, who will hold an inquest at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed are survived by eight children, all of them living in the neighborhood. They are Mrs. Birdie Jeffries, George R. Reed, Mrs. Alice Pinkney, Miss Susie Reed, Mrs. Lottie Dorsch, Mrs. Katie Pierce, Mrs. Smith and Eugene Reed.

The bodies were taken to Gasch's undertaking establishment after being viewed by a coroner's jury. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Not Charity

West's 'Unknown Soldier,' Who Is Proud, Will Be Remembered Today.

Kansas City, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Thanksgiving will come to the "Unknown Soldier" of Kansas City tomorrow—if he accepts it, but there is some doubt of that.

He is not dead. He is to be found, not in a tomb, but in a dugout sheltered by tin. He is called the "unknown soldier" because he has said he is a veteran of foreign wars but he gives no name and none can check his story.

Apparently destitute, he becomes stern, dignified, aloof, if any gift looks like charity, but fuel left casually near his "dugout" has been utilized.

Today workers employed in a nearby business house prepared to take him food, not for just a Thanksgiving dinner, but for the whole winter. They said they would explain it is their way of inviting him to a Thanksgiving dinner, so he can not refuse.

EIGHT MEN INDICTED IN THEFT OF BALLOTS

Five Policemen and Three City Hall Employes Cited in Newark.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Blanket indictment against five policemen and three city hall employes, arrested in connection with theft of 7,200 ballots from the city hall basement was handed up today by the Essex County grand jury. The accused are:

Max L. Stegman, executive clerk in City Commissioner Gillen's department and Democratic leader of the Third Ward in which the stolen ballots were cast.

Police Lieut. Charles H. Byrne, of the First Precinct.

Patrolman Harry J. Doyle, chauffeur at the First Precinct.

Patrolman Francis P. Lalor, one of the ballot box guards.

Philip B. Tully, assistant custodian of city hall.

Abraham Freund, watchman at city hall when the ballot boxes were rifled.

Patrolman Peter J. Duffy, city hall night doorman.

Patrolman Raymond F. Herter, ballot box guard.

Counsel for Lieut. Byrne attempted today to procure his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus. Vice Chancellor Backes remanded Byrne into the sheriff's custody and continued the case until Tuesday. Indictment against the eight men returned today is believed to charge conspiracy. Thirty-eight other persons, members of election boards in the Third, Fifth, First and Fourteenth Wards, have also been arrested on charges of violating election laws.

Litvinoff Gets Impasse Blame

Roumanian Minister, in Parliament, Points to Red Phrase.

Bucharest, Roumania, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Speaking in Parliament today Foreign Minister Nicholas Titulescu blamed the breakdown of negotiations for a Russo-Roumanian nonaggression pact on Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet commissar for foreign affairs.

Litvinoff, the foreign minister asserted, insisted on including the phrase, "this pact does not concern itself with existing controversies." This phrase, Titulescu said, would be tantamount to admitting that Roumania's possession of Bessarabia was debatable, and it would have opened the door to all kinds of revisionist efforts.

Moscow, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Official announcement was made today that foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff and Stanislas Patek, the Polish Ambassador, had formally signed a conciliation treaty for the peaceful settlement of any disputes arising between the two countries. This treaty was provided for in the nonaggression pact signed by Poland and the U. S. S. R. in July.

Cult Used World Power as Slogan

Fantastic Religious Creed Behind Sacrifice of Man in Detroit.

Detroit, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Investigating a human sacrifice avowedly to propitiate strange "gods," police said today, they had exposed a fantastic cult through which Negro members were taught that they constituted a "nation of Asiatics," destined to rule the world if precepts of the leaders were followed.

Two detectives raided what was described as a "temple" of the cult, and held for questioning a Negro, who said he was Ugan Ali, "god of the Asiatic nation." He admitted, police said, that he "taught" Robert Harris, 44-year-old Negro fanatic, who stabbed and beat James J. Smith, another Negro, to death on a crude altar Sunday.

Harris insisted Smith was a willing sacrifice.

MRS. MOONEY ASKS AUDIENCE OF STALIN

Mother of Famed Prisoner Takes Greetings From Son to Dictator.

Moscow, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The mother of Tom Mooney, a white-haired woman of 84, who has come to Russia with the "revolutionary greetings" of her son, hopes to have an audience with Joseph Stalin, and indications today were she would succeed.

Mrs. Mooney is an American delegate to the congress of the International red aid. Her main purpose in coming here was to present a letter from her son to "Comrade Stalin," thanking him for the support of Russia's workers in his fight for freedom. The letter was written in San Quentin Prison.

"If the revolutionary workers of Petrograd had not demonstrated before the American Embassy in April, 1917, on my behalf, I would not have this chance to send these greetings from the coffin where I have been confined for 17 years," Mooney wrote. "That manifestation saved my life and gave me this chance to share with you the joy of celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of the October revolution."

The letter was signed "Tom Mooney, No. 31921."

to slash the salaries of federation officials.

But they got only as far as the coor, and even there only in an impetuous rush as the convention session opened and police were caught unawares for the moment.

Shouting denunciation of Green and of the convention, the group finally was turned away.

Police and plain-clothes men thronged the building. Only those properly identified could reach the floor on which the convention is meeting, and some were stopped even on the street outside the convention hotel. The delegation itself approached only under strong police guard.

Weinstock began to address his followers when all other moves had failed.

"William Green refused to accept us, the representatives of the rank and file of labor, who have come to present our demands," he shouted.

Detectives stopped him. Inside, the convention session rumbled on.

The insurgent group has been meeting here for two days. Weinstock has insisted that all its adherents are members in good standing in the Federation of Labor, chosen by labor unions to represent them in opposition to the present federation administration.

Labor Party Discussed.

Green refused to recognize the request for admittance because, he said, "they represent nobody, and had no authority. They are just a bunch who got together."

Weinstock, when he left still protesting, said his group would try to enter again later.

Meantime, the eloquence of a British fraternal delegate swept the subject of a labor party movement back into the convention.

Yesterday, after a delegate had presented a resolution for a third major political party, the federation's executive council reaffirmed the traditional nonpartisan policy.

Today the delegates cheered as Charles Dukes, member of the British Trade Union Congress, told of the rise of the Labor party in England.

The convention recessed until Friday on account of Thanksgiving, but several committee meetings were scheduled for tomorrow.

5-Day Week Urged.

A resolution urging an amendment to the Federal Constitution to provide for a five-day week and a six-hour day was before the convention today.

The resolution, one of a score of proposals submitted by delegates, said the proposed amendment would be emergency legislation. It was proposed following a declaration of the executive council for shorter hours.

Though no specific recommendation was made by the council, President William Green, in his opening address, said the country faces the alternatives of the 30-hour week or the task of feeding a permanent army of millions of unemployed.

Old-Age Pension Wanted.

Scores of proposals designed to solve labor's ills poured in as the dead line was reached last night for presenting resolutions. Committees worked into the early morning on suggestions for labor legislation.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The Right Rev. James De Wolf Perry, presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, telegraphed today to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, which is holding its annual session in Cincinnati, a pledge of cooperation in any "adequate program of relief for the unemployed."

COUNTER-PROPOSAL OFFERED BY HITLER

Former Reichsbank Head Is Confident Nazi Will Be Chancellor Soon.

Berlin, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Adolph Hitler, head of the National Socialist party, rejected today President von Hindenburg's conditional offer of the chancellorship and at the same time made a counterproposal of his own.

After deliberating on the question for more than a day, the Nazi leader wrote the president that he could not "undertake to solve the governmental crisis on a purely parliamentary basis, as that was impossible because of the reservations made by the aged field marshal when he asked Hitler to become chancellor.

Hitler set forth "a clearly defined proposal by which the crisis can be solved within the shortest time."

"Hopeless Condition" Cited.

He explained that he did this "in view of the hopeless condition of our fatherland, the ever-increasing distress and the obligation upon every German to do his utmost so that the people and the Reich will not sink into chaos."

The president had stipulated that Hitler must obtain a working majority of the Reichstag and that he must not interfere with the army, the established foreign policy and with the economic program now being carried out under the government's emergency decrees.

On good authority it was learned that Hitler urged in his letter that an authoritarian presidial cabinet, responsible to President von Hindenburg, be appointed. In order not to complicate the situation, the Nazi leader mentioned no name for the chancellorship, according to an informed source.

Banker Is Confident.

At Nazi headquarters the opinion was expressed that the communication paved the way for another personal talk between the president and the party leader in the course of which the president's misgivings about asking Hitler to form a presidential cabinet might firmly be allayed.

"Hitler can wait," said Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former president of the Reichsbank, who was closeted with the Nazi chieftain most of the afternoon. "If he does not become chancellor now he will in four months."

Gen. Franz von Epp, one of the Nazi members of the new Reichstag, was even more optimistic.

Roosevelt's Statement On War Debt Situation

The text of Gov. Roosevelt's statement yesterday on the debts situation follows:

My conference with the President and with leaders of my party have been most illuminating and useful. I wish to express my appreciation of the opportunity thus afforded me.

At this time I wish to reaffirm my position on the questions that have been the principal subjects of our discussions.

As to the debt payments due December 15, I find no justification for modifying my statement to the President on November 14, when I pointed out that "the immediate questions raised by the British, French and other notes create a responsibility which rests upon those now vested with executive and legislative authority."

With regard to general policies respecting these debts, I firmly believe in the principle that an individual debtor should at all times have access to the creditor; that he should have opportunity to lay facts and representations before the creditor, and that the creditor always should give courteous, sympathetic and thoughtful consideration to such facts and representations.

This is a rule essential to the preservation of the ordinary relationships of life. It is a basic obligation of civilization. It applies to nations as well as to individuals.

The principle calls for free access by the debtor to the creditor. Each case should be considered in the light of the condition and necessities peculiar to the case of each nation concerned.

I find myself in complete accord with four principles discussed in the conference between the President and myself yesterday and set forth in a statement which the President has issued today.

These are:

1. These debts were actual loans made under the distinct understanding and with the intention that they would be paid.

2. In dealing with the debts each government has been and is to be considered individually, and all dealings with each government are independent of dealings with any other debtor government. In no case should we deal with the debtor governments collectively.

3. Debt settlements made in each case take into consideration the capacity to pay of the individual debtor nations.

4. The indebtedness of the various European nations to our Government has no relation whatsoever to reparations payments made or owed to them.

Once these principles of the debt relationships are established and recognized, the methods by which contacts between our Government and the debtor nations may be provided are matters of secondary importance.

My view is that the most convenient and effective contacts can be made through the existing agencies and constituted channels of diplomatic intercourse. No action by the Congress has limited or can limit the constitutional power of the President to carry on diplomatic contacts or conversations with foreign governments. The advantage of this method of maintaining contacts with foreign governments is that any one of the debtor nations may at any time bring to the attention of the Government of the United States new conditions and facts affecting any phase of its indebtedness.

It is equally true that existing debt agreements are unalterable save by congressional action.

AMERICA INSISTS FOREIGN DEBTORS PAY

President Explains His Attitude on Problem of War Debts In Statement Regarding European Powers' Pleas for Delay

fective method of negotiation as follows:

"My view is that the most convenient and effective contacts can be made through the existing agencies and constituted channels of diplomatic intercourse. No action by the Congress has limited or can limit the constitutional power of the President to carry on diplomatic contacts or conversations with foreign governments."

However, the President-elect expressed himself as thoroughly prepared to accept the final authority of Congress in the debt discussion.

Reiterates Responsibility.

His statement contained the significant last sentence:

"It is equally true that existing debt agreements are unalterable save by congressional action." He retiterated the responsibility of President Hoover and Congress in the present crisis.

The governor had already been apprised of the sentiments of Congress on the debt situation as they had been revealed to him on Tuesday night and again yesterday morning when the Democratic leaders filed over to the Mayflower Hotel after their White House conference with President Hoover.

The President had received the legislative leaders of both parties and of both houses after his history making conference on Tuesday night with the President-elect. He unfolded to them the factors in the debt situation which made congressional action necessary and then proposed that they should indicate their views.

Opposed by Harrison.

Senator Pat Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, who will be chairman of the Senate finance committee, exposed the flat opposition of the Congress to any further tampering with the debts. This sentiment, it was afterward learned was practically unanimous on the part of the Senate and House leaders of both parties present.

The President was flanked by his Secretary of State, Col. Henry L. Stimson, and his Secretary of the Treasury, Ogden L. Mills, at the morning conference. The tenor of the American reply to the British and French notes was determined by that conference. Secretary Stimson immediately returned to the State Department, drafted the notes and obtained the President's approval to them and delivered the French reply to Ambassador Claudel at his home in Woodley. Belgian Ambassador Paul May called for his note at the State Department and Secretary Stimson handed the British note to the British Ambassador on his way home in Woodley.

Meanwhile, President-elect Roosevelt was speeding on his way southward to relaxation and rest after his first skirmish with the realities of his new office. The governor had received the press in his parlor at the Mayflower Hotel where he was interviewed at the same time he was having lunch.

Informal Press Talk.

Seated in a comfortable chair in one corner of the room, the governor had draped a napkin across his broad chest and was finishing an omelet and drinking a cup of tea between questions. He greeted one reporter friendly:

"Hello, Eddie. How's everything?" and waved smilingly at three or four others. The President-elect had discarded formality and correspondents were grouped around him on every side. British, French and one Italian correspondent mingled with the American newspapermen who asked some questions.

The governor was dressed in a blue suit, with a soft collar, and looked animated and happy. He threw back his head and laughed heartily at some of the questions, but everything was "off the record."

He announced he would make a statement on the debts somewhere along the line, but declined to make any comments on the nature of his conversations all morning.

Democratic Chiefs Confer.

Soon after the meeting at the White House the Democratic members of the group filed off to the Mayflower Hotel, where they held a lengthy conference with the President-elect. They had hardly finished when the Secretary of the Treasury was announced. He encountered Senator Harrison in the hall outside the governor's suite and smiled as he clapped him on the back and said:

"Well now, Pat, the country is safe for Democracy and the Democrats."

On leavng the Roosevelt suite Secretary Mills declined to make any statement of his visit or the President-elect's reaction. Later in the day Secretary Mills returned to the White House, where the President discussed the later phases of the debt problem until a late hour in the afternoon.

In Form of Manifesto.

The President's statement on debts was in the form of a manifesto of some 1,500 words in which he traced the whole history of the debt problem, with particular emphasis to the role he has played since beting in office. The President declared he had consistently opposed cancellation, but he did give vent to two avenues of approach on some amelioration of the debts, which were embodied, it is believed, in the notes dispatched to foreign governments. These two points were:

First, the formation of an "exploring committee" or Government agency which would receive the pertinent claims of the foreign governments to debt modification.

Second, the revision of the usual transfer machinery which would permit the European debtor nations to pay with their own currency, always guaranteeing the principal, of course, until the exchange had been reestablished.

There was some doubt expressed as to whether Congress would agree to either of these proposals, however. The reactions of several of the senators who had attended the White House conference in the morning were so violently opposed to any facilities of payment that it was very freely expressed the President's proposals would fall short of accomplishment.

The only hope is that the President-elect, in his consideration of the debt problem in Warm Springs, may decide to facilitate the foreign debtors after their December 15 payments have been made. If the President-elect decides to take some facilitating steps for the balance of debts still outstanding, he may be able to prevail upon Congress to take the necessary action. But it was considered very doubtful that such a mandate would be given the President by Congress as it is at present constituted.

The only form in which congressional approval of the debt modification might be obtained is in the field of international trade relations. The President feels that some other "form of tangible compensation, other than cash, such as expansion of markets for products of American agriculture and labor," might be found to alleviate the present European debt crisis. Congress, it is believed, can hardly object to this program, but it remains to be seen whether it can effectively be put into execution.

(Associated Press.)

The text of the White House debt statement follows:

The following are the President's views upon the debt situation:

The communications submitted by a number of governments in substance request that their war debts to the United States should be again reviewed; that our Government should enter into an exchange of views on this subject, and that during the period of such a conference there should be a suspension of the payments due to the United States on December 15 next.

This presents a problem which merits thoughtful consideration of the American people. To avoid misunderstanding, it seems desirable to summarize briefly the complex questions and the policies consistently followed by the United States in respect to these debts, and my views as to the course which should be pursued.

1. These debts were, created, and were undoubtedly based, on the proposal of the borrrowers, no doubt in good faith, and the assumption of the Government of the United States that they were actual loans which would be repaid. Had it not been for this assumption, it is hardly to be supposed that this Government would have been so largely involved. We have held at all times that these agreements voluntarily entered upon must be maintained in their full integrity, except as adjusted by mutual consent. This is fundamental to upholding the whole structure of obligations between nations, and beyond this is basic to the very structure of credit and confidence upon which the modern economic life depends.

2. The United States Government from the beginning has taken the position that it would deal with each of the debtor governments separately, as separate and distinct circumstances surrounded each case. Both in the making of the loans and in the subsequent settlements with the different debtors, this policy has been repeatedly made clear to every foreign government concerned.

3. Debt settlements made in each case took into consideration the economic conditions and the capacity to pay of the individual debtor nation. The present worth of the payments to be received under the terms of the settlements at the time they were made, on the 5 per cent interest basis, provided in the original agreements, show concessions ranging from 30 per cent to 80 per cent of the total amounts that were due.

Adjustment to Ability Of Debtor to Pay.

As indicating the consistent policy of adjustment to ability of the debtor to pay, I may cite President Harding's recommendation to Congress regarding the first of these agreements, that is, the British settlement. Again the principle was fully elaborated in the annual report for the fiscal year 1925 of the World War Foreign Debt Commission, which comprised members of both political parties; and in the reports of the ways and means committee of the House of Representatives upon various settlements. The Congress in ratifying the settlements agreed to this principle. I continued to follow this policy in the statement I made on June 20, 1931, and in my subsequent message to the Congress, proposing postponement of payments during the fiscal year 1932 and their subsequent repayment over a term of years.

4. From the time of the creation of these debts to the United States, this Government has uniformly insisted that they must be treated as entirely separate from reparation claims arising out of the war. The reasons for adherence to this position are plain. After the war we refused to accept general reparations of any compensation in territory, economic privileges, or Government indemnity.

Moreover, in the matter of reparations and other intergovernmental debts arising from the war, our position is entirely different from that of governments that are both creditors and debtors. Since we owe no obligation of any kind to others, no concession made in respect of a payment owed to us could either in whole or in part be set off or balanced against claims owed by us to any other creditor of our own country. On the contrary, every such concession would result in the inevitable transfer of a tax burden from the taxpayers of some other country to the taxpayers in our own, without the possibility of any compensating setoff.

Answer to British Note Made in 1920.

As Secretary of the Treasury Houston pointed out as early as March 1, 1920, in response to a note from the British Government suggesting a general cancellation of war debts:

" * * * Of course, I recognize that a general cancellation of such debts would be of anvantage to Great Britain and that it probably would not involve any losses on her part. As there are no obligations of the United States Government which would be canceled under such a plan, the effect would be that, in consideration of a cancellation by the United States Government of obligations which it holds for advances made to the British Government and other allied governments, the British government would cancel its debts against France, Italy, Russia and her other allies. Such a proposal does not involve mutual sacrefices on the part of the nations concerned. It simply involves a contribution mainly by the United States." * * *

In my statement of June 20, 1931, proposing that one year's payment of all intergovernmental debts should be distributed over a term of years, and again to the Congress on December 10 last, submitting the agreements thereon, I said:

"I wish to take this occason also to frankly state my views upon our relations to German reparations and the debts owed to us by the allied governments of Europe. Our Government has not been a party to, or exerted any voice in determination of reparation obligations. We purposely did not participate in either general reparations or the division of colonies or property. The repayment of debts due to us from the allies for the advance for war and reconstruction was settled upon a basis not contingent upon German reparations or related thereto. Therefore, reparations is necessarily wholly a European problem with which we have no relation."

5. The debt agreements are, through force of law, unalterable save by congressional action.

Relation of Debts To Revenue Is Cited.

Without entering into legalistic consideration of the respective powers of the Executive and the Congress, it may be said at once that, based upon the relation of these debts to revenue, the Congress has insisted upon participation in initiation of negotiations and in any ultimate decisions in respect to the war debts. In 1921 when President Harding recommended to the Congress that the Secretary of the Treasury be given broad powers to deal with the debts, subject to approval of the President, the Congress did not accept this proposal but instead provided for the creation of the World War Foreign Debt Commission and placed very close limitations upon the action of the commission. Subsequently, the commission, having found it impossible to reach agreements within the limits set by the Congress, the original act was amended so as to permit the commission to conclude settlements subject to the approval of the President and the Congress.

With the exception of settlements with Austria and Greece, all settlements were negotiated by the World War Debt Commission and every agreement was approved by the Congress in acts passed by both houses, signed by the President.

Believing that emergencies of temporary character might arise in some cases during the depression—which has already proved the case—on December 10, 1931, I sent a recommendation to the Congress that the commission should be reconstituted to consider such emergency cases. The Congress refused to take such action, and adopted a joint resolution which read in part as follows:

"Section 5. It is hereby expressly declared to be against the policy of Congress that any indebtedness of foreign countries to the United States should be in any way canceled or reduced, and nothing in this joint resolution should be construed as indicating a contrary policy or as indicating that favorable consideration will be given for change in the policy hereby declared."

It must be obvious, therefore, from a practical point of view, that no progress is possible without active cooperation of the Congress.

Europe Is Reminded Of Our Tax Burden.

6. The necessity of this authority does not, however, relieve me of the responsibilities of this office, and I therefore shall state my own views.

The world-wide crisis has at least temporarily increased the weight of all debts throughout the world. Tremendous disparity in price levels, contraction in markets, depreciation in currency, stagnation of trade and industry—are all part of this world-wide depression, which is not only increasing the weight of these debts and has made their payment more difficult to some nations, but have thrust them as well into the problem of world recovery and its effect upon our own farmers, workers and business. These are realities. We can not blind ourselves to their existence. They are vital factors in the problem now before us for consideration.

At the same time, it must be emphatically recalled that the aftermath of the great war and these incidents of the depression have also fallen with great weight on the American people, and the effect upon them directly as taxpayers, of any modification with respect to the debts due this country, must not be disregarded. Other nations have their budgetary problems. So have we. Other people are heavily burdened with taxes. So are our people.

I have stated on many occasions my opposition to cancellation. Furthermore, I do not feel that the American people should be called upon to make further sacrifices. I have held, however, that advantages to us could be found by other forms of tangible compensation than cash, such as expansion of markets for products of American agriculture and labor. There are other possible compensations in economic relations which might be developed on study which would contribute to recovery of prices and trade. Such compensations could be made mutually advantageous. These things might serve to overcome difficulties of exchange in some countries and to meet the question of inability of some of them otherwise to pay.

The world economic conference will convene in a few months to deal with matters of the deepest import to economic recovery of the world and of ourselves as well. A world disarmament conference is now in progress. And I must reiterate that the problem of foreign debts has in the American mind very definite relationship to the problem of disarmaments and the continuing burden which competitive armaments impose upon us and the rest of the world. There are, therefore, important avenues of mutual advantage which should be genuinely explored.

Refers to World Economic Conference.

It is unthinkable that within the comity of nations and the maintenance of international good will that our people should refuse to consider the request of a friendly people to discuss an important question in which they and we both have a vital interest, irrespective of what conclusions might arise from such a discussion. This is particularly true in a world greatly afflicted, where cooperation and good will are essential to the welfare of all.

I believe, therefore, that Congress in view of the requests made by these governments should authorize the creation of an agency to exchange views with those governments, enlarging the field of discussion as above indicated and to report to Congress such recommendations as they deem desirable.

Furthermore, such agency should be so constituted through complete or partial identity of membership with the delegations to the world economic conference and to the general disarmament conference, that under the direction of the President, and with the final decision in the Congress, we may take the strongest possible coordinated steps toward the solution of the many underlying causes of the present calamity.

As to the suspension of installments due on December 15, no facts have been presented by the debtor governments which would justify such postponement under the principles heretofore laid down by this country. At the Lausanne conference, which has been referred to as a precedent for the suspension of payments during those conferences, that postponement was the natural result of the facts which had been elaborately presented during many months of previous inquiry.

The suggestion that the suspension of the December 15 payments would permit the governments to enter undisturbed into discussions now proposed does not appear to me to carry weight. Contrary to this view, it seems to me that discussion would proceed under more favorable circumstances if the terms of these obligations are carried out rather than suspended prior to discussion. By that I do not mean to say that if extraordinary circumstances, such as depreciation of currencies and general fall in world trade, have rendered immediate transfers of this next payment in dollars impossible to some nations without losses on both sides, our Government should be unwilling to consider a proposal that payments of this installment be made to our account in foreign currencies, transfers to be effected from time to time as the situation of the exchanges permits, of course with guarantees as to value of such currencies. If any such circumstances exist and are called to the attention of this Government, I shall transmit them to Congress for prompt consideration, but I must insist that existing agreements be respected until they have been mutually modified by duly authorized representatives of the governments affected.

Lively Opposition.

The suggestion for mitigating conditions of payment contained in the President's debt statement found lively opposition in Congress. There was some approval for his plan to prevent a collapse of national currency as a result of the transfer of a large sum of gold to take care of the December 15 payments, of Great Britain, for example, but the temper of the congressional leaders, even after their White House conference, was not conducive to optimism.

Senator David A. Reed, who is usually regarded as the President's spokesman in the upper house, said that all who attended the conference seemed inclined to support the President's suggestion for taking care of nations with depreciated currencies. Even Speaker of the House John N. Garner deviated from his characteristically caustic role and indicated he is ready to push such a plan if the President recommends it.

The other plan of President Hoover for the creation of an "exploring commission" was roundly criticized by the Speaker of the House and by the Democratic whip. Representative Henry T. Rainey. The veteran white-haired Rainey exploded caustically when he was asked about his reactions to the War Debt Commission, and said:

"I am not in favor of discussing further this war debt proposition. There is no room for discussion."

Opposes Any Reduction.

"Every time we discuss the matter in international conference it means a substantial loss for the United States. I am tired of seeing the United States the sugar-daddy for Europe. I am opposed to cancellation or reduction of the foreign debts or any steps looking in that direction."

Speaker Garner declared:

"There are three questions involved in this debt problem. They are: Shall we cancel the debts; shall we reduce the obligations, and shall we have conversations about it?

"We are all agreed that the debts should not be canceled and should not be reduced. Why, therefore, should we have any conversations about it? The congressmen at the White House convinced President Hoover that Congress would not consider at this time any emergency to discuss the debts."

The Vice President-elect declined to make any prophecy about the future of the debt negotiations after March 4. He said:

"I am unable to read the minds of all the new members of Congress who are coming in then."

Would Agree to Parley.

Senator King (Democrat), of Utah, expressed his views of the President's statement thusly:

"I am opposed to any cancellation or revision downward, but if the President merely proposes further conversation, I agree with him. If the debtor nations make a reasonable showing for postponement or for payment in kind, or some other little concession, I am willing to listen but with the understanding that there will be no cancellation or diminution of the amount to be paid."

Other representatives who were present at the White House echoed more or less similar sentiments.

Representative Bacharach (Republican), of New Jersey:

"Congress will take no action until after the date of payment has passed."

Representative Treadway (Republican), of Massachusetts:

"The conference held by the President this morning plainly indicated that the sentiment of Congress was against any extension of the moratorium of any suggestion of cancellation."

Representative Hawley (Republican), of Oregon:

"I think we are all in agreement that the foreign nations can pay. It has always been treated as a legislative matter and all settlements have been through acts of Congress. If some settlement is made other than payment in cash, but which would be equally acceptable and valuable to the American people and it could be agreed upon, I am ready to cooperate in the matter."

Italy's Position on Debt Still Remains Undecided

Rome (Thursday), Nov. 24 (A.P.).—Italy's problem of whether or not to pay the war debt to the United States was as undecided as ever early today, after adjournment of the second night session this week of the grand council of Fascism.

Premier Mussolini again spoke lengthily, but after a three-hour session the meeting adjourned until December 5.

The present and former ministers of finance, Guido Jung and Alberto De Stefani, respectively, again discussed the situation, and Minister Dino Grandi was here from London. He also spoke.

An official announcement gave out only the names of those in attendance, and said Premier Mussolini and eight others spoke on "the internal and international situations."

Although the grand council sessions were secret, it was known that Monday night, when Mussolini spoke two hours, he gave no indication of any decision about the debts, but presented a picture of conditions in every country as a background to the discussion.

Newspapers have been carrying discussions and continuous reports of the Hoover-Roosevelt conference and congressional reaction in the United States, but nowhere have indicated the Italian position since a week ago, when several papers announced that Italy would be sending a note requesting postponement, which later was officially denied.

Famed British Expert Sees U. S. Trade Hurt

London, Nov. 23 (U.P.).—Sir Josiah Stamp, famed British economist, today expressed disappointment in President Hoover's statement on war debts.

He declared it shows a lack of appreciation among world statesmen of the underlying facts of financial and economic problems, and he believed the statement may prove a big blow to American trade recovery.

"It is certainly a retrograde step," he said. "It shows that officials of the United States do not realize what adverse effects such a policy will exert on them and their trade."

Chicago Fair Rates Reduced.

Chicago, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Reductions in round-trip railroad fares to Chicago during the Century of Progress Exhibition have been announced by member roads of the Western and Central Passenger associations.

FORGERY IS CHARGED BY TOKYO DELEGATE

Famous Tanaka Memorial Is Laid to China in Debate Before League.

Geneva, Nov. 23 (U.P.).—Japan indirectly charged China today with forging the famous Tanaka memorial in order to "exploit foreign gullibility" and stir up outside animosities against the Tokyo government.

The charge was made during resumption of the bitter debate on the Lytton report. Yosuke Matsuoka again represented the Japanese delegation, and Dr. Wellington Koo spoke for the Chinese before the Council of the League of Nations.

The session closed after the council had ordered Lord Lytton and his Far Eastern commission to reconsider their report, in the light of Japanese and Chinese arguments, to see if they desire to modify or alter it in any way.

Voices Strong Objection.

Matsuoka voiced a strong objection to this procedure, but was overruled after Lord Lytton himself had taken the platform and defended his commission's right to reconsider its report.

Speaking extemporaneously, and with great persuasion, Matsuoka assailed Dr. Koo's accusation that Japan is engaged on a policy of expansion which calls for the conquest of China, the United States and the rest of the world. Such charges are based on forged documents, Matsuoka said, adding:

"The Chinese are exploiting foreign gullibility with spurious documents."

He asked that Dr. Koo attempt to prove the authenticity of the Tanaka memorial. His request was interrupted by President Eamon de Valera, in the chair, who ordered that Lord Lytton step to the platform.

Revealed Several Years Ago.

The Tanaka memorial came to light several years ago. It was supposed to have been written by the former Japanese premier, Baron Tanaka, and explained that Japanese seizure of Manchuria and Mongolia was a necessary prelude to conquest of the United States. Since its discovery, Japan frequently has denied its authenticity.

Matsuoka asked the league council to hold China responsible for recent events in the Far East. "We have not violated a single treaty," the Japanese statesman declared.

He challenged Dr. Koo's statement that Japan has sponsored disorganization in China. He warned the council against hasty action.

Attacks Chinese Boycott.

Matsuoka, attacking the Chinese boycott, said such a weapon is as bad as war, if not worse. He recalled that in 1905, when the Chinese instituted a boycott against the United States, the American Government characterized it as "a form of coercion designed to force concessions, a violation of treaties and a hostile act." At that time the United States ordered the Pacific fleet to stand in readiness for action, Matsuoka pointed out.

Dr. Koo, in rebuttal, challenged Japan's "peaceful intentions."

"What about the islands of Formosa, what about Korea, Manchuria, Mongolia and Jehol?" the Chinese delegate demanded. "In whose hands are they?"

If the boycott is warlike, Dr. Koo declared, "what can we term Japan's action in Manchuria?"

Denies Attempt to Assist.

He denied Japan tried to assist China to reorganize. "If the bombing of Shanghai, the operations in Manchuria and the murder of many Chinese is considered assistance to us, then you understand why we do not like it," he said.

In objection to further consideration by the Lytton commission of its report, Matsuoka said that Japan considers the commission's work as ended.

Lord Lytton answered that, while he did not believe the commission is empowered to comment on the Chinese and Japanese statements, "we are competent to decide if, in the light of their statements, we wish to modify or alter our report in any way."

Six Byrd Followers To Eat Charity Turkey

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Fate dealt a strange hand tonight to six members of Admiral Byrd's Antarctic expedition.

All of them "on the beach," or out of a job, as landlubbers call it, they happened to wander, one by one, to the Seamen's House, on West Side. They'll eat turkey together tomorrow. The sailors are Harry King, William Gawronski, John Cody, Isaac Erickson, Charles Pressler and A. B. Creagh.

PRESIDENT TO LEAD THANKSGIVING TODAY

the District Jail will be served special dinners. Roast pork, instead of turkey, will be on most of the menus. Many of the poor will be served with tasty edibles donated by students of Roosevelt High School.

G. W. Homecoming.

George Washington University will devote the day to its annual homecoming celebration. The Colgate University Alumni Association and the Brown University Club of Washington will hold a joint smoker at the Racquet Club at 11 a. m.

Dances will be held at the Buchanan School and the Hine Junior High School under direction of the Community Center Department.

Johnny Reh and his good cheer gang will give an entertainment tonight at Blue Plains.

The Adventure Club will sponsor a dance tonight at Friendship House, 324 Virginia avenue southeast. Music will be furnished by the Senators Orchestra.

Travel by airplane by Thanksgiving holiday makers proved popular yesterday when more than 200 passengers were transported by the Ludington Airlines between here and New York. All planes on the line's new Washington-Norfolk division were practically sold out, it was reported.

Unemployed City Man Is Told to Be Farmer

Springfield, Mo., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The jobless city man who is willing to work hard and take advice has, in the opinion of C. C. Keller, Greene County farm agent, a chance to make a living for himself and family, even in these times, by going back to the farm.

Keller said he would not advise the distressed city man to buy farm land at this time unless he found an "outstanding bargain on the easiest kinds of terms."

World Fair Builders Look to Future

Architectural Motif Is Modernism; Chicago Given Shock.

(Editor's note—Chicago, with one successful world's fair to its credit, is working on another. But it's to be a much different exposition, symbolic of the changing times. Here is the first of a series of three articles on the 1933 world's fair.)

Chicago, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—On the night of October 8, 1871, Mrs. Patrick O'Leary's cow kicked over a lantern, thereby ruining Mrs. O'Leary's milk business and a large part of Chicago.

Less than a quarter century later, in 1893, this was the World's Fair city and visitors to the Columbian Exposition then saw not a scar of the great fire caused by the burst of bovine temperament.

Next year, Chicago again entertains the world with the Century of Progress Exposition. And old-timers won't see much of the city of the nineties. They'll see even less to remind them of the old fair itself.

Nothing demonstrates the difference between the two eras, and the two fairs, as well as the architecture. In a comparison of the appearance of the two expositions, one shows all the verve, the dash, the sometimes-confusing beauty of the 1932 miss—the other, the buxom, stately, but often-overdone charm of the mid-Victorian belle.

The architectural motif of the Century of Progress buildings, many of which have been completed, is modernism. It embodies the present trend and anticipates the future. That of the Columbian Exposition was classic, recreating the past.

The 1893 fair presented architectural wonders with an exclamation mark. Add a question mark to the design of the century of progress buildings.

Severely simple in outline, done in straight geometric lines, the century of progress halls are piled along the shore of Lake Michigan like huge blocks tossed there by a careless hand. Much controversy has centered about them. The question has been—are these structures new, beautiful and indicative of what is coming? or are they merely glorified gas tanks, grain elevators and filling stations, conceived in slightly psychopathic burst of creative inspiration?

Perhaps the most attention-compelling of the group is the transportation hall. Here is the gas tank motif, a silo dressed up, with an accompanying cow shed, greatly urbanized. The dome has joints that contract and expand with temperature changes. It is the building that breathes. Its roof is supported in a web of steel cables, like a suspension bridge. There are no pillars.

Then there is the hall of science, a U-shaped affair, the giant exhibition hall forming a juncture for two arms that reach out and embrace a succession of terraces.

Replica of Fort Dearborn Is Only Reminder of Past at Show.

Modernism is carried out without a break in all the exhibition halls. The buildings are almost windowless, artifically lighted. Utility is their main purpose, economy of space obtained through elimination of useless ornamentation.

"The great White City" of the Columbian Exposition was an architectural beauty of its day. But that day saw a different conception of beauty than the present. Grouped about the wide plaza in Jackson Park were buildings that had their prototypes in many cultural periods. They formed an architectural goulash. They were Romanesque, Gothic, Grecian and French Rennaisance. Visitors stood before them in pop-eyed admiration. But they weren't bewildered. They got the idea. There was nothing revolutionary about the White City.

Beautiful the White City was. But not new. The 1933 World's Fair will try to be both. Only one thing hints of the past, the familiar. That is Fort Dearborn in replica, a homely anachronism—like a buggy at an automobile show.

(Finances have been the stumbling block to many similar expositions. Read tomorrow how the Century of Progress officials are coping with this problem.)

ROOSEVELT ARTICLE ON TOKYO RECALLED

Wrote in 1923 That U. S.-Japanese War Would Be Futile Gesture.

New York, Nov. 23 (U.P.).—Hope for American cooperation with Japan in the Far East is held by students of foreign affairs who recall President-elect Roosevelt's article written nine years ago in the magazine Asia saying war between the two powers would be "a futile gesture."

The President-elect has not expressed himself on the subject of America's Far East policy recently. In 1923, after service as Assistant Secretary of the Navy, he wrote with full knowledge of the activities of the two powers. He held that the "post-war period" offered a "magnificent opportunity" for the two nations to cooperate.

His opinion at that time, as indicated in his article for Asia, was that:

1. A war between Japan and the United States would be "a futile gesture," with economic causes the determining factor.

Economic Clashes.

2. Economic clashes between the two nations in trade development may continue, but there is room to spare for both.

3. That perhaps Americans appreciate (in 1923) "a little more readily than formerly the Japanese point of view."

4. Instead of looking for causes of offense, we in all good faith confidently expect from Japan cooperation in world upbuilding, we shall go far toward insuring peace, he wrote.

He said war between the two nations probably would have resulted in the opinion of experts, in a deadlock had such a conflict occurred two decades before. If that judgment was true, then the principle was even more true in 1923, Roosevelt wrote, because of the development of sea fighting forces.

Seen as Futile Gesture.

"Tableau: Japan and the United States . . . making faces at one another across . . . the Pacific. Some genius might then arise to ask what it was all about . . . or judge counsels might prevail until one or both . . . had bled to death through the pocketbook. If then it were realized . . . that a war would be a futile gesture, attended by no sufficiently compensating results, each nation might be in a fair way to change its apprehensive habit of mind."

"In the case of Japan it is true that we shall continue to overlap and perhaps to clash in the development of commerce of the Pacific," he wrote, "* * * There would seem to be enough commercial room and to spare for both * * * Situation Improved.

"The situation is somewhat improved," he wrote in regard to the important interests of both nations in China. "The idea of the partition of China, * * * I regard as having been dissipated, if not forever, then for our own times, by the great war. * * * American sympathies have been pro-Chinese rather than pro-Japanese. Perhaps, however, we are appreciating now a little more readily than formerly the Japanese point of view. * * * We can now recognize that there is a real necessity to Japan of the markets and raw products of that part of the Chinese mainland contiguous to her island shores. Here, then, is another valid reason * * * for altering or abandoning the old-fashioned habit of mind."

Boy Slayers Plan Pleas of Insanity

Varecha Boasts of Being Crazy and Alienist Is Hired for Arnold.

Chicago, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Apparently Chicago's boy slayers plan to enter insanity pleas if brought to trial for murder.

Attorneys for Bertrand Arnold, jr., 16, confessed killer of his step-grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Saxe, 60, have retained an alienist to examine their client.

James ("Iggy") Varecha, 17, charged with murder for the slaying of Frank Jordan during a robbery, hurled his defiance at police the day he confessed with the words: "You can't do anything to me. I'm crazy."

Nebraska Thieves Steal Holiday Birds and Meat

Sidney, Nebr., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—A gang of Western Nebraska robbers stole more than $1,000 worth of live stock and poultry from produce houses, markets and a packing plant here last night. The meat had been dressed in preparation for the Thanksgiving trade.

Sheriff W. W Schulz believes the robbery was the work of an organized gang of live stock thieves which has been operating near Alliance.

POLICE STRIKE FIRST BLOW AT MARCHES ON CAPITAL

Regarded as First Offensive.

The arrest of the coterie of solicitors was regarded last night as the first offensive of District authorities against the hunger march. The Commissioners have stated definitely that no food or housing or accommodations will be provided for the hunger marchers as was the case a year ago, under the police administration of Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford.

Inasmuch as all armies travel on their stomachs, it was regarded as significant that the solicitation of funds here was cut off yesterday. The hunger marcher solicitors had been operating for nearly a week, it was learned.

Ferguson, interviewed last night at the Fourth Precinct station, declared he was a former member of the left wing contingent of the bonus army led by John Pace, and which outfit was credited with being largely responsible for the riots of last July 28. Ferguson declared, and was corroborated by police, that a woman connected with the Community Chest brought about his arrest and that of Miss Shelton.

Child Group Expected.

A statement was issued at the headquarters here of the hunger march last night declaring that in soliciting funds "the Community Chest and the Salvation Army use the same methods as employed by" the hunger march agents.

The "child misery" group is expected to come into Washington early this morning. The groups arriving at Baltimore last night were riding in large moving vans. They were said to be accompanied by seven adults.

A preliminary draft of the petition to be taken to the White House for presentation to President Hoover, released last night, calls for immediate enactment by Congress of legislation prohibiting child labor under the age of 14 years, the giving to every unemployed worker of $50 for the coming winter and $10 for each dependent, and included many other demands purported to bring about alleviation of "child misery" conditions.

Due to Appear at 2 p. m.

No indication could be obtained at the White House last night as to what reception the delegation would be accorded. President Hoover is expected to be at the White House at 2 o'clock, when the child misery group is scheduled to appear there. Whether he will see the delegation remained problematical.

Police yesterday declared they would act promptly if any indications of violation of statutes governing child exploitation were present in the visit of the children. Other possible infractions of juvenile delinquency laws will be watched for.

Leon Kaplan, of New York, advance agent of the "child misery" demonstration, said the children are delegated representatives of the Young Pioneers of America. Kaplan declared that nurses, welfare workers and doctors would accompany the children. He said this would eliminate possible police interference on juvenile delinquency laws. All of the children have been granted written permission of their parents to make the trip, Kaplan added.

After the White House appearance, the "child misry" delegates will again gather in convention. All of the sessions will be held at Plasterers' Hall at 1024 New Jersey avenue northwest. Tomorrow morning the children will start back to their homes.

Police said no interference would be forthcoming from them unless a mass or individual picketing movement were begun by the youthful protestants.

Inspector L. I. H. Edwards, assistant superintendent of police, declared yesterday that ample police reserves were being held in readiness for possible disturbances.

Defense Society Appeal.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The national action committee of the American Defense Society, through its chairman, Richard Washburn Child, appealed to the entire country tonight to help prevent the "national hunger march" on Washington next month.

Child said the march was designed to start from nine cities—Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Antonio, Sioux City, Buffalo, Boston, New Orleans and Tampa—and converge on the National Capital the day before Congress convenes.

"It begins as a thoroughly organized subversive movement sponsored by the Communist party, U. S. A.," he said.

Sees Demand for Cash.

The marchers, he asserted, plan to augment their forces by enlisting the unemployed through demonstrations in communities they pass through.

"These marchers," he added, "plan to demand of Congress that every jobless person in this country be given a specified amount of cash and an additional amount for each dependent, and they also will demand that distribution of such funds be through their own hands. * * *

"Demands are to be made on Federal, State, county and municipal authorities for safe conduct along highways, for food and for lodging en route to Washington and return. * * *

"The recent riots from the march on London of the so-called unemployed are fresh in the memory of all and no patriotic American citizen can wish to see similar or even worse disturbances occur in our National Capital. * * *

Urges No Aid Be Given.

"The remedy is to stop such movements at the starting point. * * *

"Washington has publicly stated that disaster awaits concentration at our Capital. The duty of every citizen is to refrain from feeding or sheltering those going toward Washington. No aid in transportation should be given. It is not kind to the marchers to encourage their progress, and it is positively disloyal to the country to do so. * * *

"Anything to send them back rather than forward will help. The vagrancy laws may aid in this when invoked by local authorities.

"The American Defence Society * * * asks the cooperation of local authorities and of all citizens for concrete suggestions to stop the hunger marchers at their sources."

Life Belts Save 10 Trapped Firemen

Exploding Cartridges Add to Dangers at Armory in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Trapped on a roof by spreading flames, ten firemen were lowered to safety by means of life belts as fire badly damaged the Third Regiment Armory (Federal and Wharton streets) in South Philadelphia today.

Exploding machine gun cartridges endangered the firefighters as flames swept through the third and fourth floors of the buildings. Freezing water also hampered efforts to bring the fire under control.

In falling, the roof of the armory dropped on an adjoining apartment house from which a number of families had previously been routed. Most of the regiment's equipment is believed to have been lost in the fire, although battle flags and oil paintings of officers were saved.

Eastern Football Fans Due Soaking

Washington May Get Good Weather But General Forecast Is Rain.

Football fans in Washington may get a break today, but in sections east of the Mississippi River generally umbrellas and slickers probably will be needed.

In a few localities including Washington, the forecaster says cloudy, and probably occasional rain, but more severe weather is expected at gridirons elsewhere.

Last night Mr. Weather Man perused his charts carefully in an effort to find encouraging signs, but he finally was forced to dolefully shake his head, and announce that anything from snow to rain and colder weather might be expected in most places from Maine to Florida and west to Kentucky, Tennessee and Ohio.

$500 Reward Offered For Scott Manuscript

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—A $500 reward and no questions asked was offered by an insurance firm today for the return of Sir Walter Scott's "Guy Mannering" manuscript, which disappeared from the Avery Library at Columbia University about a month ago.

Kingman W. Putnam, of the firm of Albert R. Lee & Co., said the disappearance of the manuscript had been kept secret as long as possible in the hope it would be returned, either to the Avery Library or to the private library of J. P. Morgan, who owns it.

LEGISLATOR'S DEATH IS BLAMED ON FIGHT

He was admitted to the Virginia bar in 1897.

During his political career, he served several terms in the Virginia House of Delegates from Fairfax County, and two terms as senator from Arlington, Fairfax and Prince William counties and Alexandria City.

Always active in the Democratic party, Mr. Oliver was known throughout Virginia. He was an ardent anti-prohibitionist. He was a member of Masonic Lodge at Fairfax, Junior Order of American Mechanics and Bethal Primitive Baptist Church.

He is survived by his widow, three sons, Lewis, Walter Tansill, jr., Robert Windsor, and one one daughter, Mrs. Katherine Wynne, wife of John S. Wynne, of Washington-Hoover Airport.

CHURCHES TO HOLD SPECIAL SERVICES

Several Throughout City to Unite in Program of Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving Day will be observed with prayer, music and sermon in Washington churches this morning. Several churches will unite in services, while others have made special plans to give their ceremonies added beauty and spirit in keeping with the occasion.

One of the most colorful services of the day will be a Pan-American mass at St. Patrick's Church at 11 a. m. This will be attended by representatives of the Pan American republics and other officials. It also will mark the first time that the great organ recently installed in St. Patrick's is used. Special music has been prepared by Miss Jennie Glennon, choir director.

The apostolic delegate, the Most Rev. Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, D. D., will preside. Officers of the mass will be the Rev. James A. McVann, S. C. P., assistant priest to the delegate, and the Rev. Michael J. Riordan and the Rev. Francis X. Cavanaugh, deacons of honor to the delegate.

Sermon by Dr. Shehan.

The mass will be celebrated by the Rev. Jerome Sebastian, of St Elizabeth's Church, Baltimore, with the Rev. Elmer Fisher, of St. Edward's Church, Baltimore, as deacon, and the Rev. George E. Shank, also of St. Edward's, as subdeacon. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Lawrence J. Shehan.

Six churches in Mount Pleasant will unite in their seventh Thanksgiving Day service at the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church at 10:30 a. m. The Rev. Harvey Baker Smith, minister of the Columbia Heights Christian Church, will preach on "Let Us Give Thanks." The Rev. Russell J. Clinchy, minister of Mount Pleasant Church, will be in charge of the service, and a special musical program will be given by the Mount Pleasant Congregational chorus and quartet, under direction of Claude Robeson, organist and director, with Norton M. Little conducting.

The Calvary Baptist Church, of which the Rev. W. S. Abernethy is pastor, and the First Congregational Church, of which the Rev Allen A. Stockdale is pastor, will hold a union service at 11 a. m. at the former church. Dr. Abernethy will conduct the services and Dr. Stockdale will preach on "The Grace of Gratitude."

Union Service in Northeast.

Six Northeast churches will hold a union service at the Eastern Presbyterian Church at 10:30 a. m. The Rev. Clifford H. Jope, pastor of the Ninth Street Christian Church, will deliver the sermon, his subject being, "Lord, I Thank Thee." The vested choir of the Eastern Presbyterian Church, of which Charles W. Guest is director, and Miss Nellie Sacrey organist, will offer a special program of music.

Trinity M. E. Church, Pennsylvania avenue and Fifth street southeast, will be the scene of the 130th anniversary of the church when five churches of the Southeast unite in a Thanksgiving Day service at 11 a. m. Bishop John M. Hamilton, D. D., LL. D., will preach the sermon.

A special Thanksgiving Day service will be observed at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church at 11 a. m. The Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo will preach on "He Gave Thanks." The offering will be used to alleviate the suffering of those in distress during the coming winter.

Foundry Methodist Service.

The national Methodist Thanksgiving service will be held at 11 a. m. in Foundry Methodist Episcopal Church. The Thanksgiving message will be preached by Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, D. D., LL. D., resident bishop of the Washington area. Bishop William Fraser McDowell, Dr. James Shera Montgomery, Dr. Benjamin W. Meeks and Dr. Frederick Brown Harris will take part in the service. The Foundry choir, under direction of Justin Lawrie, will give special music.

Rock Creek Episcopal Church, Rock Creek Church road and Webster street northwest, will hold a Thanksgiving service with celebration of Holy Communion at 10:30 a. m. The sermon will be preached by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Franklin J. Bohanan. The vested choir, under direction of Ruth Farmer Vanderlip, will give a special program.

The four Christian Science churches will hold a service at 11 a. m. at the First Church, Columbia road and Euclid street northwest. The subject of the lesson-sermon will be "Thanksgiving."

Bloom to Be Speaker.

Representative Sol Bloom, of New York, will be the speaker at the union service of the Hebrew congregations of Washington at 8 p. m. at B'nai Israel Congregation.

The Rev. Godfrey Chobot will preach at the 10 a. m. service at the Sixth Presbyterian Church.

At the Church of the Pilgrims the service will be held at 11 a. m. The minister, the Rev. Andrew Reid Bird will preach.

The Rev. Forney Hutchinson will conduct his first Thanksgiving service at Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church at 11 a.m.

At Grace Lutheran Church, the pastor, the Rev. Gerhard E. Lanski, will praech at 11 a. m.

Union Methodist Episcopal Church will unite with Western Presbyterian Church at the latter church in the 11 a. m. celebration.

At Covenant-First Presbyterian Church the services will be held at 10:30 a. m. with Dr. Albert Joseph McCartney preaching.

At Central Presbyterian.

At Central Presbyterian Church the service will be held at 11 a. m., with the pastor, the Rev. James H. Taylor, preaching.

The Rev. George Fiske Dudley will conduct services at the Church of St. Stephen and the Incarnation at 10:30 a. m.

At St. John's Episcopal Church, Lafayette Square, the Rev. Leon A. Shearer will preach at 11 a. m.

At St. Andrew's Episcopal Church services will be held at 10:30 a. m. with the rector, the Rev. A. J. Wilder, preaching.

Dr. Ze B. T. Phillips, the rector, will preach at the 11 p. m. service at the Church of the Epiphany.

Rev. J. L. Cole to Preach.

At historic Trinity Episcopal Church the services will be held at 10 a. m. The vicar, the Rev. Jackson L. Cole, will preach.

At Christ Church, 620 G street southeast, the rector, the Rev. Edward Gabler, will conduct services at 10 a. m. and the children's choir of 46 voices will furnish the music.

At McKendree M. E. Church the pastor, the Rev. William Pierpont, will conduct services at 10:30 a. m.

Gunton-Temple Memorial Presbyterian Church will hold its service at 11 a. m. The pastor, the Rev. Bernard Braskamp, will preach.

FESTIVAL SERVICES IN NEW CHOIR TODAY

Bishop Freeman to Preach Thanksgiving Service at Cathedral.

The newly completed choir of Washington Cathedral will be the scene of a festival service of morning prayer at 10:30 a. m. today, with the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, preaching the sermon.

This will be the first Thanksgiving service held in the great choir, and will mark the end of a series of commemorations held at the cathedral during the George Washington Bicentennial year. The heating facilities recently installed in the choir have been placed in operation and there will be accommodations for a congregation of 1,000 or more worshipers, it was announced.

Music will be furnished by the men and boys of the cathedral choir, under the direction of Edgar Priest, choirmaster and organist. The service will be broadcast over Station WMAL. A cordial invitation is extended by Bishop Freeman to residents of Washington and visitors to attend the service, which will begin with the stirring processional hymn, "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come; Raise the Song of Harvest Home."

During the offertory the cathedral choir will sing Sir John Stainer's anthem, "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land That I Gave to Your Fathers." Other services to be held at Washington Cathedral today will be Holy Communion in Bethlehem Chapel at 7:30 a. m. and in the Chapel of Resurrection at 9:30 a. m., with evensong in the choir at 4 p. m.

WHY AMERICA REFUSES.

After a conference with leaders in Congress which disclosed unanimous opposition to the request for postponement of payments due next month from foreign governments, President Hoover has issued a statement setting forth his attitude toward this request and toward the proposal to reconsider the debt settlements. He holds that discussion of the debt settlements could proceed under more favorable circumstances if the December installments were paid instead of being deferred. The principal debtors have been informed that the United States is not prepared to grant the request for suspension of the December payments.

If the debtors should represent that it is impossible to pay the installments, or that they can not be paid without great hardship and loss, President Hoover will refer the communications to Congress, meanwhile insisting that the agreements be respected until they are modified.

On the broad question of reconsideration of the debt settlements, President Hoover holds that a request from a friendly nation to discuss such a problem of mutual concern should be granted, for the sake of making progress in "rebuilding a new and better world." He holds that co-operation among the nations is the only means by which a path can be built toward world peace, disarmament and recovery. It is an appeal that will have weight with many citizens.

The request by the debtors for postponement of the December payments has served to increase the present opposition to reconsideration of the settlements. Most of the debtors can pay these installments. Since 1926, when the United States scaled down the French debt by 53 per cent, France has increased her expenditures for armaments by 100 per cent. The Italian debt was scaled down 74 per cent, while Italy has increased armament expenditures by 50 per cent. The United Kingdom has actually reduced expenditures for armaments, thereby showing other governments that the thing can be done.

Mr. Hoover points out that "discussion does not involve abandonment on our part of what we believe to be sound and right." But it is well understood that discussions, if undertaken, will be for the sole purpose of scaling down or cancelling the debts. There is no proposal, and there never has been a proposal from any debtor, looking to the granting of any concession to the United States. All the efforts of all the debtors since the war have been in the direction of obtaining something more from the United States. In the meantime they have refused to co-operate for general reduction of armaments, although the United States has repeatedly urged them to do so and has offered to lead the way. An armament reduction agreement would help to relieve American taxpayers and in consequence might induce them to make concessions on the debt agreements. At present no inducement whatever is offered by foreign debtors in return for concessions on the debts.

The war debt question will become one of the heritages of the new administration. The President-elect has outlined his views as to affording full opportunity to the debtors to call attention, through diplomatic channels, to changed conditions which in their opinion might justify reconsideration of the debts. The next Congress may make reconsideration of the debts contingent upon some definite action by the nations in the direction of reduction of armaments. It does not seem probable that the United States will agree to discuss revision of the debts so long as the principal debtors interpose ingenious obstacles to reduction of armaments and thereby compel the United States to incur unnecessarily large expenditures for armament.

The debtor governments are hard pressed, but so is the United States. They have deficits, but the United States has a larger one. They have gained territorial and other advantages, but the United States has gained none. They ask for co-operation, but they offer nothing and concede nothing. Their long-continued refusal to take any steps for world betterment except at the expense of the United States fully justifies a negative answer to the request for reconsideration of the war debts.

INAUGURATION PLANS.

President-elect Roosevelt has intimated that simplicity in the inaugural ceremonies would be to his taste, but he has no objection to the colorful program which the committee is preparing to evolve. Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson has accepted the post of chairman of the inaugural committee, having been unanimously selected by the Democratic advisory committee and having been requested by Gov. Roosevelt to serve. No better selection could have been made. Admiral Grayson's personal popularity and wide acquaintance insure the enthusiastic co-operation of District citizens, without regard to politics, in organizing a suitable inaugural celebration.

Immediate preliminary work is necessary, if participants from all parts of the country are to be assimilated in the ceremony. Many details regarding military and naval contingents, bands, political organizations, and official staffs must be worked out. Funds must be raised to defray expenses. It may be assumed that thousands of non-residents will ask for places in the procession. Additional tens of thousands will come as eyewitnesses of what will be described hereafter as a pageant signalizing a turning-point in the history of the country.

All citizens of the District of Columbia are ex officio members of a greater inaugural committee charged with responsibility for hospitable entertainment of visitors. It is with great pleasure that Washington contemplates the opportunity to organize a welcome to the President-elect in which citizens from all parts of the United States, as Washingtonians for the time being, can hail the new chief of state. Chairman Grayson can count upon the loyal support of all in the work he has undertaken.

THE NEXT SPEAKER.

The choice of a Speaker will have a far-reaching effect upon legislation in the next Congress. Leadership is of the utmost importance in a body of 435 members. In the Senate each member has an opportunity to promote legislation of his own, but about all the House can do is to accept or reject the program of its leaders. The Speakership calls for a strong and fearless executive who not only knows legislative procedure, but who is capable of commanding the support of his colleagues for the welfare of the country.

The House can live down the reputation for erratic action which it acquired at the last session if it chooses a stalwart leader and amends its rules to avoid frustration of the majority will by blocs and minority groups. Since the most urgent legislation is of a fiscal nature, and all measures of that kind originate in the House, the eyes of the Nation will be upon that body. The Democratic party will be judged two years hence largely by the performance of the House of Representatives under its control.

A large number of candidates are making a bid for the Speaker's chair. Foremost among them are Representative Rainey, of Illinois, majority leader in the House; Representative McDuffie, of Alabama, sponsor of economies which the House would not approve last spring, and Representative Byrns, of Tennessee. Representative O'Connor, of New York, is hoping that the lightning will strike in his direction, and Representative Rankin, of Mississippi, seems to think that his work in behalf of the bonus measure entitles him to consideration.

Mr. Rainey has geographical considerations and precedent on his side. Most of the committee chairmen in the House are from the South. That section maintains its Democratic representatives in Congress year after year, thus enabling them to build up seniority, and seniority means power in Congress. The President-elect is from the Northeast, the Vice President-elect from the South. If the Speakership is to be awarded to a westerner, Mr. Rainey would be the logical choice. Furthermore, it is customary to elevate the floor leader to the Speaker's chair when an opportunity is presented.

ARMY-NAVY MERGER AGAIN.

Pacifist members of the House of Representatives are preparing for another attempt to consolidate the Army and Navy. At the last session their efforts met with defeat. Even after the bill was disguised as an economy measure it commanded little support. In view of this fact sponsors of the consolidation plan have little hope of getting it through the present Congress, but they are making arrangements for an early assault as soon as the new Congress is called together. If demands for economy become acute this winter they may revive the bill at the short session.

No one has ever indicated where extensive savings could be made through consolidation of the War and Navy Departments. Each is a separate and distinct unit. They have little in common, except their duty of providing for the national defense. An attempt at consolidation would probably destroy the morale of both services and reduce their efficiency. That is the real question involved in this consolidation proposal. The economy argument is only a camouflage.

When the issue was before Congress early this year a careful study was made by officials of both departments to see what economies could be effected by the proposed merger. Out of a total expenditure of $696,000,000 it was found that $569,000,000 could not be reduced without cutting down the activities and the efficiency of both departments. This left items amounting to only $127,000,000, on which economies were considered feasible.

Further investigation showed, however, that economies could be effected within the scope of the $127,000,000 without consolidating the War and Navy Departments. Bureaus can be merged and overhead expenses cut down within each service. President Hoover's recommendations to Congress for reorganization of governmental agencies will undoubtedly call for adjustments within the Army and Navy. If Congress is willing, those economies can be put into effect at the session opening December 5. No doubt these changes will completely destroy the economy argument for a department of national defense.

Each of the two services is now in a position to obtain low prices through quantity buying. Their merger could not be expected to enhance their advantages in purchasing materials. When overlapping within the departments has been corrected and useless functions of both have been lopped off, the consolidationists will have little to offer in the way of economy, except the salary of one Cabinet member. A special effort should be made at the coming session to effect every practicable economy in each department, so that there will be no vestige of an excuse for the proposed merger when the new Congress meets.

THANKSGIVING.

It might be easier for the people of many other nations to point out the blessings for which the citizens of this country should be thankful than for Americans themselves to do it. Nature and enterprise have supplied this country with such variety and abundance that many citizens fail to appreciate the benefits they enjoy. The luxuries of other lands are every-day necessities here for most of the population. Wages and living standards lead the world, and possibly a few lean years may serve to emphasize the advantages here so freely enjoyed.

Thanksgiving this year sees many of the nation's workers unemployed. It is a lamentable situation, particularly when the abundant resources on every side cry out for active utilization. Prayers today should be offered that there may be a speedy resumption of that interchange among the people which alone can restore the prosperity and the enjoyment of comforts by all. It is not a happy commentary upon boasted modern intelligence that with bursting granaries upon the farms and factory workers out of work, both desiring more of the other's products and railroads suffering for the lack of exchange, the machinery of trade is idle.

This is a day upon which thanks can be offered for the patience and philosophy of Americans who are unemployed and, on the other hand, for the generosity of those still at work or with a reserve of worldly goods who continue to aid the less fortunate.

The hunger march at the Mayflower passed off without serious rioting.

Why don't the foreign debtors tax beer and raise money to pay their debts?

Repeal of the eighteenth amendment is an easy job compared with repeal of the war debt agreements.

THE HUNGER MARCHERS

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Nothing but misery and unsympathetic reception can await "hunger marchers" now assembling in various sections of the country for an advance on Washington. Misery and suffering can not be avoided if thousands of the luckless indigent force themselves on communities already staggering under the burden of caring for their own. The lack of sympathy will arise not out of the condition of the unfortunate, but because of their leadership.

The hunger march on Washington is being fostered by Communists in the country. The people, from the humblest citizen to the highest official, are in no mood to have a friendly feeling toward a group that can use no milder word than "demand." If the leaders of the proposed hunger march have any understanding of events of the recent past as exemplified by the bonus march, for which there was a certain amount of sympathy, then they must know that their scheme is doomed to failure.

Two things are certain. The hunger marchers will have a much more difficult time reaching Washington than did the bonus marchers, for if the Communists have learned nothing public officials of the country have learned not to assist the marchers toward Washington for the formation of a potential mob. The other certainty is that, once in Washington, the marchers will suffer to an even greater degree than did the bonus marchers. Washington has no quarters in which to house these people, and it has no funds with which to feed them.

The hunger march is ill-advised. It is doomed to a failure trailing in its wake suffering and death. The only hope for the marchers is to remain in their respective communities, where plans have been worked out for their care. However inadequate those plans may be, they at least envision a relief system superior to anything the marchers will find in Washington.

All of Washington officialdom is aware of the problems of unemployment and hunger. It is certain that Congress will make every effort to aid. It is equally certain that Congress will not be moved or intimidated by marchers under the leadership of Communistic "crack-pots."

JUST FOLKS

THANKSGIVING.

For the moment bow the head
And let a simple grace be said.
For the moment let depart
All the burdens of the heart,
All the doubt and all the fear,
All the losses of the year,
While our thanks to God we give
For His blessings while we live.

For the moment be at rest,
Let all rancor leave the breast;
Let all bitter thoughts be stilled.
Just before the plates are filled
Let us pause and thank the Lord
For the loved ones round the board;
For the days enriched by friends
And His care which never ends.

For the moment let's forget
All the disappointments met,
And remember still 'tis sweet
At the family hearth to meet;
Still 'tis good to gather round
Where the truest joys are found.
In that spirit let us say
Just a simple grace today.

If You Seize a Man's Field, Can You Make Restitution by Giving Him One-Tenth of the Crop?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

OUR Nation has a one-track mind. It sees but one side of a question at a time. And when it is persuaded to adopt a course of action, it usually goes too far and thus develops a new wrong to undo an old one.

When plans were made to care for men disabled in the great war, a too-liberal interpretation of the law opened the Treasury to thousands who had no just claim on the Nation's generosity.

When the exposure of fraud and the increased burden of taxation brought about the inevitable reaction, frightened taxpayers began to regard all organized veterans as a menace to their living.

As usual, the extremists have control. The man who would be reasonable seems an enemy to both sides. And as usual the people most concerned are in danger of being forgotten in the heat of conflict.

The first duty of the Nation is to care for the widows and orphans of those who died and the maimed and broken ones who survived.

All else is secondary and relatively unimportant.

Whether those disabled since their discharge deserve an allowance; whether the bonus should be paid now or later; whether veterans deserve more than other citizens; whether taxpayers should pay more or less—all these are lesser matters to be considered when the business of primary importance is finished.

First give just and generous recompense to those who deserve it most.

The dead can not vote. The widows and orphans have no organization. The maimed can not campaign for justice.

These have a pittance now—most of them. They are fed as beggars are. They are given the niggardly minimum commonly contributed by charity.

What do they deserve? They deserve all they lost. They deserve all that sound men have. Is it "just compensation," when you have blinded a man, to give him one-tenth of the sum earned by men who can see?

Compensation isn't a gift. It is payment. So far as money can make restitution, repay to the widows and the disabled all that they lost.

When this is finished it will be time, if there is money left, to decide who shall have it.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Division of the Plums.

Houston Post.

How generous are Southern Democrats in Congress going to be when it comes to sharing committee chairmanships with their brethren from the Northern States, who have been swept in by the Democratic tidal wave this month? The question is already one of interest in Washington.

Democratic strength in the House has been largely from the South and Southerners naturally have come to occupy the chairmanships. Members from the South in the present Congress hold the offices of chairman of the following committees: Accounts, appropriations, banking, census, civil service, expenditures in the executive departments, flood control, foreign affairs, insular affairs, interstate and foreign commerce, irrigation, judiciary, merchant marine and fisheries, military affairs, mines and mining, naval affairs, pensions, rivers and harbors, roads, rules, territories, war claims, ways and means and veterans. The North holds the chairmanships of immigration, labor, patents and post-office committees.

The election has assured Northern Democrats a majority in the next Congress, and the Northerners may be expected to call for their share of the honors. That stanch Democratic journal, the Charlotte Observer, advises that if the South wants to strengthen its hold on the country, it will develop a disposition to give the Northern members a fair shake at the plums.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

Senator Norris says he would refuse a Cabinet post if offered it. That leaves only 300 possibilities, counting all the favorite sons that have been groomed to be members of the official family of President Roosevelt.

Another Cure.

Boston Transcript.

What this country needs in addition to a National Economy League is an individual economic understanding.

Wide Open Vote Market.

Brooklyn Eagle.

Witnesses testified last Thursday before a committee of the House of Representatives that money was handed to colored voters in Philadelphia at the very modest rate of 50 cents and even 25 cents apiece. A witness from Delaware told the same committee on Saturday that payments down in that State were made at the rate of $5 to white and $2.50 to colored voters. Here appears a most puzzling discrepancy between the rates alleged to have been paid in two neighboring and both solidly Republican States.

Why should a voter in Delaware receive more than one in Philadelphia? Does a quarter look ten times as big in the Quaker City as it does a few miles away, over the State line?

Looking Forward on Beer.

Kansas City Star.

Those concerned are offered a choice of predictions as to when beer will arrive. Huey Long says it will be here by Christmas; former Gov. Smith of New York puts the date ten days earlier, or on December 15, while Mayor Cermak of Chicago believes the event will fall about the first of the year, and others make it coincident with spring. But Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, a wet, can see no beer within twelve months, and says it may be delayed two years. Repeal of the eighteenth amendment, he believes, may require five years, and it will have to carry a guarantee against return of the saloon, at that. Everything considered, it would be just as well for the brewers to await further developments before beginning to oil up their machinery.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Cheaper and Stronger Home Beer May Destroy Chance of Big Tax Income From 2.75 Beer.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is my understanding that some one has suggested a tax of 40 cents per gallon on 2¾ per cent beer. Assuming that if and when manufactured legally, 25 "fifths" bottles of beer will be sold for about $2.50, delivered, a tax of 40 cents per gallon on the 5 gallons would add $2, or a total of $4.50. And it would still be 2¾ per cent beer!

Information obtained from "home brewers" indicates that it is now possible to manufacture, in the home, 5 gallons of 5 to 6 per cent beer for approximately 75 cents, without allowing for the "overhead" cost of bottles, fuel gas and infrequent replacements of jars, bottle cappers, &c. But let us say it is possible to manufacture "home" beer at the rate of 5 gallons for a dollar. How many persons, now used to their own brew, with all the extra "kick" of 2 to 4 per cent of alcohol, are going to pay a $3.50 premium for "legal" beer of very little "kick?"

In estimating the possible budget-balancing benefits of beer, it would be well to proceed cautiously and estimate very, very conservatively.

CONSISTENT.

Lame Ducks Make Good Legislators, Because They Can Vote According to Their Convictions.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Throwing stones at the so-called "lame ducks" appears to be a popular amusement just now. The lame ducks are no less qualified to legislate for the Nation now than they were before being rejected by an unthinking constituency.

Congressmen are elected for a term of two years and, under the terms and legal provisions controlling at the time of such election, are entitled to participate in legislation for the full term of two years, and the fact that one is not reelected for another term makes no difference in his right or his ability to legislate. In fact, the failure to be reelected actually makes him better qualified for that duty than before. The fact of failure to be reelected takes out of his consideration any thought of reelection and all thought of popularity concerning any measure under consideration. It leaves the so-called lame duck actually free for the first time to vote strictly according to his judgment and his sincere belief as to the real merits of each proposal. C. P. CARPENTER.

Tuskegee Institute Invites Christmas Gifts to Needy Negro Children of the South.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Tuskegee Institute for many years past has offered itself as the medium through which interested friends might contribute such clothing, books, pictures, Christmas cards and booklets, toys, &c., as could be spared for needy Negro children in the South.

The continued stress of unemployment is constantly increasing the suffering in thousands of homes where it will not be possible to provide even the necessities, to say nothing of being able to furnish the warmth and joy that make a real yuletide season. We feel that our friends will be glad of the opportunity and real privilege that come in helping to cheer such homes with whatever gifts they feel disposed to contribute.

Some friends prefer to send money with which to purchase these gifts, and in each instance the donation is spent as directed by the donor. Packages, letters and checks may be sent to me. ROBERT R. MOTON, Tuskegee Institute, Alabama.

Washington Humane Society Appeals for Help in Protecting the Helpless.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The Washington Humane Society makes its one annual public appeal for contributions at Thanksgiving time.

The work of this organization is highly necessary and commendable. It keeps two agents in the field, ready at all times to respond to reports of mistreatment of animals or children. These agents are devoted and zealous in their duties and give a maximum of efficient service for a minimum of salary. The society is very economically administered, but even so, funds are badly needed, as it is dependent entirely upon voluntary contributions for support.

Any one who at this season may feel thankful for the affectionate, loyal companionship of a favored cat or dog or other sheltered household pet might find this opportunity appropriate to contribute to the protection of that vast army of pathetic, helpless creatures who are victims of man's neglect, stupidity or cruelty.

The address of the Washington Humane Society is 1231 New York avenue. THERESA RUSSELL.

Director Van Duzen Should Rule Off Rickety Drivers as Well as Rickety Cars.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Director of Traffic Van Duzer deserved all the praise which the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Trade bestows upon him for the regulation which requires that second-hand automobiles must be in safe-driving condition when put on sale.

But it seems to me that in this connection it would be a good idea to give the psychological test of applicants for driving licenses a tryout. The one regulation naturally suggests the other. Not only should we try to keep rickety motors off the streets, but likewise rickety motorists whose mental brakes and steering gear are out of order. F. MATHEWS.

PLAN TO GET SHOALS IS CHARGED TO FORD

John N. Connaughton Files Suit to Recover Fees He Says Due Him.

(Associated Press.)

Henry Ford was pictured in a suit filed against him in the District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday as attempting, through others, since 1930 to obtain control of the Muscle Shoals nitrate and power plants in Alabama.

The suit was brought by John N. Connaughton, of Washington, who named as codefendants with Ford, David M. Roll, of Washington, and R. Hugh Jarvis, formerly of Morgantown, W. Va., but listed in the suit papers as residing at a Washington hotel.

Connaughton contended Roll was acting as an agent for Ford in negotiations to obtain the Muscle Shoals plants for $88,000,000 and that a contract between them dated December 3, 1930, was renewed for two years in July of this year.

The petition said Roll's profits were thought to have been $2,000,000 and Connaughton asked for an accounting.

Connaughton charged that Ford, through the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, of New Jersey, sought to "cheat, wrong and defraud" him of his share of the fees, explaining that he (Connaughton) was an associate of Roll and Jarvis in the matter.

Copies of two letters purporting to be from Ford to Morrow and purported copies of contracts between Ford and Roll were presented as exhibits by Connaughton's attorney, Herbert S. Ward.

The suit charged that Ford set up in 1930 a corporation under the name of the Alabama Development Co., in which the motor magnate was represented "by certain straw men, one of whom was Defendant David M. Roll, who is now president and secretary of the said corporation."

The papers also contended that at the outset, Thomas R. Cottrell, of Birmingham, was an officer in the company, but was replaced by W. E. Carnegie, described as chief accountant in the Dearborn offices of Ford at that time.

Details of the manner in which control of the project was to be acquired were not given. At the War Department, officials said they knew nothing of plans by the manufacturer to lease or buy the project since an offer he made some years ago was rejected.

Culbertson Announces Championship Teams

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Dr. and Mrs. Monte F. Meyer, of New Orleans, won the championship for North-South pairs in the American Bridge Olympic played October 19, and the team of James Magner, jr., of Boston, and William C. Campbell, of Watertown, Mass., the championship for East-West pairs. The winners were announced today by Ely Culbertson, president of the National Bridge Association.

The contest was conducted by the National Bridge Association with approximately 20,000 bridge players throughout the North American continent playing the same hands, selected by a committee, which included Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson, Theodore A. Lightner, Oswald Jacoby, Harold S. Vanderbilt and Milton C. Work.

Wife Hears Engineer Is Missing in Canada

Minneapolis, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Mrs. W. K. Harding today said she had received a report that her husband, a mining engineer, and an airplane pilot were missing north of Winnipeg. She expressed little concern, however, saying Harding was an experienced woodsman who had spent twenty years in Canada.

Harding left Winnipeg November 16 with Ernest McFetridge, Winnipeg pilot, bound for the Gods Lake area, about 300 miles away. He planned to stake a gold claim.

Washington Resident Sues to Get Premises

Toledo, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—A suit asking possession of the premises occupied by the Port Clinton Fish Co., Port Clinton, Ohio, was filed in Federal court here today by five persons claiming to be joint owners of a legal estate.

The plaintiffs are Warland Rawlins, Mary Starr Rawlins, Anna R. King and Samuel F. Barry, all of New York City, and Harriet Louise Mosum, of Washington, D. C. They allege the fish company has no legal title to the property.

Renaldo Facing Trial For Passport Perjury

Los Angeles, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The Federal Court today decided Duncan Renaldo, motion picture actor, must go to trial on an indictment charging him with falsifying a passport application by swearing he was an American citizen.

The indictment accuses Renaldo, alleged native of Roumania, with entering the United States by deserting a ship at Baltimore and with stating he was born in New Jersey when he applied for a passport to go to Africa to make a jungle picture.

Roosevelt May Reduce Guns in Cabinet Salutes

Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, Democratic President-elect, was quoted by Gov. James Rolph of California today as favoring nineteen-gun salutes for governors and seventeen-gun salutes for presidential Cabinet members, because "governors are elected by the people."

Gov. Rolph said that during Gov. Roosevelt's campaign tour the latter thanked him for the gubernatorial seventeen-gun salute received in Sacramento.

Winnie Lightner Gets Interlocutory Decree

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Winnie Lightner, comedienne of the stage and screen, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce today from George Holtrey, broker.

Fine Threat Ends Class Cutting.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Attendance at the University of Utah was almost 100 per cent today. School officials had announced a fine for students cutting classes on the day before a holiday.

Senate Group to Resume Rent Inquiry Wednesday

Hearings on the rent situation in Washington before a Senate District subcommittee will be resumed at 10:30 o'clock next Wednesday. By that time Chairman Arthur Capper and several other members of the committee will be in the city.

Two witnesses, T. F. Schneider and Robert W. Savage, who were requested to return at the next meeting because they had not answered a questionnaire sent out by the subcommittee, have furnished the information since that time, it was said. Subpenas sent to them have been withdrawn.

Special Aid to Farmer Is Needed, Editor Says

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Special governmental powers must be invoked to preserve American agriculture "until such time as we find it possible to act as a mature, creditor Nation should," said Henry A. Wallace, Des Moines farm publications editor, in his address today.

The foreign market may be restored "in some measure by intelligent tariff action, diplomatic adjustment of foreign war debts, and temporarily renewed loaning of American money abroad," he said, but added that "rapid, decisive action on any of these three points is difficult because of the pioneer, debtor psychology of so many of our people."

Plan to Retire Denied By Chilean President

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Despite renewed rumors that Acting President Abraham Oyanedel may resign and permit President-elect Arturo Alessandri to assume power before his regular term officially begins, it was learned today that Alessandri has not yet assented to such a move.

34 Drinking Resorts Closed.

Kansas City, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Padlock and permanent injunctions against Kansas City night clubs and other establishments, raided by scores of Federal prohibition agents in September, totaled 34 when the docket was cleared of the cases today. The padlock orders numbered 25. Nine places were closed permanently.

Rockefeller Carillon To Be Dedicated Today

Chicago, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The giant Laura Spelman Rockefeller carillon, second largest in America, will be dedicated tomorrow.

The first melody played from the chapel tower of the University of Chicago will be a seventeenth century German hymn, "Now Thank We All Our God."

Mae Clarke, of Films, Has Appendix Removed

Los Angeles, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Mae Clarke, film actress, underwent an operation for appendicitis today.

Physicians reported her condition as favorable.

Georgia Jurors Seated After Less Than Hour

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Austin Leroy Brown, former attendant at the United States Veterans' Hospital, Augusta, went on trial in Federal court today charged with murdering Charles K. Dickinson, patient in his care.

Quick work was made of selecting the jury, seated in 57 minutes.

Oldest U. S. Steel Stockholder Dies.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Charles Mumford, 92, the oldest stockholder of the United States Steel Corporation and one-time lecture tour manager for Henry Ward Beecher, died today. His death followed a hip fracture he suffered in a fall on September 29.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Smiles About Victory

San Francisco, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Smiling at the news of the Democratic victory, but firmly declining to discuss either national or international politics, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the former President, arrived today from Tokyo on the liner Asama Maru.

"I never give interviews," she said graciously. "I have always felt that the wife of the former President, like the wife of the President, should not speak for publication."

HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON SOCIETY CIRCLES

Hoover Dinner at White House to Be Informa!.

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. HOOVER will spend today quietly at the White House, and this evening will have a group of friends dining with them.

The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Lindsay will have as their guests over Thanksgiving, Mr. and Mrs. Colgate Hoyt, Miss Anne Hoyt and Mrs. Sherman Hoyt, of New York, who arrived in the Capital last evening.

The Ambassador of Cuba, Senor Don Oscar B. Cintas, and Senora de Cintas, will leave Washington about the middle of December to spend the Christmas holidays in Havana.

Miss Gladys Szechenyi Presented to Society.

The Minister of Hungary and Countess Szechenyi entertained at a reception yesterday afternoon in the legation on Massachusetts avenue, where they presented their daughter, Miss Gladys Szechenyi, to Capital society.

Several hundred guests, including members of the Diplomatic Corps and members of official and resident society, were presented to Miss Szechenyi, who received with her mother. The debutante wore an afternoon gown of blue chiffon fashioned on simple lines, and Countess Szechenyi wore a gown of deep red velvet.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Ogden L. Mills, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury; Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, wife of the Secretary of the Navy; Mrs. David A. Reed, wife of Senator Reed; Mrs. Hamilton Fish, Jr., wife of Representative Fish; Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, Mrs. Orme Wilson, Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, Mrs. J. Pierrepont Moffett, Mrs. Franklin Mott Gunther and Miss Georgiana Todd.

Assisting the debutante were Miss Ruth Tuckerman, Miss Gertrude Faust, Miss Louise Tittman and Miss Susan Rogers.

The Minister of the Netherlands and Mme. Van Royen, who have been in Europe for several weeks, will sail early next month for this country.

The Minister of Ecuador and Senora de Zaldumbide entertained at luncheon yesterday at the legation in honor of the newly appointed Secretary of the United States Legation at Quito, Ecuador, Mr. Selden Chapin, and Mrs. Chapin. The other guests included Mr. George Merrell and Mr. Henry Villard, of the State Department; Mr. Charles A. Page, former third secretary of the American Legation at Quito, and Mr. Raoul Medina. Mr. and Mrs. Chapin will leave for the former's new post early in December. Mr. Chapin was formerly second secretary of the United States Embassy in Rome. Mr. Page, who was recently transferred from Quito, will leave shortly for his new post as secretary at the United States Legation in Guatemala.

Guest of Debutante

Underwood & Underwood.

MISS ELIZABETH LYSTER, who is the guest of Miss Louise Tittmann, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trowbridge Tittmann, who will be presented to society at a tea on Sunday afternoon.

The Charge d'Affaires of the Netherlands, Mr. L. J. van Hoorn, will motor to Butler, Pa., today, where he will be the guest of former Representative and Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, jr., until his marriage to Miss Katharine Phillips on Saturday. The wedding will take place at Phillips Hall, country home of the bride's parents. Because of the serious illness of Mr. Phillips' mother, the wedding will be small.

Among those from out of town who will be the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips will be Miss Olive Whitman and James Duff, of New York, and Mr. Andre Cattani, of the Egyptian Legation.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips will entertain at dinner for their daughter and Mr. Van Hoorn tomorrow evening.

The Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Ogden L. Mills left last evening for Hot Springs, Va., where they will spend the Thanksgiving week-end. Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fell, jr., son and daughter-in-law of Mrs. Mills, will go to Hot Springs from their home in New York to join them.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Alfred I. du Pont at their home near Jacksonville, Fla., will return to Washington early next week.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams will have as their guests over Thanksgiving their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Morgan, of New York, and their children, Charles, Harry, Myles Standish, and John Adams, who arrived in Washington last evening.

The Secretary of Labor and Mrs. William N. Doak have returned to their home after a short stay in Cincinnati. They have postponed their trip to Florida and will spend today at their home, having with them for the day their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lane Cricher and their little daughter, Mary.

Vandenburg Tea Dance To Introduce Daughter.

Senator and Mrs. Arthur A. Vandenburg will entertain at a tea dance on Friday afternoon, December 23, at the Carlton, where they will present their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Vandenberg, to society.

Miss Vandenburg will come to Washington on December 17, from Rockford College, at Rockford, Ill., to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents. Miss Vandenberg is well known in Washington, having spent her vacations here for the last few years. Three years ago Miss Vandenburg, who is an accomplished pianist, was the soloist at the concert of the National High School Symphony Orchestra.

Senator and Mrs. Royal S. Copeland with Supreme Court Justice Alfred Frankenthaler, of New York, and Mrs. Frankenthaler, are spending the holiday week-end at Atlantic City.

Senora de Sacasa, wife of the President-elect of Nicaragua, was the honor guest at a farewell luncheon yesterday given by the National Women's Country Club, of which she has been a member during her stay in Washington.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Arrives in San Francisco.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson arrived in San Francisco yesterday on board the Asama Maru, after spending several months in Japan. Mrs. Wilson will make only a brief stay in San Francisco before leaving for Washington.

Representative and Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, of New Jersey, have again leased the home of Mrs. Sidney A. Cloman on Kalorama road for the winter, and will come to Washington December 1. Mrs. Cloman is at present in California, but her niece, Mrs. Campbell Prichett has been occupying the house with her niece, Miss Natalie Keeney.

Representative and Mrs. Roy O. Woodruff, of Michigan, have returned to the Somerset for the winter.

Miss Barbara Morris Engaged to Thomas DeN. Flynn.

Rear Admiral Charles Morris, U. S. N., retired, and Mrs. Morris, of Brookline, Mass., have announced, from New York, the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Morris, to Thomas DeNyse Flynn, son of Lieut. Col. Thomas J. Flynn, U. S. A., and Mrs. Flynn, of New York. Miss Morris attended Gunston Hall School here. Mr. Flynn attended school in this city and is now in his final year at the United States Military Academy at West Point. The wedding will take place at West Point after Mr. Flynn's graduation in June.

The Financial Counselor of the Roumanian Legation and Mme. Boncesco will arrive in New York today aboard the Manhattan, from Europe, where they have been for several months. They will come to Washington the first of next week.

Gov. John Winant, of Concord, N. H., is at the Willard for a few days.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. George B. Pillsbury have as their guests the latter's sister, Mrs. George G. Hood, and her daughter, Miss Ellengowen Hood, of Philadelphia, who arrived in Washington Tuesday and will remain until Monday.

Miss Elizabeth Pillsbury, who is a student at Bryn Mawr, and Mr. Philip Pillsbury, who attends Princeton, came to Washington yesterday to spend the Thanksgiving holiday with their parents.

Miss Pillsbury will entertain at a small house party over the week-end for her cousin, Miss Hood, having as her guest several of her classmates. Miss Pillsbury will give a tea on Sunday in honor of Miss Hood and her guests.

BIDDING "ONE OVER ONE."

A FEW people have taken one feature—an important one, it is true—of the Approach-Forcing System of bidding and sought to make of it a golden calf before which Contract players were expected to fall down and worship. Of course, I refer to the response of one in a suit to partner's Opening bid.

In its essence, the so-called "One over One" convention has always been a part of the Approach-Forcing System of bidding. Generally speaking, the Approach principle simply means that Opening bids should be bids of one, in order that the partnership may explore the possibilities of part-score, game or Slam before it has embarked upon an impossible contract. As a matter of course, it follows that if one player opens with a bid of one in a suit and his partner responds with a bid of one in a higher ranking suit, if the Opening bid is anything more than a mere minimum, there will be a further declaration—either the Rebid of the Opening suit, the bid of notrump, the showing of another suit or support for partner's bid suit. This is sheer common sense and naturally is the foundation of any sound system of bidding.

However, the worst difficulty that some players have faced in connection with this entirely natural bid is the impression they have gained that, through the mere fact that partner responds to an Opening bid of one in a suit with a bid of one in a higher ranking suit, in some mysterious manner, sleight of hand or what not, the deuces and treys have been converted into Aces and Kings. Of course, this is absurd. In actual practice, those who use the Culbertson System consider the response of one in a higher ranking suit as a Forcing bid 99 per cent of the time. This is so, because the proportion of Opening bids made on absolute minimums is extremely small. It would be difficult for a player to deal out a hand containing a bedrock minimum bid that would not justify a further bid if partner showed signs of interest by responding with a bid of one in a higher ranking suit. By considering this bid as absolutely Forcing, the fine inferences which can be drawn from the natural use of the bid disappear. Thus, having 3½ or more honor-tricks, those who use the Approach-Forcing System will not merely bid one over partner's Opening suit bid of one, but will make a Forcing Takeout, which indicates a strong probability of game and a hand of such strength that a round of bidding can well be sacrificed in order to convey more precise inferences. On the other hand, for instance, if the Opening bid is one diamond, and the response to that bid is one heart, then the Opening bidder can draw the precise inference that the Responding Hand does not hold 3½ honor-tricks or he would make a Forcing Takeout.

The fact that such slight additional values as a five-card length in the suit or a Queen above a minimum hand justify a Rebid when partner has responded to a bid of one with a bid of one makes it unnecessary to make a Forcing Takeout on doubtful hands. Forcing bids are spectacular and interesting. They are valuable weapons when the hands are of such strength as to justify their use, but the Forcing Opening bid, the Forcing Takeout and the Forcing Rebid have all been abused by players fearful of missing game.

The proper conception of bidding is that each bid, when the partnership has opened the bidding, is a step forward. It may not be a step toward game or Slam, but each bid and each response should more clearly disclose to both players whether the goal on that particular hand should be a part-score, game or Slam. As many rounds of bidding as possible should be conserved on doubtful hands, so that when the score is marked down, it will be on the plus and not the minus side of the sheet.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ J 10 9 7 3 ♡ 10 ◇ Q J 5 2 ♣ K 4 3
♠ 5 ♡ 3 2 ◇ A 10 8 3 ♣ Q 10 9 8 6 5	N W E S	♠ A K Q 4 ♡ A Q 8 6 5 ◇ 6 4 ♣ J 7

cousin, Miss Juliet B. Kibbey, at a tea on December 17. Miss Juliet Kibbey is a student at Bryn Mawr College and will spend the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays with Miss Kibbey.

Former Ambassador Houghton To Build Home Here.

The former United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James and Mrs. Alanson B. Houghton, who are now making their home at 1785 Massachusetts avenue, are planning to build a new home at 3001 Massachusetts avenue, which will be started the end of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Sherwood Jenison, of New York City, announce the marriage of the latter's daughter, Miss Constance Madolin Bumford, to Mr. Ross Antony White, of New York, formerly of Washington. The ceremony took place yesterday morning in New York City.

Mr. White is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. White, of Washington.

Mrs. Eickelberg, wife of Lieut. Comdr. E. W. Eickelberg, U. S. C. G. S., was hostess at a luncheon yesterday at the Carlton. The company numbered twelve.

Miss Elizabeth Atkinson Burke, debutante daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Woolfolk Burke, and Miss Gertrude Faust, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Faust, will go to Richmond tomorrow to attend a dinner in honor of Miss Burke given by Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Carter. The dinner will precede a small dance at which Mrs. Thomas Pinckney Bryan will be a hostess.

Miss Burke and Miss Faust will remain in Richmond over the week-end, and the former will be guest of honor at a luncheon Saturday given by Mrs. Walter A. Williams, jr.

Mrs. John E. Fowler chaperoned Miss Dorothy Gould Fowler, Miss Fenella Castanedo and Miss Edith Bull to the Thanksgiving hop at Annapolis last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Magee, of New York City, are at the Carlton over the Thanksgiving holidays, accompanied by their little daughter.

Mrs. Hanson E. Ely, jr., Entertains at Luncheon.

Mrs. Hanson E. Ely, jr., entertained at luncheon yesterday in honor of her sister-in-law, Miss Madge Ely, debutante daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Hanson E. Ely. The other guests were Miss Janet Patterson, Miss Helen Manley, Miss Jean Kingman, Miss Frances Simonds, Miss Betty Ainsworth Burke, Miss Elizabeth Burke, Miss Sidney Beall, Miss Marian Shouse, Miss Elizabeth Walker, Miss Ethel Mae Taylor, Miss Louise Tittman, Miss Gertrude Faust, Miss Ruth Tuckerman, Miss Anne Daingerfield, Miss Catherine Du Bois, Miss Julia Matheson, Miss Mal Sykes, Miss Margaret McKinley, Miss Kathleen Talley, Miss Susan Le Roy Rogers and Miss Teresa Saul. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Hanson E. Ely, mother of the guest of honor; Mrs. Charles Howze, Mrs. Frederick W. Connolly, Mrs. David St. Pierre Gaillard and Mrs. Edward K. Morris.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Seligman will have as their guests over the Thanksgiving week-end the former's mother, Mrs. I. N. Seligman, of New York. Their son, Mr. Joseph Seligman, jr., has arrived in Washington from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to be with his parents over the week-end.

Mrs. Mable Walker Willebrandt was among those who entertained informally at luncheon yesterday at the Carlton.

The Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Ferry Heath, entertained at dinner last evening at the Alibi Club in honor of the Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Roy D. Chapin.

Mr. and Mrs. Percival S. Ridsdale and their daughter, Miss Patricia Ridsdale, will spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ridsdale at Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Russell Bennett will introduce her daughter, Miss Florence Harris, to Washington society at a tea at her home, 2340 Massachusetts avenue, on Sunday, December 11. Miss Harris is also the daughter of Rear Admiral Frederic R. Harris.

Mrs. Herrick Entertains For Miss Laura Field.

Mrs. Samuel T. Herrick entertained at the dinner dance at the Shoreham last evening in honor of Miss Laura Katherine Field, debutante daughter of Mrs. James Gaven Field, who was introduced to society yesterday afternoon at her home on Cathedral avenue. Her guests were Miss Anne Daingerfield, Miss Catherine DuBois, Miss Cora Anne Gault, Miss Helen Manley, Miss Julia Matheson, Miss Sallie Pearson, Miss Marion Shouse, Miss Mal Sykes, Miss Louise Tittman, Miss Elizabeth Walker, Miss Frances Simonds, Miss Priscilla Watson, Mr. Ross Barrett, Mr. Marshall Beverley, Lieut. Stewart Blue, U. S. N.; Mr. William Cheatham, Mr. Frank Cook, Mr. Julian Dickerson, Mr. Marshall Dickerson, Mr. Oliver Gasch, Mr. Charles Goetz, Mr. Joseph Greenwood, Mr. Philip Herrick, Mr. Walter McBroom, Mr. Heibert Sabin, Mr. DeButts Saunders, Lieut. Sidney Wooten, U. S. A.

Mrs. James Gaven Field entertained at a tea yesterday afternoon from 4:30 to 7 o'clock at her home on Cathedral avenue to present her daughter, Miss Laura Katherine Field. Mrs. Field wore a gown of hyacinth blue hammered satin, and the debutante wore a frock of emerald green velvet made on simple lines with a three-cornered high-necked cape.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Carroll Stores Alden, of Annapolis, Md.; Mrs. Henry T. Wright, of Hampden Roads, Va.; Mrs. Lucille Carey Lowrey, of Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. Charles E. Riggs, Mrs. Charles P. Kindleberger, Mrs. Samuel Herrick, Mrs. Orin G. Murfin, Mrs. Daniel C. Roper, Mrs. Morris Sheppard, Mrs. John Downes, Mrs. William F. Pearson, Mrs. Gilham Morrow, Mrs. Alan McCracken, Mrs. George Frible, Mrs. John Greenslade, Mrs. Lutz Wahl and Mrs. Victor Deyber and Mrs. Richard White Miller, formerly Miss Elizabeth Kennedy. With the debutante were Miss Priscilla Watson, Miss Elizabeth Walker, Miss Frances Simonds, Miss Adele Jahncke, Miss Sarah Pearson, Miss Virginia Deyber, Miss Julia Matheson, Miss Anne Daingerfield, Miss Fanella Castnedo, Miss Dorothy Gould Fowler and Miss Kathleen Talley, of Dallas, Tex.

Miss Mary Lee Bell Makes Bow Today.

Mr. and Mrs. George Tillman Bell will introduce their daughter, Miss Mary Lee Bell, to Washington society at a tea dance at their home in Massachusetts Park this afternoon. Receiving with Mrs. Bell will be Mrs. Harold A. Brooks, Mrs. Wilson Compton, Mrs. Rudolf Harrell, Mrs. L. H. Hedricks, Mrs. F. Dickinson Letts, Mrs. Karl Loos, Mrs. Eliot Loveth, Mrs. J. Craig Peacock and Mrs. Thomas Wadden. The debutantes assisting Miss Bell will be Miss Edith Bull, Miss Frances Brooks, Miss Virginia Hall, Miss Susan Rogers, Miss Ethel Mae Taylor, Miss Helen Tewksbury and Miss Jane Tewksbury. Mrs. Bell will wear a gown of black velvet and the debutante will be in pale blue crepe and will carry pink roses. The tea table will be decorated with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, which color scheme will be carried out in the decorations throughout the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Kronman announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Blanche Kronman, to Mr. Abraham Alloy.

Among those who attended the opening of the Silver Slipper Club last evening were the First Secretary of the Cuban Embassy and Senora de Guell, the Secretary of the Roumanian Legation and Mme. Popovici, Brig. Gen. William E. Horton, Mrs. Alice Nibley Smoot, Miss Elena Calderon, Commander Lynn Woodruff, U. S. N; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Singer, Mr. Daniel Walters and Col. and Mrs. Randolph Coyle, U. S. M. C.

Miss McAfee Married To Ernest Seering.

The marriage of Miss Bertha E. McAfee to Mr. Ernest Seering took place at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo officiating. The bride, formerly of Canada, is the daughter of Mrs. Isabella McAfee, of Bailey, Ontario, Canada. She is executive secretatry of the Graduate Nurses Association and secretary of the Nurses Examination Board of the District of Columbia. The arrangements of the wedding were informal, with only relatives and close friends attending. A wedding breakfast for the family followed at the Shoreham.

The bride wore a gown of black chiffon velvet brocaded in silver, a hat to match, and her flowers were gardenias. Miss Ida McAfee, of Binghamton, N. Y., attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing a gown of brown chiffon velvet, with accessories to match and a bouquet of tea roses. Mr. Charles Balsam was best man. After a wedding trip to Florida Mr. Seering and his wife will be at home at Clifton Terrace.

Mrs. E. L. Coolidge, of Boston, Mass., is at the Willard for a brief visit.

Mrs. W. L. Hardy, Mrs. Ella Scott and Miss Mildred Lieper will be the hostesses tomorrow evening at East Washington Community Center, when the Troupers present the first program of plays for the present season, followed by a community dance.

The Count and Countess Louis de Danne, of Paris, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle Visscher Allan, in their home in Georgetown, have gone to Palm Beach, where they will be the guests of Countess de Danne's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bryant, for ten days. They will return to Washington for a few days before sailing on the Paris, December 9.

Prominent among the events of Thanksgiving week in the Capital City will be the autumn recital by the Ljsa Gardiner dance group Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Central High School Auditorium, under the auspices of the Central Community Center.

Mrs. J. Russell Lowe will give a reception tomorrow evening in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Tucker Humphries, who are leaving for St. Louis. The reception is to be held at the Iron Gate, 1734 N street, at 9 o'clock. All members of Toc-H, L. T. L., and the Episcopal Young Peoples Fellowships are cordially invited.

The Beken Institute of Dance and Music, 2040 S street, announces that the program by the staff and pupils will be given tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the studio.

This will be the third of a series of programs to be given the last Friday of each month.

Debut Today

MISS MARY LEE BELL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Bell, 2718 Thirty-second street, who makes her debut into Washington society this afternoon at a tea dance and reception.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

HERE'S the very first protest on the series of hints for the home-builder. Mrs. Jamieson (for publication) writes:

"Dear Miss Pierce: I've read every word of your lessons to homebuilders and we certainly have a friend in you. I've often felt that we poor folks just aren't in the beauty race any more. No one seems to think of us. There's just one thing; why haven't you said anything about cooking as an enemy of the complexion? It's just that. That high, high, fiery color that comes from hanging over a stove cooking and baking for three kiddies and a husband. You feel hot and exhausted. You look worse. What are we going to do about that?"

* * * *

Mrs. Jamieson just beat me to it, for I intended writing on the very subject. It is a little difficult to do one's own cooking and still keep one's complexion, but it can be done. First, I would suggest that just before starting, you give yourself a short treatment. It will take only a few minutes. Cleanse the skin thoroughly. Then apply a very light film of cream, the not too greasy kind. Put it over face and neck and around eyes. This will keep the skin soft and smooth and protect it from any detrimental effect of cook-burn or stove-burn or whatever you choose to call it. You know there are sunburn, windburn, the irritation that comes from huddling too close to open fire or radiator in the winter or standing over an active stove. You can actually turn a disadvantage into an advantage. The heat of the stove will open the pores, the cream do a better job of softening the skin and restoring the lost natural oil, and there you are. Your dinner done, simply remove any remaining cream. Then pat gently with a pad of cotton that has been wrung out of clear cold water, passed over a bit of ice and moistened with skin tonic. If you can lie down for 10 minutes and apply two such pads over your eyes, you'll feel fresh as a daisy. After the tonic treat (and it is just that) apply a little rouge and smooth powder over face and neck generously, a little lip paste and you'll look just as lovely as Mrs. Millionaire who has never had the thrill of cooking her own dinner and having it come out just right!

I have a very complete bulletin which gives every step in the home facial, massage movements "and everything"—all for a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

What Today Means to You

"SAGITTARIUS."

IF November 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:30 a. m. to 7:45 a. m., from 10:40 a. m. to 12 noon and from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m. The danger periods are from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m. and again from 7:15 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

Business activities will be sluggish on November 24, it would appear from influences operative on this date. Greater activity will be apparent in the late afternoon. On the other hand, social activities of all kinds will hit a high note of exuberance and such functions planned for this date or gotten up on the spur of the moment would seem bound to be most successful.

Born on this November 24 the child will have a variable disposition. It will be quick to anger and slow to get over its anger; at times it will be sulky. It will be extremely joyous one moment, only to burst into tears the next, for no apparent reason at all. These displays of disposition should be early outgrown, and by the time the child has reached maturity it should be very even tempered.

Born on November 24, you are most probably a person who was born to live in the great outdoors. You enjoy hunting and fishing, and beyond doubt you are known among your friends as one who is tremendously fond of animals. A career as a rancher or farmer would suit you perfectly and would enable you to satisfy your craving for a life in the country. You enjoy all physical activity, such as hiking, swimming, &c., and if you follow any one sport you excel in it.

If November 24 is your birthday you are probably an idealist, but with sufficient of the practical within you to enable you to "keep down to earth." You are in no sense of the word a plodder at your work, but you do "dig into" it at the beginning and work terribly hard for a time till you get things running smoothly. From then on you are able to keep things going by relying on your keen intuition and on your ability to see much further ahead into the picture than the average person about you.

The women born on this date are very natural and normal beings. They are inclined to have extremely sensitive natures and yet in their words and actions they show that they do not remember that other people may be the same. This seeming lack of tact and brusqueness loses many friends.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

HOT BLOUSES!

Yes, that's what they are called in French—even though I might admit that it doesn't mean quite the same thing, literally.

The sweater blouse that is a sweater but is a blouse, is what I mean. You know—and how new they are, and how charming! Once we had blouses and sweaters—now we have something made of wool, lacy and light weight, but warm and practical, which we call the "sweater blouse." Or "blouses chaudes" as the French say!

One of the particular features of the new sweater blouses, or woollen blouses, is that they tuck into the skirt—something that a well brought up sweater never could do! Some of them indeed are only the upper part of a two-piece jersey or wool lace suit, because they have a matching skirt—yet one wears them separately with any kind of a skirt they wish, too—the same blouse, I mean.

And how tricky they re as to sleeve treatment! Scarcely an afternoon sleeve in its most novel form but can be reproduced in a woollen blouse, often the suppleness of the blouse material obviously enhancing the charm of the sleeve. And then what about the woollen blouses that are designed to be worn with separate fur pieces—lined in the same material that makes the blouse? Isn't that a love!

Hot blouses are well worth considering, my deah—for ever and ever so many occasions.

Don't you worry a bit about that short evening jacket of yours! As far as the style is concerned, while it is true that the long evening coat is more formal and more elegant—the short evening jacket that she can hug around her tummie is so flattering and youthful—that as many of them are being worn and sold—for the winter as ever! Personally, I like them, too . . . and wear a lot of them!

* * * *

Some delightful and truly original Christmas cards! We tell you how to make them in this week's leaflet—because we are making our own and in experimenting with them found that we had really discovered something. Several different kinds do we tell you how to make, each quite, quite elegant and "spensive" looking, but not acting—as it were. Just send your stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet and find out all about them. Incidentally, if you don't want to make these yourself, you can easily take the ideas to any stationer's and have the cards made for you. The ideas themselves are most original, and I know you will love 'em!

* * * *

Don't wear too many colors in your outfit! I just looked out my window and saw a lovely lady wearing too many colors—and despite the fact that every single thing she wore was chic and elegant and obviously expensive—as well as individually becoming, the whole effect was spoiled because there was too much of it as it were.

Au revoir!

Fifth Avenue Fashions

Here's a sportsy model in a gay woolen in brown overplaided in yellow.

The big boy tie is yellow rough crepe silk. If you like, the collar can be made of white starched pique, so modish this season.

Plain wine-red wool crepe is another nice scheme with the collar of self-fabric or of white pique.

The skirt is given ample fullness through inverted plaits at either side of the front.

Style No. 3138 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16 years.

Size 12 requires 3¼ yards 35-inch with 1¼ yards 4½-inch ribbon. Price of pattern 15 cents.

Our fall and winter fashion magazine contains the most attractive selection of new patterns for women and children; also embroidery, patchwork quilts and a three-lesson beauty course. Price 10 cents a copy. Address Fashion Department, The Washington Post, Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street, New York City.

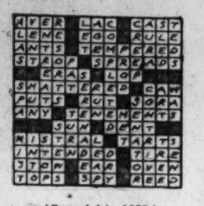
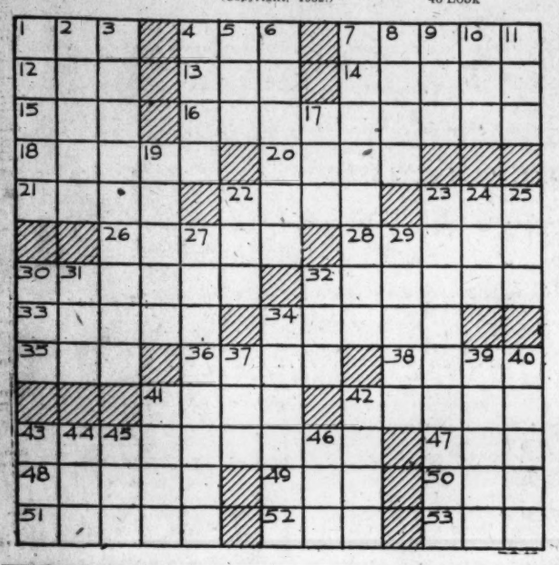
YESTERDAY'S ANSWER.



(Copyright, 1932.)



Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE usual Thursday routine on the air will be varied today for special Thanksgiving Day programs. Outstanding among these is the return to the air of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Leo Delibes' opera, "Lakme," will inaugurate the second broadcast season of this famous organization when the second act is carried over WRC at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon.

Lily Pons, celebrated French coloratura soprano, and Giovanni Martinelli, tenor, will be starred. The famous Bell Song, which Mme. Pons will sing during the portion of the opera to be broadcast, is the aria she selected for her Metropolitan audition.

"Lakme," which tells of the love of the daughter of a Hindu priest for a young British soldier, was revived last year, after fifteen years' absence from the Metropolitan repertory, especially for Mme. Pons' talents. The cast also will include Gladys Swarthout, contralto; Leon Rothier and Paolo Ananian, bassos; George Cehanovsky, barytone; Aida Doninelli, Philine Falso and Minnie Egener, sopranos; Giordano Paltriniere, Marek Windheim and Angelo Bada, tenors. The orchestra will be conducted by Louis Hasselmans.

STATION WJSV and the WJZ-WBAL network will carry a description of the Brown-Colgate clash at 11 o'clock this morning and the Penn-Cornell game at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Station WRC will not broadcast a game today. The Metropolitan Opera broadcast conflicts with the afternoon game, and K. H. Berkeley, manager of the station, decided to continue with the regular Thursday features in view of the fact that WJSV will broadcast the Brown-Colgate game and WRC had no second choice. Thus station rivalry is forgotten in an effort to serve the listening public.

Mr. Berkeley has tried all season to arrange WRC's football schedule so that listeners would have a choice. The result has been that WRC and WJSV have not duplicated a football match all fall. The fact that both WEAF and WJZ broadcast football games each Saturday afternoon during the fall has made this variety possible.

The Missouri-Nebraska game will be heard over the WEAF network at 4:30 o'clock.

WOL will carry an account of the George Washington-Oklahoma conflict at 2:15 o'clock.

THE Thanksgiving Day Morning Prayer and Service will be broadcast over WMAL at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The Right Rev. James E. Freeman will deliver the sermon. The Cathedral Choir will be heard in a specially prepared Thanksgiving program.

Queena Mario, Metropolitan opera soprano; Sylvia Field and Raymond Hackett will be featured guests with Rudy Vallee (WRC, 8 o'clock tonight). Miss Field and Hackett will enact a scene from Maxwell Anderson's "Saturday's Children."

Katharine Hepburn and Joel McCrea will be heard from the California film capital at 12:30 a. m. over WRC. They will be hosts at a Thanksgiving party, at which Rochelle Hudson, singer, and Boris Karloff, actor, will be featured.

Andy Sannella, steel guitar virtuoso, is trying a new instrument that produces unusual harplike effects. When the musician plucks a string the tone is picked up by a tiny microphone inside the sounding board. Somewhere along the way, the harsh features of the steel guitar are lost and refined, the mellow tones remaining.

THE story of Thanksgiving from 1620, when the Mayflower sailed from Plymouth, England, to 1864, when President Lincoln proclaimed the first official Thanksgiving Day, will be told in song during the broadcast at 6:30 p. m. over the WJZ network.

The same network will carry the story of an old-fashioned Thanksgiving Day in Death Valley at 9 p. m.

Paul Whiteman will direct his orchestra in a special Thanksgiving Day tea concert (WRC, 4:15 p. m.).

Learn the latest news by tuning in on the Postilion at 10 p. m., over WMAL.

A studio audience of approximately 200 will join with the Hall Johnson singers in singing the doxology, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow" as a feature of the special Thanksgiving program of music, comedy and song, to be heard tonight (WRC, 9 p. m.), when Capt. Henry's Show Boat docks at Rosedale, Miss. Charles Winninger, in the character of Capt. Henry, will deliver a Thanksgiving address.

MARGUERITE CROMWELL, soprano, has chosen "'Twas Only a Summer Night's Dream," "Auf Wiedersehen" and "Moon" for her program at 6:30 o'clock tonight. Rudy Schramm will direct the orchestra in "As You Desire Me" and "Here Lies Love."

Don Redman, who wrote the numbers "How'm I Doin'?" and "I Heard," popularized by the Mills brothers, has two new ones which the quartet will offer shortly. They are "How Can I Hi-de-hi?" and "There Ain't No Such Word."

BOB STONE, of the N. B. C. production department, was setting up his equipment in Studio "L" for his broadcast. He needed help and telephoned for a porter.

"Just take a hop up here, will you?" Stone asked.

Quitting Women at 113 Fatal.

Oakland, Calif., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The second hundred years seemed the hardest to Pedro y Cassa. At the age of 113 he announced he was through with women. At 115 he contracted pneumonia and died here today. Records showed he was a native of Peru and had married his first wife there, his second in Hawaii.

Woman Wooed 19 Years Sues.

Chicago, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Every year for nineteen years Albert E. Felton proposed marriage to Miss Pearl Norris, she charged and then married another woman. She gave her age as 53 and asked for $50,000 in a breach-of-promise suit filed yesterday.

Kiwanians Get Replica Of Old Ironsides Flag

A replica of the American flag flown from the masthead of the U. S. S. Constitution in the victory over his majesty's ship, Guerriere, August 19, 1812, was presented to the Washington Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting yesterday by Commander Louis J. Gulliver, of the Constitution—Old Ironsides.

The messages of presentation and acknowledgment from Edwin F. Hill, president of the club, were sent by first-class seaman, wigwagging flags from either end of the Raleigh Hotel dining room. The flag contains fifteen stars and fifteen stripes. Dewey Zirkin, president-elect of the club, urged participation in the Walter Johnson testimonial dinner at the Shoreham, December 12.

ALEXANDRIA CLERICS JOIN IN RITES TODAY

D. A. R. Chapter to Present Motion Picture Tomorrow and Saturday.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 833.

In Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, conforming with the request of the Bicentennial Commission, a special Thanksgiving service has been arranged by the rector, the Rev. Dr. William Jackson Morton. Other ministers and churches participating are: The Rev. Percy Foster Hall, St. Paul's Episcopal; the Rev. Ernest W. Aaron, Methodist Episcopal Church South; the Rev. Norris A. Lineweaver, Trinity Methodist Church, and the Rev. C. Morgan Compher, Methodist Protestant.

The Right Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, Bishop of Virginia, will preach the sermon, and all Masonic and other fraternal organizations have been invited to attend. Bishop Tucker is the grandson of John Augustine Washington, the last private owner of Mount Vernon.

In Grace Episcopal Church, the Rev. H. W. Van Couenhoven, rector, a special Thanksgiving service will be held at 7:45 a. m.

A Thanksgiving service will also be held in Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Braddock, the Rev. George Vest, pastor.

A special mass of thanksgiving will be held in St. Mary's Catholic Church at 9 a. m. The proclamation will on October 3, 1789, by George Washington for a day of thanksgiving will be read.

Union services will also be held in the Second Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. William B. McIlwaine, pastor, participated in by the Rev. Pierce S. Ellis, First Baptist Church, and the Rev. Ryland T. Dodge, Baptist Temple.

The Kate Waller Barrett Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, of Alexandria, will sponsor a motion picture exhibit tomorrow and Saturday, both at 3:30 and 8 p. m., in the Virginia Public Service auditorium, Prince and Washington streets, Alexandria, the proceeds to be divided between the restoration funds of Gadsby's Tavern, Alexandria, and Kenmore, Fredericksburg. Mrs. Reba Barrett Smith, the regent of the chapter, is chairman of the committee in charge.

The picture will be "George Washington, His Life and Time," and is a Bicentennial offering, taken altogether in Virginia, many of the scenes at Kenmore and a number at Goshen Pass. The main characters are portrayed by motion picture actors, but the remainder by Virginians, in many places the natives filling in. The picture has never been shown in this section before, except in Fredericksburg.

Miss Jennie B. Fritz, formerly of Stonehurst, Pa., and Mr. Walter C. Benedict, of Brookline, Pa., were married yesterday at 7:30 p. m., in Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, Alexandria, the Rev. Dr. William Jackson Morton, rector of the church, performing the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Charles W. Cathcart, and her niece, Mrs. Gordon Brown, and the bridegroom had as his best man Charles W. Cathcart.

Irvin Diener was elected president of the Alexandria Kiwanis Club yesterday, succeeding D. C. Book. Other officers chosen are Thomas M. Jones, first vice president; J. William May, second vice president; Everett Hallmuth, secretary.

Directors are W. Harmon Reed, Elliott F. Hoffman, Thomas Chauncey, Edward S. Leadbeater, Charles E. Dare, Forest Pattison and Roger C. Sullivan.

The Rev. Ernest W. Aaron, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon meeting yesterday.

Father and son night will be observed tomorrow night at 8 o'clock by Potomac Lodge, No. 38, Odd Fellows. Four hundred members and their sons are expected to attend.

Grocery Bill Ends Solvency of Friars

Hyman Bushel Appointed Received for Famed New York Club.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—A butter and egg bill led today to the appointment of a receivership for the Friars, famous theatrical club, which has numbered among its members virtually all the outstanding theater men of the last quarter century.

George Ehlenberger & Co., declaring it had been unable to collect a bill of $1,130 for butter, eggs and cheese, said the Friars were "wholly insolvent" and asked for a receivership.

Supreme Court Justice Joseph M. Callahan, granting their petition, directed Hyman Bushel, a former magistrate, to take charge of the club's property. His bond as receiver was fixed at $25,000.

can be no marked failure with such leaders as these."

"You have done a wonderful job," said Mr. Graham, "and I am proud of your accomplishments. No matter what the final figures reveal, I consider this campaign a huge success."

Among the final gifts presented to the gathering as a "touch of human interest," was a donation from Winfree Lee, a Boy Scout attached to Troop 13. He sent $5, saved, he said, from small change received for odd jobs done each Saturday and after school hours.

Elwood Street, director of the Chest, praised members of his staff and pointed to their year-around activities, which prepares for the annual solicitation campaign.

Results from the various units were reported as follows:

Special Gifts Unit, $731,617.89; Metropolitan Unit, $211,723.72; Group Solicitation Unit, $297,272.53; Governmental Unit, $487,605.06; School Unit, $15,479.29.

Speakers who lauded the organization workers and praised the outcome of the campaign included Commissioner Luther Reichelderfer, Bishop James E. Freeman and other prominent civic and business leaders.

Strickland Gilligan, nationally known humorist, supported by a large group of local talent, presented a program of entertainment during the final reports.

The invocation was pronounced by Dr. W. L. Darby and the benediction by the Rev. Frederick W. Perkins.

POST AGAIN SPONSORS DOLL AND TOY FUND FOR NEEDY

and power. But the greatest asset the city—or any other city—has is to be found in its children, the boys and girls of today, who are to be the citizens of tomorrow.

These little ones, and unfortunately there are thousands of them, whose parents can not provide the wherewithal for their Merry Christmas, must find the Yuletide joy somehow. It is unthinkable that in this day and generation a single child should face the bleakness, the disillusionment of an empty stocking on Christmas morning.

Yet this situation can and will arise unless it is squarely faced.

The charitable groups have been taxed to the utmost this fall for the mere necessities to furnish to the needy. They can not spare funds to buy toys for their wards.

Christmas toys, in a year of depression, are luxuries in families where the pay of the wage-earner has been cut to the point where only the most vital requirements, such as food, shelter and medical care can be met and they are simply impossibilities unless outside aid is given in homes where the grim ghosts of unemployment and want stalk day and night like spirits of evil.

Despite all these reasons, little children have a right to toys and Christmas joys.

Kind men and women—and happy, fortunate children of Washington—let's see that they are happy, too, these needy children of ours.

The Washington Post opens the 1932 Post Toy and Doll Fund with a gift of $25. Every penny given to the fund will go directly to the buying of toys for needy children. The fund will be distributed through the Council of Social Agencies, who will divide it on a pro rata basis among the welfare agencies of the city so that they may purchase the toys for the children under their care who would otherwise be without a Merry Christmas. These relief and welfare agencies are in touch with the families that need such Christmas assistance and they also insure that there is no duplication of effort.

Last year, through The Post Toy Fund, hundreds of dollars and thousands of toys were collected and distributed through these agencies. This year the fund wants to do even better.

Miss Geraldine Frost, librarian of The Washington Post, has agreed to be Santa Claus Lady again this year. Indeed, The Post Toy and Doll Fund could not operate without her faithful devotion to its interests, her smiling joy over every gift and the big library of The Washington Post is filled with the spirit of Christmas from the time The Post Toy Fund drive begins until it is over.

If you want to find the Spirit of Christmas, come down to The Post library, see the Santa Claus Lady, leave your gift, and you will go away with a glow at your heart which will make a Merry Christmas for you as well as for some little child.

Give in your own name, in memory of some dear one who will not be with you this Christmas, or anonymously, just as you please. Be your gift large or small, be sure to tuck your good wishes for some child with it. For truly, "the gift without the giver is bare," and The Washington Post wants The Post Toy Fund to represent the love of the people of our city for needy little children.

Address all contributions to "The Post Toy and Doll Fund, The Washington Post." Each and every contribution will be acknowledged in the columns of The Post, in a list printed from day to day. Send as little or as much as you can. Nickels, dimes, quarters, half-dollars and dollars roll into hundreds of dollars and every penny will help The Washington Post give Santa Claus the aid he requested in his SOS radiogram last night.

Send in your gift today as thanksgiving for all the mercies given to you, your home, your family, your own happy children. Then you will enjoy the day's feast all the more.

All together now for a Merry Christmas for every Washington child.

Let's go!

Peaceful Holiday In Prince Georges

Hyattsville Firemen Stage Annual Drill With New Equipment.

Prince Georges County this morning prepared to celebrate Thanksgiving Day quietly in its own home. All county offices, of course, were closed, and police court, scheduled for Capitol Heights, was postponed. A number of the churches were planning to hold special services.

The only public celebration of the season occurred last night when the Hyattsville Volunteer Fire Department held its annual drill at the Olive Street School. For the first time the department's new light and salvage truck was in service. The drill included the descent of firemen down a 30-foot rope, exhibitions of the hook-and-ladder truck at work and use of the 21,000-candlepower lights on the new salvage truck.

A crowd of several hundred persons watched the drill, many of them unaware that it was not a real fire, as the firemen had gone out after the blowing of the siren. Firemen from other companies throughout the county were present and commented favorably on the appearance and work of the Hyattsville company. Citizens in the crowd also were impressed with the showing made by their local units, judging from comments.

Trio in Bonus Riots, Put on Probation

Enter Pleas of Guilty to Indictment for Part in Disorders.

Three men, indicted for their part in the bonus riots last July, yesterday appeared before Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue in District Supreme Court and entered pleas of guilty. All were placed on probation.

Bernard McCoy, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon upon Policeman James E. Scott, was given a suspended sentence of a year and a day; John O. Olson, who entered a plea of guilty to simple assault, got six months' probation, and Broadus Faulkner, who allegedly struck Policeman John H. Winters with a brick, was given a six months' suspended sentence.

For the Government, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover appeared, and Col. James S. Easby-Smith represented the three accused.

Delay of His Execution Granted to Harvard Man

Mexico City, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The execution of Miguel Ahumada, scion of an aristocratic family, found guilty of killing his sweetheart, Tonya Castillas, has been delayed by the appeal division of the supreme court.

Ahumada was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy, Harvard University, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His father formerly was Governor of Chihuahua and Jalisco. The girl was found stabbed to death in Ahumada's home in October, 1929.

ARLINGTON EXPECTS TO BALLOT ON BONDS

Opportunity to Pass on Sewerage Issue May Come in Spring.

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 569. Clarendon, Va.

Arlington County voters will probably be given an opportunity to vote on a sewerage bond issue next spring, it was indicated at a directors' board meeting of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce last night by Charles W. Smith, chairman, committee on sanitation, who said this information is available after many conferences with county officials.

In connection with its study of a sewerage system the board voted to send two Arlington County Master Plumbers Association members to Newark, N. J., December 5 for inspection of a model system.

Unanimous indorsement was given recommendations of County Manager Roy S. Braden for reduction in the county's water rate. The board adopted a resolution praising him upon the complete report recently published.

Upon recommendation of President Louis C. Carl, the board voted to reduce the membership fee from $20 to $12 a year. This can become effective after 30 days.

Speaking at the second get-together luncheon of the Arlington County Kiwanis Club yesterday at Windsor Arms, Glebe road, E. J. Murphy, past president, Washington Board of Trade, stressed the need of closer cooperation between District of Columbia officials and those of Arlington County. Arlington County's location gives it opportunity to develop into one of the most progressive counties of the State, he said.

He declared it is through such meetings that closer relationship is developed.

The guests included Dr. Luther B. Reichelderfer and Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, District Commissioners; Capt. Howard F. Clark, Assistant Engineer Commissioner; Commonwealth Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas, Sheriff Howard B. Fields, County Treasurer Charles T. Jesse, County Clerk John A. Petty and County Manager Roy S. Braden.

The Arlington County school board, at the courthouse last night, adopted the American Automobile Association plan for a boys' patrol, sponsored by the Arlington County Monarch Club, with these reservations:

First—That members of the patrol shall not act as traffic officers.

Second—That they shall confine their activities when on duty to school grounds and sidewalks fronting school building.

Third—That such patrol shall not be installed at any county school fronting on a public highway unless there be a traffic officer on duty.

Schools in the county will remain closed today and tomorrow, reopening on Monday morning.

County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp and S. P. Vanderslice, Washington-Lee High School principal, left yesterday for Richmond to attend the State Education Association annual meeting.

Economic Reciprocity Is Favored by Herriot

Paris, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Analyzing the budgetary and economic difficulties of France, Premier Edouard Herriot expressed himself today in favor of a policy of reciprocity in the country's international economic relations.

"We buy in disorder from countries which do not buy from us," the premier told a delegation from the French Economic Confederation. "This disorder ought to cease. I want to substitute for it an economic policy of reciprocity."

RELIEF UNIT FORMED IN PRINCE GEORGES

County-Wide Organization Hopes to Coordinate Welfare Work.

A county-wide organization to coordinate unemployment relief and welfare work in Prince Georges County was set up last night when representatives of numerous local relief bodies met in Hyattsville to form the county welfare association.

William A. Duvall, former county commissioner, was selected as chairman of the new body, with Earl S. Bellman, instructor in sociology at the University of Maryland, as temporary secretary and technical adviser. Dr. C. P. Close, head of the county Red Cross, was chosen temporary treasurer.

The new organization will be governed by a board of directors, composed of persons selected by the County Community Council, and of one director from each local organization joining the county-wide group. This board of directors will be only temporary and must draw up a constitution in May, 1933.

The Welfare Association has seven purposes. They are (1) to coordinate unemployment and relief activities; (2) to estimate the needs and resources of the county, and make plans to meet the needs; (3) to assure that relief will be available in all sections of the county, even where there are no local organizations; (4) to suggest more effective ways of relief; (5) to sponsor unemployment bureaus and work relief projects; (6) to set up a county-wide relief index to prevent persons getting relief from more than one organization; (7) to keep case records and set up a system of bookkeeping.

Local organizations which join the county group are required only to pay a $2 fee and to render relief only after some investigation. The county group has no intention of either administering local funds or exercising any control over local relief, it was said last night.

American Is Heir To British Fortune

Californian One of 5 Who Are Mentioned for Estate of $40,000,000.

Winnipeg, Manitoba, Nov. 23 (A.P.). Tom Lawrence, of Sausalito, Calif, is listed as one of five heirs who may receive more than $8,000,000 in settlement of the estate of the defunct Earldom of Oxford and Mortimer, which lapsed more than a generation ago.

Mrs. Leo Julien, Eriksdale, Manitoba, one of the listed heirs to the estate, which includes property in the London financial district, was notified by cable today to proceed to England immediately to appear in person to prove her title. She is a sister of the California man. Other heirs are said to be either there or on their way.

The estate is valued at more than $40,000,000. Baron Hazley of Oxford and Mortimer was the last holder of the title to which the estate is attached.

DeWitt Urges Million For Park in 'Wilderness'

(Associated Press.)

A recommendation that $1,044,783 be allocated to complete the Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania National Park "with the least possible delay" was made yesterday to Secretary Hurley of the War Department by Maj. Gen. James L. Dewitt, the quartermaster general.

Rich Indian's Wife Fails As Lawyer in Trust Suit

Hearings Postponed Until Next April When Judge Suggests She Employ Attorney in Dispute Over $200,000 Fund, Part of Huge Gift.

(Associated Press.)

The legal attainments of Mrs. Jackson Barnett, in court again with her husband who is known as the world's richest Indian, fell short of impressing the judge.

Despite Mrs. Barnett's experiences with the law, Justice F. D. Letts, of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, told her yesterday that the best help he knew of in a lawsuit was a lawyer, and for her to get one.

Mrs. Barnett, who is about 40, had set out to argue her side herself after the Government put before Justice Letts its outline of a suit seeking to restore to the Indian a trust fund of $200,000.

"I didn't think she knew the legal issues of the case well enough to argue it," Justice Letts explained later, "so I advised her to get an attorney."

Mrs. Barnett agreed to do this yesterday. At a conference with Justice Letts she and Marion Devries, of Washington, whom she wanted to represent her, obtained postponement of the case for further hearing after April 3.

Barnett, who is past 80, and has been in and out of court numerous times in the last few years, because of tangles involving his money, was more interested in his gold watch while the case was before Justice Letts.

Grinning and proudly displaying it to the accompaniment of much snapping of the cover on the case, Barnett toyed with the timepiece most of the time.

The suit grew from a transaction in 1923, when Barnett gave away $1,100,000. One-half that went to the American Baptist Home Mission Society has been recovered by the Government for him.

Of the other half, which went to his wife, a $200,000 trust fund was created with Liberty bonds deposited here. The Government contends Barnett was incompetent to handle the money, and that it should be restored to his credit for Treasury supervision as he is a Government ward.

Man Lives After Mending Of Six Fractures in Skull

Charleroi, Pa., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Stephen Nandor, 28, is "resting well" tonight after undergoing an operation to correct six fractures of the skull.

Physicians said his chances of recovery are slim. But they said that November 11, when Mr. Nandor was injured in an automobile accident. "One chance in a thousand" was the verdict then, and is now.

Surgeons from Baltimore, Pittsburgh and other cities looked on today as the operation was performed by Dr. C. E. Miksch, who said one hour was required.

"Six separate fractures were found," the surgeon said. "The fractured parts were reduced to a pulpy condition and there was pressure on the brain that ordinarily would cause instant death."

He said a piece of bone, weighing three ounces and the size of the average palm of a hand, was removed from above the temple.

"The patient's chances to live are very slim," Dr. Miksch said, "but his condition so far has been extraordinary, particularly the fact he has remained conscious."

"Don't worry about me, I'll come through," Mr. Nandor told his parents before the operation.

Tonight he said, "I told you."

Peggy Joyce Finery Sells Cheap at Federal Auction

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Jewels and finery that adorned Peggy Hopkins Joyce in her European travels were auctioned off today to settle a United States customs claim.

The Government has been in the process of selling the beauty's possessions for the last ten years. But such things as appeals delayed the "dollar day" sale until today.

Things went "dirt cheap."

An octagonal pendant, set with 205 diamonds, with a 3½-karat emerald as a centerpiece, went for $1,000.

When it was seized in 1922, the much-married Mrs. Joyce valued the jewel at $12,000. The purchase price abroad was placed at $9,000.

There were two dresses, worth $2,000 apiece ten years ago. The changing styles made these worthless except as mementos, but some one bid them in at $84 for the two.

Another of the items Mrs. Joyce neglected to declare on that return trip aboard the Mauretania ten years ago, was a Spanish shawl, valued at $480. This was sold for $61.

Four boxes of powder and a bottle of perfume were knocked down for $23.

Physician's Incomes Show Steady Slump Since 1929

(Associated Press.)

One-half the country's doctors were shown yesterday by the committee on the costs of medical care to have received net incomes of $3,800 and less during 1929.

The nongovernmental committee, of which Secretary Wilbur is chairman, reported the average net income of the 121,000 in private practice was $5,467, with the median for all doctors, including the 21,000 in salaried positions, $3,827.

Physicians' incomes were reported as having dropped 17 per cent in 1930 and probably a larger percentage during 1931. In 1929, 15 per cent of the doctors were listed as receiving less than $1,500 for professional activities, while 4 per cent lost money.

GAS BLAST VICTIM SUES FOR $100,000

Father of Rockville Youth Claims His Son Was Totally Disabled.

Suit for $100,000 damages was filed in behalf of William Slack Nicholson, 18 years old, by his father, Leonard L. Nicholson, Washington real estate operator, against the Maryland Gas Transmission Co., Inc., as the result of a gas blast last June, which cost the lives of two men and critically injured young Nicholson. The suit was filed by Attorney Thomas M. Anderson, of Rockville, Md., in the Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville.

The declaration states that the gas company is the owner of a pipe line for transmission of natural gas from the Pennsylvania line in Cecil County through Cecil, Harford, Baltimore and Montgomery counties to the Virginia State line. It alleges that young Nicholson, who resides with his family on the Rockville pike near Rockville, was fishing in the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal near the gas line on June 22 when John Esputa, an employe of the company, asked him to transport him to a telephone, so that he could report a leak in the gas line. When the youth started the motor of his engine a spark ignited the gas and resulted in an explosion, which caused the death from burns of Esputa and a companion of Nicholson, Charles Dove, of Rockville, and burned young Nicholson so badly that he is permanently disfigured and totally and permanently disabled, the declaration states.

The suit alleges that the company was negligent in not maintaining its line without leaks and with safety to the public, and alleges that the youth was injured while serving the company at the request of an agent of the company.

Man Found Dead Here Is Buried in Virginia

Special to The Washington Post.

Lovettsville, Va., Nov. 23.—Funeral services were held this afternoon from his late home near Lovettsville, Va., for John S. Paxson, 75, who was found dead in bed by his son at a rooming house in Washington, D. C., Saturday morning.

Mr. Paxson, who had been a produce dealer for many years, took a load of farm and dairy products to Washington Friday for market Saturday morning. When he failed to appear at his stand the next morning his son went in search of him. Mr. Paxson is survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters. Interment was in Lutheran Cemetery, near Lovettsville.

LEWIS BACKS SALES TAX AT KENSINGTON

Maryland Member of House Says Middle Class Incomes Escape.

Middle class incomes pay little or no income tax and they must share in the burden, in order that the national budget can be balanced, Representative David J. Lewis, of Maryland, told a meeting of the Kensington Chamber of Commerce in a talk on the sales tax last night in the Kensington School. He said that incomes ranging from $3,000 to $10,000 are in this middle class.

Representative Lewis said that America, in spite of the $12,000,000,000 annual tax bill or about $100 per capita is better off than European countries in regard to taxation. He pointed out that the English tax bill is $140 per capita. The speaker made it clear that he personally favored direct taxation, but said he would support indirect taxation if direct taxation fails. He said that the $66,000,000,000 volume of manufactures in 1929 has shrunk to $40,000,000,000 and that this would result in a sales tax collection of $400,000,000 at 1 per cent.

Charles B. Bohanan resigned as chairman of the school committee and as alternate to the Montgomery County Civic Federation. E. W. Shepherd was appointed chairman of the school body by President W. I. Cleveland and Joseph Brown was elected alternate to the civic federation.

NEW CINEMA OFFERINGS

RIALTO

"AIR MAIL." Universal picturization of a story by Dale Van Every and Frank Wead, featuring Ralph Bellamy, Gloria Stuart, Pat O'Brien, Lillian Bond, "Slim" Summerville, Frank Albertson, Leslie Fenton, Russell Hopton and David Landau. Directed by John Ford. Previewed Tuesday midnight.

By NELSON B. BELL.

If "Wings," "The Battalion of Death" and "What Price Glory" were bald and unrelieved propaganda for the Army, or "Submarine" and "Hell Divers" plain and unmitigated "plugs" for the Navy, then "Air Mail" is a smug and unembellished publicity puff for the Postoffice Department. But, of course, none of these exciting film plays was any of these things. Nor is "Air Mail."

On the contrary, like the other "service" romances to which it is akin, this new adaptation of the art of flying to the stirring uses of aerial melodramatics is high in drama and human interest, rich in a droll sort of comedy and by no means devoid of suspense, thrills and grim and gripping action that races through the film with danger and disaster always in its wake.

The story revolves around the personnel and professional pursuits of a desert airport, under the direction of an intrepid airman by the name of Mike, who never asks any of his men to perform a task that he wouldn't undertake himself—despite the examining board's warning that failing eyesight has about written a period to his career in the air. Under his watchful but dimming eye is a group of high-strung and touchy pilots, their wives and, in course of time, a soldier of fortune with a bit of the blood of Don Juan in his veins, who stirs up quite a domestic mess—until the husband of his inamorata drives into the high-tension wires in a blizzard and clears the way for an elopement.

Mike, who always does the next trick after an accident has happened, flies Dizzy's load over the next leg and crashes against the peak of an inaccessible mountain. He is discovered crumpled in the high snows, but experts declare it will take days to reach him; that no ship could ever hope to land and take off on such treacherous terrain.

Duke, the daredevil of the outfit—with women as well as the planes—hears the radio reports of Mike's predicament and reads the newspaper's despairing descriptions of his plight. Forgetting his grievances, he deserts his sweetheart of a moment, steals a plane from under the very noses of fliers less competent than himself and proves that he can, indeed, "land on a dime and take off from a nickel." When the old crate with which he has accomplished the impossible begins to crack up in the air, and Mike, equipped with a chute, will not bail out because his rescuer is not similarly safeguarded, Duke spills him out with a loop and crashes. With a fool's luck, he comes out alive and rides wise-cracking to the hospital as the picture fades out.

Old stuff, it sounds in the telling. But it is not. It approaches commercial flying from a new and decidedly interesting and informative point of view; it combines the practical operation of an airport with a fictional romance in such manner as to produce an immediate effect of novelty. Its entertainment, therefore, is fresh, vivid and engrossing. To add to the excitement, the climaxes of the action are reached in all sorts of weather—cloudbursts, windstorms, blizzards and everything else nasty that could be turned out of Medicine Hat!

The principal roles have been judiciously distributed among Ralph Bellamy and Pat O'Brien, as Mike and Duke; Gloria Stuart and Lillian Bond, as the sister of one flier, who is lost, and the wife of another; Russell Hopton, as Miss Bond's husband; "Slim" Summerville and Frank Albertson, as airport mechanics with a quaint sense of humor about evenly divided between them; Leslie Fenton, a discredited aviator, whose presence in the picture is wholly unaccounted for; David Landau, Hans Fuerberg, Tom Carrigan and William Daly. First honors are easily annexed by Bellamy and O'Brien, with Miss Bond benefiting slightly from a slightly more colorful character in the play than Miss Stuart's.

To a layman, who viewed the picture amid the exclamatory approbations of a midnight group of Army, Navy and commercial fliers, the technical aspects of the film seemed above reproach. The many difficult effects are photographed with exceptional skill.

The bill is completed by a cartoon comedy, a new issue of John Hix's Post feature, "Strange As It Seems," and the Universal News, with Graham McNamee's running comment, which, this week, of course, should fly instead of run!

AGAIN BURSTS INTO FLAME!

Clara Bow, the erstwhile "Brooklyn bonfire," who returns to the screen at Loew's Fox Theater tomorrow, as she appears in a scene of her new picture, "Call Her Savage," Gilbert Roland being the one with the obvious headache!

Attractive Prizes Offered In Slogan-Creed Contest

Some Pithy Saying to Help Rout Depression Sought by Post and RKO-Keith's in Connection With Showing of "The Conquerors."

In the crucial periods of American history there has always emerged some pithy saying that has captivated the imagination of the people and spurred them on to victory.

Something is needed now to lift the American people out of the slough of depression, and The Washington Post and RKO-Keith's are providing the opportunity to Washingtonians to coin the phrase that will help lift the depression bugaboo.

"The Conquerors," now showing at RKO-Keith's Theater, demonstrates the fighting blood of those who will not be beaten.

Something is needed so that "America Will Not Stay Down." Something is needed to take its place in history with the cry of the Revolutionary days, "Taxation Without Representation Is Tyranny," or like the saying, "Remember the Maine," of the Spanish War days.

Any one who has an idea which may provide the slogan may participate in the slogan-creed contest.

First prize will be $25; second, $15, and third, $10. There will be ten additional prizes of sets of tickets to RKO-Keith's. All entries must be received by Sunday midnight. Winners will be announced next Tuesday. Employes of The Post and RKO-Keith's and their families are barred. Address all communications to "The Conquerors Editor," in care of The Post.

AMERICAN PAINTING EXHIBIT TO BE DEC. 3

Biennial Display at Corcoran Gallery Will Be Devoted to Contemporary Oils.

The thirteenth biennial exhibition of contemporary American oil painting will be opened at 9 o'clock on the night of December 3 in the Corcoran Gallery of Art and will close on Sunday, January 15.

The winners of the exhibit are: George Luke, of New York City, first prize of $2,000 and Corcoran gold medal for his painting entitled "Woman With Black Cat;" John R. Garbach, of Irvington, N. J., second prize of $1,500 and the Corcoran silver medal for his work entitled "Spring Planting."

Third prize of $1,000 and the Corcoran bronze medal went to David Silvette, of Richmond, Va., for his painting entitled "Thornton Nye of Wytheville," and the fourth prize of $500 and a Corcoran honorable mention certificate went to N. C. Wyeth, of Chadds Ford, Pa., for his work "In a Dream I Meet Gen. Washington."

The prizes are derived from the income of a gift of the late Senator William A. Clark and an endowment of Mrs. Clark. The jury was composed of Gifford Beal, Wayman Adams and Ernest Lawson, of New York; J. H. Gest, of Cincinnati; Edward W. Redfield, of New Hope, Pa., and Charles Rosen, of Woodstock, N. Y.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

A BULLETIN from the offices of Laurence Rivers, Inc., New York City, with pardonable pride lays stress upon the fact that after covering 15,540 miles on a trek that took it to the Pacific Coast and back, "The Green Pastures," Marc Connelly's unique interpretation of the Scriptures, returns soon to the Subway Circuit, and contiguous territory, in the bailiwick of its initial triumph.

The Pulitzer prize play is scheduled to resume its conquest of the East in Newark next Monday, with a Brooklyn engagement to follow. In this connection, it is interesting, in a theater year that seems to be perpetuating the depression's withering blight, that the opening performance in Newark will make the play's 1125th, and that Richard B. Harrison, 68-year-old Negro star of the play, never has missed a single enactment of the drama. The patriarchal Negro, who created the role of "de Lawd," and through it a niche in the theatrical Hall of Fame, recently received the Sigma Key from Boston University. Harrison is the only doctor ever to achieve this distinction.

With the exception of one part, twice vacated by death, "The Green Pastures" retains its entire original company of 100 actors who appeared in the New York opening of the play at the Mansfield Theater on February 26, 1930.

Although the quaint Connelly fable has been scoring consistently for almost three solid years, there still are major cities in the East and Middle West that have not as yet been vouchsafed even a glimpse of it. Foremost among these, of course, is Washington, with Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Cleveland and Detroit occupying positions of lesser consequence on the list!

The demand for "The Green Pastures" has been so insistent by theaters all over the country that the play will remain on tour indefinitely. A contemplated return engagement to New York City thus is pushed still further into the future.

Incidentally, Rowland Stebbins, the producer, and Charles Stewart, general manager, have fastened a discerning eye on the South as a probable new arena of conquest and adventure for 1933-34.

Lest the entire midwinter season be ruined for some ardent theater fan or other who lives only to see Paul Muni act—and by the excellence of his work there must have been by now some such converts as this to his art—Miss Phyllis Perlman also comes to bat all the way from New York with the item that Mr. Muni, who, it seems, has enhanced the Nation-wide esteem in which he always has been held, by his recent personal triumph in the celluloid confession known as "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang," will soon be seen in this city when Elmer Rice presents his sensational comedy-drama, "Counsellor-at-Law," for a limited engagement in the National Theater.

Miss Perlman goes on to point out that "Counsellor-at-Law" has been playing off and on for more than a year in New York, and is one of the most interesting plays Mr. Rice has ever concocted, which is fair praise, since within the memory of those still living he won the Pulitzer Prize with his memorable "Street Scene."

There might, however, be some minor quibbling with Miss Perlman over what might reasonably be construed to constitute a set of circumstances in which Mr. Muni will "soon be seen in this city." The projected engagement at the National is for the week beginning Sunday, March 13!

This apparently is one of those infrequent occasions when it seems the part of wisdom to direct especial notice to the "Film Time Tables" appearing elsewhere on this page.

The Thanksgiving Day schedules in the motion picture houses have been largely pushed around until they bear scant resemblance to yesterday's. And besides that, there are the new bills breaking in today in some of the downtown cathedrals—notably "The Cabin in the Cotton," with Richard Barthelmess, Bette Davis and Dorothy Jordan, supplemented by Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle in "Hey, Pop," at the Metropolitan, and "Air Mail," which got under way at the Rialto with a midnight "permeer" last night.

And those who await a social note in these reports should know that Kent and Nell Paxton entertained informally at their home in Hunt avenue Tuesday night in honor of Mrs. Laura Doyle and a few stray vagabonds from the newspaper and theatrical professions. Mrs. Paxton, it will be recalled, recently served as Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink's pipe organ accompanist at the Earle. Jigsaw puzzles and wise cracks were enjoyed during the evening and in the wee small hours of the morning a dainty collation was served, a pleasant time being had by all! (Liberty, Ind., papers please copy.)

Speaking of time schedules—or were we?—this week-end will be marked by expanding running hours at the Earle. Since Joe E. Brown, always one of the Earle's most popular attractions, is occupying the screen in "You Said a Mouthful," and a particularly interesting vaudeville bill is being staged, beginning tomorrow, five complete de luxe performances will be given on Saturday and four on Sunday.

In order to accommodate the anticipated capacity crowds, the doors will open Saturday at 10 a. m., with the first performance beginning at approximately 10:45 and stage shows in the neighborhood of 12:05, 2:20, 4:35, 6:50 and 9:10 p. m. On Sunday doors will open at 1:30, with stage shows at 2:05, 4:25, 6:45 and 9:05 p. m.

It is reflective of exactly opposite managerial theories of the requirements of the occasion, by the way, that today's performances will be earlier at Loew's Fox and later at the Earle than has been the case earlier in the week. Which is not to say that that particular aspect of the matter is any of your business or mine. But the crowded night before a so-called holiday, a paragraph is a paragraph—and don't let anybody tell you different.

Since the delusive topic of holidays has come up, the management of the Arabian Nights ballroom, with an ostensibly optimistic assumption that there is any such thing, announces special dance events for tonight, in addition to the regular Saturday and Sunday sessions. The Thanksgiving dance, to the tunes of Meyer Davis' Washingtonians, will be a real holiday party of appropriate length and many added features of a special nature.

Just to keep the record straight, what with the long succession of distorted opening dates and one thing and another, it may be well to recite that the film attractions for the ensuing week will be roughly as follows: Loew's Fox, beginning tomorrow, Clara Bow in "Call Her Savage," and Bob Murphy headlining the vaudeville bill; Earle, also beginning tomorrow, Joe E. Brown in "You Said a Mouthful," and the Weaver Brothers and Elviry headlining the vaudeville; Columbia, ditto, George O'Brien in "The Golden West;" Metropolitan, starting today, Richard Barthelmess in "The Cabin in the Cotton;" Rialto, now playing, Ralph Bellamy, Gloria Stuart and Pat O'Brien in "Air Mail;" RKO-Keith's, now playing, "The Conquerors;" Palace, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran in "Prosperity," second week.

Thanks, I hope you enjoy yours, too. And don't forget, in case the mince pie and all those nuts and raisins go bolshevik, the soda mints are right there behind the fruit dish on the sideboard and the paregoric and bismuth upstairs in the medicine closet, right alongside the aspirin!

G. W. AND OKLAHOMA CLASH TODAY BEFORE 20,000

Brown-Colgate Battle Heads East's Thanksgiving Day Card

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

WIN, lose or draw today, George Washington University will be entitled to look back on the finest football campaign ever enjoyed by a Colonial Team. If more than 20,000 fans turn out for the battle, the door to a resumption of G. W.-Catholic U. football relations will apparently be closed forever, for no more than 12,000 ever saw these teams in the annual Thanksgiving Day game.

Oklahoma comes to the Capital with the scalp of Tulsa, which handed George Washington a 29-to-14 defeat last month, but Coach Jim Pixlee, of G. W., maintains that the Colonials should have won the Tulsa game. Deep down in the innards, this department feels that G. W. will beat Oklahoma today.

Oklahoma plays much the same kind of spectacular open game that Tulsa used to beat the Colonials, with daring passes and wide end runs. Any attempt by G. W. to match this kind of attack will be in vain, Pixlee believes. The Colonials doubtless will get their orders to take the football and cram it down the throats of Oklahoma on power plays.

Tales of the passing prowess of Bob Dunlap of the Sooners have preceded the Oklahoma star to the Capital, but Washington fans, this department included, must be shown the man who can heave the laced oval with better effect than Johnny Fenlon. Benny Friedman, Chris Cagle and Johnny Fenlon is the way I rank the forward passers that have come under my observation.

It will be a rare treat to see Fenlon and Nig McCarver in the G. W. back field together. For reasons of his own, Coach Pixlee has rarely permitted the two to team in the Colonials' attack, but he is prepared to shoot the works today.

The Oklahoma defense may be hard put to diagnose the G. W. attack. With Fenlon back, a pass is as likely to eventuate as a rush, in addition to a kick, and with McCarver back it well may be either a run or a pass, for McCarver is almost as accomplished a heaver as Fenlon.

Capt. Wayne Chambers, closing his career today, is likely to attach himself to a game-winning pass from the mitt of either Fenlon or McCarver. Chambers this season has not scintillated at his specialty, but he is "overdue and dangerous today," as the turf selectors say.

Oklahoma will send its six-foot-four center, Paul Young, into action against Frank Blackistone, the Colonials' pivot man, in an individual battle that has the earmarks of an epic. I don't know Young's capabilities, but Blackistone has intercepted more forward passes than any other three members of the G. W. eleven.

The weights are in favor of Oklahoma. Even after sewing the botoms on their scantie-panties to guard against chilblains, the Sooners' uniforms weigh only 8 pounds each, including shoes, in contrast to the conventional unies of the Colonials, which scale approximately 14 pounds.

The Rockne influence returned to Notre Dame for a brief spell yesterday. Coach Heartly Anderson predicted that "We'll be doing well to hold the Army to three touchdowns Saturday." That's what Rockne used to say, and then send his team out to wallop West Point by a half dozen touchdowns, pulled up.

The Army-Navy game, like the Army-Notre Dame battle, is a sell-out, but the item that put the game across with the public was Navy's 12-to-0 stand against the Irish at Cleveland last Saturday.

G. W. U. Negotiating For 1933 Grid Foes

George Washington University's 1933 football schedule is now in the process of completion, but games are only tentative. Before the Colonial officials can arrange definitely the 1933 program they must wait on the annual conventions of the Big Ten, the Southern Conference, the Big Six and the Pacific Coast Conference, with whose members they are negotiating.

Alabama in the South, Nebraska in the Big Six, Iowa in the Big Ten and Stanford of the Coast Conference are being sought as opponents by George Washington.

New England Rivals Risk Records

Unbeaten Foes Will Clash in Morning at Providence.

Cornell Meets Penn; Vanderbilt-Kentucky Clash in South.

By ALAN GOULD.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—There will be a much bigger crowd at Philadelphia for the Cornell-Pennsylvania battle and there will likely be no less spirited action on the gridirons of Seattle or Los Angeles, Birmingham or Knoxville, Shreveport or Lincoln, but Brown and Colgate will put on the main show of Thanksgiving Day's football festival tomorrow.

For the first time in just about a quarter century of keen rivalry, Colgate and Brown both come up to their five-star final performance neither defeated nor tied, each seeking a mythical claim to the Eastern college championship for 1932 and each with an eye to the prospect of being invited to the Rose Bowl intersectional classic of New Year's Day.

Battle Over Before Big Dinner.

The circumstances and the outcome will furnish plenty of appetizing debate around the holiday dinner tables, for these old rivals swing into action at 11 a. m., in keeping with an old New England custom and will finish their battle before the Nation's other big games get under way.

Only a recurrence of the tie-game fever that gripped this series for three straight years at one stretch can prevent either Colgate or Brown from sharing any of the season's gridiron honors in sight. They are among only a half dozen major teams neither beaten nor tied.

Each has compiled a sensational record. Brown's chief distinction rests in its ability to come from behind with a dazzling rally against heavy odds and formidable foes. Colgate, treading perhaps an easier path, nevertheless has been highly impressive and established itself as the country's only big team to keep from being scored on.

Colgate Record Superior To Brown's.

Colgate's record of rolling up 243 points in eight games to none for the opposition looks much fancier on paper than Brown's tally of 81 points against 21 for its rivals. The supercharged Maroon offense, developed by Andy Kerr, seems to have made the visitors a slight favorite, but there isn't a home-town rooter who doubts Brown's ability to atop it and counterattack effectively with the triple wingback formations taught by "Tuss" McLaughry.

Coaches and experts from far and wide will gather in Providence tomorrow for the express purpose not only of seeing two unbeaten teams meet for the high stakes, but to observe the intricacies of the Warner system as developed by two of the old master's most ardent coaching followers.

Meanwhile, on a day marked by the renewal of some of football's most ancient and colorful rivalries, champions will be put to the test in two other sections. Southern California's fast-traveling Trojans, who likely will defend their national title claims in the Rose Bowl, are favored to conquer Washington at Seattle. Nebraska's championship Big Six array should keep its conference record clear against Missouri.

Centenary Meets Test In Arkansas.

Centenary, which shares with Southern California, Brown and Colgate the distinction of being unbeaten and untied, will attempt to keep this record intact against Arkansas in a holiday duel at Shreveport. Arkansas upset Centenary a year ago with a 6-point victory, but the "gentlemen" of Louisiana are confident of gaining revenge.

The South's busy holiday otherwise features the Vanderbilt-Alabama and Tennessee-Kentucky games, with Vanderbilt and Tennessee favored to win and maintain their high rankings in the Southern Conference.

Cornell will have a good chance to make it three straight against Pennsylvania at Franklin Field if the Ithacans' captain, Bart Viviano, is as unstoppable as he has been for the past two years in this holiday classic. Two of the East's strongest lines will fight it out in this contest before a crowd that may reach 70,000. Another big crowd will see New York University play Carnegie Tech at the Yankee Stadium in the only Metropolitan College attraction of the day.

Maryland Plays Tulane And Florida in 1933

Maryland University has completed about the most ambitious football schedule in the school's history for its 1933 team. Games against the hitherto unplayed Tulane and Florida squads are on the list, along with a continuation of old alliances.

The Old Liners look for a first-rate squad next year, its current sophomores having shown frequent flashes of future worth. Few home games will be played.

The schedule:

September 30, St. John's, home.
October 7, V. P. I., away; 14, Tulane, away; 21, V. M. I., away; 28, Western Maryland, away.
November 4, Virginia, away; 11, W. and L., home; 18, Duke, home; Thanksgiving, Johns Hopkins, away.
December 2, Florida, away.

LINCOLN FOE OF HOWARD TODAY

8,000 Are Expected to See Colored Rivals Clash.

A COLORED college football classic—Howard vs. Lincoln—will be played this afternoon at Howard Stadium before an estimated crowd of 8,000 followers of football. Lincoln goes into the battle with a more highly developed offensive strength, and rules a slight favorite.

Howard's forte is its defensive skill. The kick-off is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

Howard has eked out narrow wins over Lincoln during the last two seasons of their rivalry. In 1930 the Bisons won by a 2-to-0 score, and last year were awarded a 1-to-0 forfeit victory when Lincoln sent in an ineligible player to kick the extra point after it had tied the score at 6 to 6. The Colored Intercollegiate Athletic Association awarded the game to Howard.

In 1929, with a green team, Howard held Lincoln to a 0-to-0 tie.

The two schools have met 27 times since 1894. Over that long stretch of time only one victory separates the clubs. Howard has won ten games to Lincoln's nine. No less than eight times the two have battled to ties.

Among the spectators at the game today will be Eddie Tolan, Olympic track sensation.

Heller, Pitt U. Back, In Charity Grid Game

Baltimore, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Warren Heller, Pittsburgh half back, today joined the Northern team for the North-South charity football game here December 10. Heller accepted the invitation of Jock Sutherland, coach of the Northern team.

Joe Tormey, Pitt center, and Nick Decarbo, Duquesne guard, have joined the Northern team, as have Sammy Fishman, quarter back, and Bill Hoffman, guard of Dartmouth.

Big 1933 Grid Games Sought by Cleveland

Cleveland, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Cleveland will make an effort to bring to its Municipal Stadium at least one of the outstanding intersectional football games of 1933, E. E. Adams, stadium manager, said tonight as he left for New York to open negotiations.

Adams said he would confer with officials of the Army in the hope of bringing the Army-Navy game here and also would sound out Southern California officials on a proposition to have the 1933 Notre Dame-Southern California contest played in Cleveland.

The Navy and Notre Dame were invited to play here again next year before the end of their game last Saturday. Cleveland also will bid for the Notre Dame-University of Pittsburgh contest, Adams said.

McEwan, Ousted Holy Cross Coach, Sues to Keep Job

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Capt. John J. McEwan, recently suspended as football coach at Holy Cross College, filed in superior court here today a bill in equity to have the court restrain the college trustees from interfering with him in carrying out his duties in accordance with his contract to serve as coach until the end of 1933.

The bill recites the captain's football experience and sets forth that the widespread publicity given him in connection with the suspension has caused him much suffering and says the trouble between himself and the college authorities resulted from interference with his policies and an alleged refusal by them to furnish such equipment as he considered necessary for the football team. The bill states that his salary was to be $8,500 a year.

McEwan's announcement followed upon his dispute with Sullivan during the third period of the Brown game at Providence, which resulted in Holy Cross' first defeat of the season. McEwan said Sullivan had refused to obey his order to send a substitute into the game.

Sullivan's version was that the player McEwan wanted replaced was in fit shape to continue the game and that another substitution would have resulted in a penalty against Holy Cross while Brown was pressing for its winning touchdown. The Bruins finally marched 80 yards for the score that won the game.

Londos and Garibaldi In Next Mat Feature

Jim Londos vs. Gino Garibaldi will be the next wrestling attraction at the Washington Auditorium, it was announced yesterday by Prof. Joe Turner, well-known pachyderm presenter.

Four other bouts will be added to the card, which will be completed by Sunday.

The show will be held one week from today. Women fans will be charged 25 cents.

Grid Contest Closes

The curtain rang down last night on the sixth and final Washington Post football contest of the season. All clippings mailed by fans before that hour will be accepted as legal tender in the race for choice seats to the Georgetown-Carnegie Tech game of December 3 at Griffith Stadium.

Winners will be announced in Sunday's Post.

The current contest, although it came to an end last midnight, is still an object of consideration by members of the football contest board. Nearly half of the games in the just-closed contest will not be played until Saturday, and that day must be awaited to test the expertise skill of Washington's fandom.

MARYLAND UNIVERSITY'S football team, its mind made up to beat Western Maryland on December 3, and its daily workouts looking toward that end, ambles over to Baltimore Stadium this afternoon to poliah off a preliminary foe—Johns Hopkins. The game is scheduled for 2:30.

The Old Liners, who are not much more than a shadow of the team Curly Byrd fashioned last year from a group of elderly and hard-bitten veterans, should, nevertheless, win as they please this afternoon, for the Blue Jays have set no football worlds afire this season—nor have they even caused smoke.

The respective records of the two teams, which adorn the top of this pillar of print, go to show that Maryland is a heftier scoring team. The Terps are bigger and better, although there are more sophomores per square yard on the quasi-locals than on Johns Hopkins.

This is an old football feud. It began back in 1892, when a cow was Maryland's football symbol, and hos raged intermittently ever since. It used to be a grand brawl, but in the past five years the Old Liners have proved much more progressive in the way of football and have built teams that looked upon Hopkins as a "breather."

Curly Byrd will start the same lineup which downed W. and L. last week, namely, Hines and Benner, ends; Farrell and Keenan, tackles; Rouzer and Mitchell, guards; Webb, center, and Popppelman, Widmayer, Nelson and Woods in the back field.

Maryland should win by two touchdowns.

GRIDMAN NOW FATHER.

Detroit, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Frank Little, full back on the Oregon State Football Team, who will play the final game of his collegiate career against University of Detroit tomorrow, learned tonight that he is the father of an 8-pound son.

The news came from Dillon, Mont., where his wife is.

RENTNER MOST VALUABLE.

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Although he failed to keep his dizzy pace of 1931, Ernest "Pug" Rentner tonight was named by his teammates as the most valuable man on Northwestern's football team.

Gloom Marks Notre Dame Outlook

Anderson Forecasts Army Victory by 3 Touchdowns.

5 Men in Infirmary; Passing Attack Is Chief Hope.

By PAUL MICKELSON.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Heartley "Hunk" Anderson, the noted optimist of Notre Dame football, reluctantly told his first big "bear" story tonight as a mild influenza attack swept five of his players from the playing field to the University Infirmary.

"We'll be doing well to hold the army to three touchdowns Saturday," Coach Anderson sighed after saying that George Melinkovich, Jim Harris, Dominic Vairo, Emmett Murphy, and Ray Boland were in the University Infirmary, suffering from mild flu attacks. "I have never told a bear story before, but I mean this one. It looks like a bad day for us against the Army. When the Army beats Notre Dame, it does a great job."

Will Take Ill Players On Trip.

Unless their conditions grow worse, however, Coach Anderson said he planned to take all five of the sick men along with the team for the Army invasion, hoping that a train ride, change of scenery and a big Thanksgiving Day dinner will revive them for a least a period of play against the mighty Cadets. Melinkovich, the only consistent ground gainer on the team, seemed to be the sickest of all, with no signs of improvement. Harris, the first to contract the illness, was much improved after a good night's rest. Ed Kosky, regular left end, also has been suffering from a bad cold, but insisted he was ready to play.

In a final scrimmage before their departure, the Ramblers polished up their passing attack tonight, figuring it was the one best scoring route against the enemy. The team will leave tomorrow noon.

"I don't know exactly how I will start against the Army," Hunk said sadly. "Last week the second team scored both touchdowns against the Navy and looked better than the regulars, who didn't seem to have enough punch. So I think I may mix the starting line-up by starting half the first team and half of the second, possibly the first-string line and the second-string back field. We've scouted the Army in its last three games, while we've been scouted plenty in return. They tell me that the Army players even know how to pronounce all our names."

Irish Not to Miss Turkey Dinner.

But come what may, the Ramblers are not going to miss Thanksgiving and its dishes as they ride eastward tomorrow. When Hunk was a player he used to starve on Thanksgiving Day to keep in training.

"I always said that if I coached a team it would have a big Thanksgiving Day, with all the trimmings, football or no football." Hunk grinned. "And I mean it. Tomorrow the boys are going to have a big feast on the train whether they deserve it or not."

A giant pep meeting was held on the campus last night, and today 200 students left for New York and the Yankee Stadium to cheer the team.

Argentine Polo Team Evens U. S. Series, 8-7

Buenos Aires, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Argentine evened the polo series with the United States for "the Cup of the Americas" today, winning a fast and stormy game, 8 to 7, in an extra chukker.

The North Americans came within a split second of ending their invasion undefeated and capturing the Cup with two straight victories. They even thought they had won for a moment and spectators swarmed out on the field so that police had to clear the way before the eighth and deciding chukker could be played.

Just as the bell rang ending the seven chukkers, which regularly constitute a game in Argentina, Billy Post's long, high drive from the sideboards hit a goal post and dropped a foot away. Elmer Boeseke rushed up and tapped the ball between the posts. But the referee ruled that the bell had begun to ring just as the ball touched the sideboards and therefore it was dead before Post's shot.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

WITH a fighting chance to win the ball game, George Washington University's football team trots on the plastic field at Griffith Stadium today to meet the University of Oklahoma at 2:30 o'clock in an intersectional football game which for thrills, speed, color and attendance threatens to crack all existing records.

The Colonials are far from underdogs, as a result of a last-minute shift in the odds and news that one of Oklahoma's Pansze boys, Bill by name, was too badly bruised in the Nebraska game to appear in uniform today.

A glance at the fine type which heads this pillar of print shows that Oklahoma has turned in many fine performances this season. The ones that stick most in the minds of Washington's football fans is that defeat of Tulsa and the fine showing against Nebraska. There have been no set-ups on the Sooners' schedule, and today's battle follows that rule.

Oklahoma's Squad Light in Spots.

It must be the teamwork of the Oklahomans that has put them across, for a view of them in practice yesterday showed that they are smaller than G. W. They are downright light in spots, and ponderous in others. The boys are verily of the plains—their faces tanned to leather, bodies strong and wiry. They have a lot of pepper. Most of them have never heard of old G. W. They'll know plenty late this afternoon.

Two Colonials virtually will go from the hospital to the field: Zuzu Stewart, the Colonials' own nominee for All-American guard, and Ras Nielsen, burly tackle, who is one of the nine seniors slated to start the game. Stewart has a mild attack of influenza and Nielsen was kicked in the head in practice Tuesday.

Fenlon's Passing Chief Threat.

George Washington packs three potent scoring threats today—Johnny Fenlon, who hurls the best passes in this section; Capt. Wayne Chambers, the most sure-handed end in the local business, and the galloping sophomore ghost, Nig McCarver. The greatest cloud that looms against G. W. is Bob Dunlap, versatile quarter back for the Sooners, who kicks, runs and passes with discouraging skill. Jim Stacy, 200-pound back, will be a cinder in the eye of the G. W. line, while little Ab Walker, 140-pound half back, is a demon at running under Dunlap's many and mighty passes.

Up in the line the Sooners are dominated by Reds Young, 6-foot-4 center, who breaks up more passes per year than any man on the team, and Fred Cherry, 6-foot end. Young is great at getting down the field and downing punt returners.

Pixlee's Seniors Pack Punch.

Jim Pixlee's Beau Geste, by permitting all the seniors on the team to start the game in honor of their long and faithful service to the school, has been called "Pixlee's Folly," but it possesses few or no elements of danger. In one respect the opening line-up will be better than the team of sophs and juniors that replaces it. Otto Kriemelmeyer, who starts in the senior back field, can kick as well as Dunlap, but Otto's successor, Chris Doose, doesn't come within 10 yards of equaling the gargantuan boots of the Dunlap man.

The first act that the Sooners did yesterday upon arrival in Washington was to sew cloth extensions on their silk panties, for fear of freezing their cartileges into popsicles. This virtually takes all the sex out of today's battle, but Jack Espey, the best-dressed publicity man in Washington, has concocted a number of specialties, including a parade of some Change to Metric System Blow to Track, Says Former Star.

Pasadena, Calif., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Charles Paddock, commenting on the national A. A. U. action in installing the metric system as the medium of measurement for track and field events, said today "the officials of that organization must stay up nights trying to figure out new ways of making mistakes."

"After spending more than 25 years," said the former sprint king, "educating the American people to our standard track and field events, a change overnight to the metric system is the severest blow amateur athletics could have received.

"By eliminating our English measuring system the A. A. U. has destroyed in one blow all the records and achievements of the past."

One of Paddock's few remaining records is at a metric distance. It is the 300-meter dash run in 33.2 seconds in 1921.

7 Auburn Gridders Down With Influenza

Auburn, Ala., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Seven members of Auburn's football team, including Capt. Jimmy Hitchcock, were on the sick list today with slight cases of influenza, the latest victims of a mild outbreak, as a result of which Auburn authorities closed down classes yesterday until after the Thanksgiving holidays.

Other players reported ill were Holmes Ariail, Grant Houston, Rogers and Wood. Coach Chet Wynne has called off practice until Saturday.

Ill also were Coaches Roger Kiley and Sam McAllister.

New Orleans, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Already depleted by sixteen light cases of influenza, Tulane University's football squad received another stunning blow late today when Don Zimmerman, ace ball carrier and leading scorer in the Southern Conference, was ordered from the practice field and put to bed, apparently suffering from the same ailment.

ESPINETTA COMES FROM FAR BACK TO WIN BOWIE FEATURE

Filly Defeats Good Advice In Gallop

Wins by 4 Lengths as Poppyman Runs Poor Race.

Thursday, at 4 to 1, Scores Handily in Sixth Race.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

WITH little Willie Todd dressed in flaming red with a dash of orange—colors that might have been picked by the movie star herself—Espinetta did a rumba down the stretch at Bowie yesterday to win the Clara Bow trophy, the prize in the day's feature race. And the combination that Owner L. Perry entrusted with his chances made a convincing job of it. The daughter of Espino and Ktoifa scampered across the finish line four lengths in advance of Good Advice, which in turn had a margin of two lengths over Easy Day.

The largest crowd of the meeting witnessed the program under ideal racing conditions. The track was fast for the first time in many days. The arrival of thousands of Washingtonians enjoying the half-holiday sent the crowd to 15,000.

Although the principal betting swung to Poppyman, there were a number of hunch wagers on The Clara Bow. Many went to Bold Lover and Royal Blunder got some play because his ma is Ballet Dancer II. Good Advice, Easy Day also had supporters.

Bold Lover Leading At Turn.

It looked like the Bold Lover hunch might be the lucky one as the field left on the mile-and-70-yard trip. Danny Meade swung this fellow to the front along with Good Advice as they rounded the club house turn. Poppyman was close by, with Easy Day and Espinetta bringing up the rear. There was little change on the trip up the back stretch. On the swing for the stretch, Espinetta got in her work. It consisted of cutting through on the rail while the field was making the turn, to come out in front and to draw away. The race was now over. Gilbert rode Good Advice into second money. Popppyman, the even-money favorite, was fourth.

Elmer Trueman, Washington trainer, sent another winner to the post in the first race. It was Corrymeela, the property of Ral Parr. The daughted of Colin hopped out to a three-length lead some 50 yards from the barrier, and was hard ridden all the way by Albert Robertson. In fact, the filly was out to the limit to beat Sugar Pea by a nose.

Corrymeela Wins Duel In Stretch.

It was a brilliant stretch duel in which Sugar Pea fronted Corrymeela at one stage. Third money was garnered by Star Faidy. Corrymeela rewarded the faithful with a $15.50 mutuel.

Stealingaway stole the show in the second race, driving home in front of Supercharge and Boy Crazy. The son of Ed Crump and What'll I Do was grouped in the field and paid a handsome $54 mutuel. Stealingaway was in the last group at the start but worked his way up on the outside to win by a length and a half. Kneessi had the winner mount.

Gold Step stepped off with the purse in the third—a sprint. The son of Sweep On led from start to finish and had a margin of a length over the fast-charging General A. at the all-important finish. Novelist took the third money. Gold Step and Happy Scot went to the post cofavorites at the big odds of 4.20 to 1. It was a wide-open betting race, with at least six horses drawing heavy play.

Modern Times accounted for the fifth race in a stretch drive, with Horatia, a son of Man o' War, and in the field. Vandal, 164-1, was third and paid a $42. The winner was the favorite. Buddy Hanford and Thursday won the sixth, while the seventh went to Monocle by a nose over Gully Jumper.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: BOWIE RACE TRACK.

This track is all set for a rushing business today with the Thanksgiving Handicap the lure. With $7,500 added we can rest assured there will be no monkey business and some 20,000 can be assured a horse race. Jack High, White Clover II, Tambour and Tred Avon probably will draw the most play. The program is one of the best offered in Maryland this fall and it is likely that the mutuel department will be overworked for the first time this meeting. Had my usual two winners yesterday—Espinetta and Modern Times.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—BRIGHT SHADOW should graduate here or be shipped back to the farm. EVERFAIR finally is assured a chance to start. Today it looks like second money unless the top fellow fails to escape the also eligible list. LOWER TEN for the show.

SECOND RACE—The B. B. Stable seems to have a lock grip on this purse with CHARACTER and IDLE STEFAN. Both are in top form. RALLY ROUND gave the last named a keen battle here and will be in the fight.

THIRD RACE—PILATE, weight and all, if sent to the post in this should pick up another purse. I'm still looking for CLOTHO'S good race. This may be it. PAIRBYPAIR for the show end.

FOURTH RACE—LARRANAGA suffered from interference and poor riding the last time. Smaller field today. Gets seven pounds from MAD FRUMP, the one to beat. SPRINGSTEEL was practically left the other day.

FIFTH RACE—HALCYON was a trifle short when he met JACK HIGH the last time. Gets a 4-pound shift in the weights today. This son of Broomstick has been carefully trained for this race. Came off a fast sprint before trying the route and Robertson did not ride him out against JACK HIGH, probably saving the colt for this test today. CANRON for third. LATE DATE with a feather impost is the sleeper.

SIXTH RACE—KNIGHT'S CALL hasn't been out since Arlington Park last summer. Last effort was a mile in 1:35 3-5. With his class and this race to recommend him I can't look further for the winner. PENCADER could be second if Jimmy Sullivan brushes up his riding. STORM for the show.

SEVENTH RACE—BOKIE B was scratched yesterday with this race in view. Can run on fast tracks despite the general belief that he needs mud. COLOSSAL and BUCK HERO for the rest.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CORRYMEELA, $15.50, $5.30, $3.80; SUGAR PEA, $4.50, $3.30; STAR FAIRY, $3.20.

CORRYMEELA sprinted into a good lead directly after the start, saved ground and continuing gamely after being overtaken, came again to get up in the final strides. SUGAR PEA, a strong factor from the start, was rushed hard, but tired after gaining a brief lead midway of the home stretch. STAR FAIRY, hurried into a contending position and kept on the outside, came with good courage at the end. LADY LEGEND, strongly ridden, weakened during the final stages. ACCENT went forwardly placed early, but tired when put to a drive. ANIMATION was unable to menace the leaders. The others were outrun.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 1:36. Off at 1:42½. Winner, Mrs. H. Fietken's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—STEALINGAWAY (field), $54.70, $15.80, $8.20; SUPERCHARGE, $6.50, $4.30; BOY CRAZY, $5.50.

STEALINGAWAY, going in smartly improved fashion, worked his way up stoutly on the outside after being outrun early, came strongly to dispose of ORAL and was gamely maintained near the end. SUPERCHARGE, stoutly ridden in the entire trip, was held on with good energy. BOY CRAZY, placed to punishment early, swung to the outside and finished full of run. ORAL, hard ridden to hold command, weakened during the closing furlong. CAPITALIST was racing stoutly at the end. ARROWSWIFT tired, HELL DIVER was messed about the entire trip. PEACOCK BLUE broke very slow.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:14. Off at 2:14½. Winner, Mrs. S. H. Fairbank's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GOLD STEP, $10.40, $5.90, $3.60; GENERAL A., $8.80, $5.10; NOVELIST, $5.40.

GOLD STEP, having the most early speed, took command soon after the start, drew clear when straightened into the home stretch, but had to be shaken up stoutly to stall off GENERAL A. Latter, in the thick of contention and saving ground, closed resolutely when allowed to fall back midway of the turn, secured racing room on the inside in the final drive and outstayed MABLA. Latter, forced to race on the outside, weakened slightly right at the end. PORTDEN, crowded back early, was taken to the outside and finished strong. LADINO finished fast when finding racing room. CONTRIBUTE was shuffled back going to the turn, kAI FINN quit.

FOURTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,200; allowances. The Clara Bow Trophy. For 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 2:47. Off at 2:49½. Winner, L. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ESPINETTA, $10.50, $5.40, $4.70; GOOD ADVICE, $6.00, $5.70; EASY DAY, $5.30.

ESPINETTA, outrun for six furlongs, slipped through on the inside of the leaders when leaving the back stretch to take command with a rush and held sway through the final stages. GOOD ADVICE, a keen factor from the start, saved ground and finished on well although tiring badly at the end. EASY DAY, was taken up repeatedly and was steered extremely wide the last half mile. POPPYMAN, rated close to the pace, made a strong bid midway of the second turn, but weakened steadily in the final drive. ROYAL BLUNDER was in contention quarters during the back stretch. BOLD LOVER bore out at the far turn and collapsed badly.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:21. Off at 3:25½. Winner, L. H. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MODERN TIMES, $4.40, $3.40, $2.80; HORATIA (field), $7.60, $5.00; VANDAL, $42.00.

MODERN TIMES, under slight restraint for the first six furlongs, shook off MERIDIAN QUEEN, and withstanding a drive willingly, outlasted HORATIA. Latter, prominent throughout, made strong effort when entering the home stretch, but weakened under punishment. VANDAL moved into contention after the seventh furlong, could not reach the leaders. GALAHAD, very slow to settle in his stride, closed an immense gap. MERIDIAN QUEEN was done after seven furlongs. TRIPLE THREAT went forwardly and had no excuses. WOODCRAFT was outrun. DEEMSTER was steered very wide. ALDERSHOT was badly bothered at the first turn.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, driving. Went to post at 3:56. Off at 3:59½. Winner, S. L. Two-dollar mutuels paid—THURSDAY, $10.00, $6.00, $4.00; JODHPUR, $22.00, $10.10; NEGOPOLI, $2.70.

THURSDAY went into the lead without effort when midway of the back stretch, was steadied in front and drew out easily when shaken up. JODHPUR, going in his best form, worked his way up on the outside and closed with good courage. NEGOPOLI, away slowly, raced around wherever possible, weaved his way into contention, but was held safe during the final drive. RECEDE made too much use of and kept closer up than usual, weakened approaching the finish. GAY PARTY, shuffled back going to the first turn, was never a forward factor. BOCAP showed a dull effort. FIRE BRIGADE and FRESHET stopped.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:32. Off at 4:35. Winner, H. Gross' br. g. (4), by Buen Ojo—Mumie. Trained by F. H. Smith. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 3-5, 0:49 3-5, 1:14 4-5, 1:42 4-5, 1:56 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MONOCLE, $12.90, $6.10, $4.80; GULLY JUMPER, $7.10, $5.10; WORTHINGTON, $4.50.

MONOCLE, a very slow beginner and a trailer for seven furlongs, came to the outside when fully in stride, and closing with a belated rush was up in the final strides. GULLY JUMPER, as usual slow to settle in his stride, reached the leaders rapidly, assumed a brief lead inside the final furlong, but could not resist the winner. WORTHINGTON came with good energy in the final test. RENEWED was rushed off his feet to shake off TRAFFIC JUDGE and he flattened out. BLACK PRINCESS raced well. SWEET BUD made up ground in the late stages. TRAFFIC JUDGE was made entirely too much use of forcing the pace and stopped.

GONZAGA NO MATCH FOR WESTERN

Reynolds Is Star as Eye-Streeters Bow by 27-0 Score.

YESTERDAY was Red Reynolds Day at Western Stadium where the fleet half back led his team to a decisive victory over Gonzaga by a 27-0 count. Reynolds scored three of the winning touchdowns and kicked three placements.

The game was marked by the fumbling of the Gonzaga two. Two of Western's touchdowns came as direct results of recovered fumbles. The first of these occurred after only two minutes of play when Jumbo Krause, big Western tackle, flopped on Carr's fumble on Gonzaga's 20-yard line. Huck Hilleary took the ball across, after he and Reynolds had marched it down to the 10-yard line.

Reynolds Cuts Loose After First.

Then Reynolds let loose. He loped around end for 13 yards out to score his first tally in the second period; went over from the 3-yard line after Eckloff, Western guard, had recovered a fumble, in the third period and scored from the 9-yard line in the fourth period after he had placed the ball in scoring position with a fine 20-yard run through the Gonzaga team.

The Gonzagans never threatened.

Stocks Record 2.6 Losses As Sales Volume Mounts

Uncertainty Causes Selling; Turnover Piles Up to 1,201,515 Shares.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Stocks were spilled out of their rut by a moderate wash of selling today. The day before Thanksgiving saw a general letdown in financial markets.

Wall street felt that the debt situation had been a cause of unsettlement, especially since the ultimate solution seemed obscure. There was no pressing amount of stock for sale and much of the decline occurred in the first hour, when professionals were probably active, but the market, after more than three hours of dullness, underwent a further contraction of values in the late trading. Net losses fell in a 1 to 5 point range. Turnover increased to 1,201,515 shares. More than double yesterday's.

Rails tended to resist the early selling, their fairly steady tone being attributed to the better loadings statements issued by a few carriers, including New York Central. However, carrier issues alone were unable to hold up the list, and they, too, weakened. Santa Fe and Union Pacific lost more than 3 net, while Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific and Northern Pacific yielded at least a point.

Industrials found little comfort in the midweek trade statistics, which told of a sizable sag in steel-making and a smaller rise in electric power output than occurred a year ago. U. S. Steel, American Can, American Telephone, North American, Union Carbide and Du Pont were down 2 to 2¾, while Allied Chemical lost 4⅞ and Coca Cola 5. Westinghouse softened 3 and Loew's dropped nearly 4. Farm implements weakened with wheat. American Locomotive preferred sagged 2½ on the dividend omission.

From the Washington scene came President Hoover's debt statement and reiterations that prominent members of Congress who have opposed ether cancellation or revision had not changed their minds. The British pound sterling, breaking to another new low for the year, appeared to be expecting no relief from the December 15 payment. French currency, which would be less affected by a remittance to this country, was steady, but Belgian francs eased to a new 1932 minimum.

Freight traffic figures for last week provided some basis for encouragement. Statistics thus far received indicated that a fair upswing from the previous holiday week had occurred. Railroad earnings for October, reported to date, make a favorable comparison with a year ago, although gross in many instances is lower. Since 1931 the carriers have, of course, effected drastic economies, but there was a good improvement in shipments last month.

Stocks.

The moderate downward drift of stocks for the past week was pushed into a selling drive. Issues lost from 1 to 5 points. Sales turnover for the session mounted to 1,201,515 shares, more than double Tuesday's dealing. The average loss was 2.6 points. Foreign debt uncertainties were blamed. Rails resisted the decline.

Bonds.

Foreign and domestic problems sent bonds down two-tenths of a point. The sales volume increased to $7,861,000, the heaviest since November 11. Highest grade investment loans, including United States issues, held to steady positions, with fractional advances.

Curb.

The recent steady stand of Curb securities was broken and prices drifted lower. The sales volume climbed to 130,000 shares. Utility issues bore the brunt of liquidation. Industrials were irregular. Deere & Co. yielded a point. Oils lost a fraction.

Wheat.

December liquidation and war-debt difficulties sank wheat prices. An added bearish influence was a further decline in the English pound. Traders were skeptical about reports of a probable cut in elevator charges. December wheat sold at 42¾ to 42⅞ cents.

Cotton.

Prices broke into new low ground for yesterday's movement, caused by liquidation and scattered selling. The market's action was prompted by slumps in other exchanges. General quotations dropped 14 to 17 points. March contracts sold at 6.05. Liverpool reported trade calling with some Continental and Bombay buying.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading on the stock exchange was cheerful in the forenoon on a more hopeful view regarding the war debt payments and improved further after Chancellor Chamberlain's speech. Gilt-edged securities led the advance, which extended to the industrials and mining shares. The closing was steady with the exception of transatlantic issues, which eased in sympathy with lower Wall street prices.

Paris—A better feeling prevailed on the boerse, but the market was still inactive, waiting for the next development in the international question. The close was firm.

Berlin—Anticipating the advent of a new presidential government, trading was cheerful on the boerse and prices advanced one to two points. The closing was sustained.

BONDS CONTINUE SAG IN HEAVIER TRADING

Two-Tenths Loss Recorded as Sales Climb to $7,861,000.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The bond market stumbled over foreign and domestic uncertainties today and prices generally drifted toward lower levels.

The foreign section, especially, was under pressure, with losses in European and South American issues ranging from 1 to 3 or more points. In the domestic division, semispeculative loans were the principal sufferers.

At the same time, highest grade investment bonds, including the United States Government category, held to a steady position, with a number recording fractional advances.

Activity was accelerated on the down grade, sales totalin~ $7,861,000, par value. While this aggregation was still under normal, it was the largest since November 11. The Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for 00 domestic corporate loans was off two-tenths of a point.

Softness of foreign bonds was generally attributed to the international financial situation. The British pound sterling and Belgian currency broke to new lows for the year in the foreign exchange market.

While British 5½s were only ¼ of a point lower on the day and Belgian issues were only off ½ to ⅞ of a point, sharper losses were registered by bonds of Argentina, Australia, Brazil, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Finland, New South Wales, Queensland and Japan.

Domestic railroad liens that dropped a point or more included some of Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian National, Chesapeake Corporation, Chicago & Northwestern, Erie, Hudson & Manhattan, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, New Haven, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and Southern.

Among the firmer utilities were issues of Consolidated Gas, American Telephone, Bell Telephone of Pennsylvania, General Public Service, International Hydroelectric, Montana Power, New Orleans Public Service and Kansas Gas. Consolidated Gas 5s made a new high for 1932 and American Telephone debenture 5½s equaled their 1932 top mark..

Among the weaker issues were those of International Telephone, Western Union, Postal Telegraph, Loew's, Purity Bakery, U. S. Rubber, Utilities Power & Light and Interborough Rapid Transit.

Although the Federal department was rather quiet, Liberty 3½s and Treasury 3⅜s of 1940-43 equaled their year's high prices.

Larger Railroads Increase Freight Loads 24,000 Cars

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Following the downward trend from the mid-Octobed peak, carloadings of several of the larger railroads today reported substantial increases for the seven days ended last Saturday.

It was said in railroad circles that the gain could be attributed to the fact that the freight movement in the previous week was slowed down by two holidays—Election Day and Armistice Day.

According to estimates, an increase of about 24,000 cars over the previous week, or 4.7 per cent for the national total, is indicated for the weekly statement of carloadings due on Saturday. This is based on the loadings reported from nine roads for the week ended November 19.

Total cars of revenue freight handled by the New York Central Railroad System in the week ended November 19 were 90,697, compared with 82,788 in the preceding week and 101,285 in the same week last year. The decline from 1931 was 10.5 per cent, while in the preceding week the drop was 20.5 per cent.

Total loaded cars handled by the Pennnsylvania System for the same week were 83,595, of which 52,545 represented cars loaded on the company's lines and 31,650 received from connections. The total compares with 80,646 handled in the preceding week and 101,047 in the like 1931 week. The decrease from the 1931 week was 17.3 per cent, against a drop of 24.6 per cent shown by the preceding week from a year ago.

Cotton Goods Quiet.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Cotton goods showed preholiday quiet today. Rayon fabrics for spring are more active. Burlaps were easier. Linen suitings are selling moderately for spring. Dress fabrics for spring are being shown, and a fair amount of interest is shown in rabbit fur types.

Dried Fruits Unchanged.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Dried fruits steady, unchanged.

CURB PRICES LOWER ON SALES PRESSURE

Utilities Suffer the Most in Turnover Rise of 130,000 Shares.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—After several days of fairly steady prices, stock on the Curb Market turned downward today, although selling pressure was comparatively light. Transfers totaled about 130,000 shares against 110,000 yesterday.

The utilities bore the brunt of whatever liquidation was offered, although there appeared to be no great surprise over the weekly electric power production figures, made public today, which showed a slight gain over the preceding week, but still somewhat less than in the corresponding 1931 period.

Electric Bond & Share and American Gas & Electric dipped more than a point. American Superpower and United Light & Power "A" were a fraction lower. Cities Service and Niagara Hudson Power were about steady.

Reports that crude oil prices were beginnfng to waver after their advance of a month ago failed to influence the oil shares greatly. Gulf and Standard of Indiana receded only a small fraction each.

In the specialty group, some fairly sharp movements appeared. Aluminum Co. was down more than 3. A. O. Smith was off more than 2. Singer Manufacturing was an exception, gaining more than 2 points in a smal turnover.

Deere & Co. yielded a point, in sympathy with the decline in wheat prices.

Planting Coffee in Brazil Is Barred for 3 Years

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—President Getulio Vargas issued a decree today prohibiting the planting of coffee anywhere in Brazil for a period of three years.

Not only is the planting of new trees prohibited, but replanting on abandoned farms is forbidden.

The decree was issued on the theory that it would put a stop to overproduction and prevent increasing the already heavy surplus.

Eighteen million sacks of coffee are on hand now and the present crop exceeds anticipated exports.

The new decree supplements previous restrictions. Over a period of several months 10,400,000 sacks of coffee have been destroyed.

Vera Cruz Seeking Oil Curb Extension

Continuance of Embargo Against Huasteca Mills Is Asked.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The state government has filed a petition with the district court asking extension of the recent embargo against oil wells controlled by the Huasteca Oil Co. (The Eagle Oil Co. of the United States) to cover all oil sources in Mexico.

At present the embargo affects twelve wells, among them the famous "No. 4," which came in sixteen years ago with a production of 260,000 barrels a day. No. 4 is managed at present by an agent of the department of the interior.

That agent has filed a claim against the Huasteca Co. charging unpaid taxes, and including a personal claim for damages, charging infringement by the company upon his property included in the well franchise.

Company Will Exploit Sulphur in Louisiana

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The Freeport Texas Co. announced today that it had concluded arrangements for the development of sulphur properties in the southwestern part of Plaquemines Parish, La.

The company recently acquired development rights from the Shell Union Oil Co., Gulf Oil Corporation and the Humble Oil & Refining Co., which hold the properties under lease.

WHEAT VALUES SINK ON DECEMBER SALES

War Debts and Pound Drop Contribute to Downward Price Swing.

Chicago, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Under the shadow of fresh liquidation of December wheat contracts, all grain values suffered downturns today.

War-debt developments, together with new setbacks both in British exchange rates and New York stock market quotations, had a contributing bearish effect. Buying power was restricted because of tomorrow being a holiday, with all United States grain markets closed.

Wheat finished unsettled at almost the day's bottom, ⅞ to 1¼ net lower; corn, ½ to ¾ down; oats, ¼ to ½ off, and provisions unchanged to 25 cents decline.

Wheat Traders Skeptical.

Most wheat traders were frankly skeptical about reports that Chicago elevator charges for grain were soon likely to be cut. This attitude was responsible in the main for renewal of December liquidation, inasmuch as notwithstanding that the total of unsettled December wheat contracts had been reduced more than 8,000,000 bushels in the last 24 hours, about 43,000,000 bushels were still subject to immediate delivery at sellers' option the first day of the coming month. Such a huge amount delivered at undiminished storage expense would be regarded as a burden by most speculative contract holders, and they promptly undertook to unload but found pit demand meager.

Throughout the day, bullish news was at a discount. Unexpected temporary upturns in Liverpool wheat prices were ignored as a market influence, although attributed to well-sustained absorption of offerings abroad. Little attention either was paid to persistent drought reports from domestic winter-crop territory southwest and west, or to reiteration of authoritative private estimates that official figures on United States spring wheat production were 20,000,000 to 60,000,000 bushels too high. Argentine crop prospects remained favorable.

Corn and oats sold off with wheat despite enlarged shipping demand here for corn.

NORTH AMERICAN'S DIVIDEND REGULAR

Locomotive Company Omits Quarterly Payment of $1.75 on Preferred.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The North American Co. today declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent in stock on the common stock, payable January 3 to stock of record December 5. The regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on the preferred stock was also ordered, payable on the same date.

American Locomotive Co. today omitted the quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock.

Omission of the dividend terminates a 30-year record of payments at the regular annual rate of $7.

In nearly every year since 1920 up to last year the company showed a balance for the preferred far exceeding the $7 dividend. In 1931, however, earnings fell well below the preferred dividend requirements. Statistics on the locomotive business for this year indicate that the company's operations will result in a considerably larger deficit than last year's.

Remington Rand, Inc., reports net loss of $1,301,829 for the six months ended September 30, against a deficiency of $1,545,289 a year ago.

The Foundation Co. reports net loss of $91,712 for the nine months ended September 30, against loss of $327,073 in the same 1931 period.

Net railway operating income of railroads reporting for October, with 1931 comparisons, include:

	1932	1931
Erie System	$1,695,226	$1,373,682
Pere Marquette	218,665	258,710
St. Louis San Francisco	850,946	1,031,348

Wages and Employment Up in Hard Coal Area

Philadelphia, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank employment report, issued today, stated that employment in the anthracite industry increased 14 per cent and wage payments 42 per cent from September to October. The figures are based on reports furnished the anthracite bureau of information by 153 collieries employing more than 87,600 workers, receiving nearly $2,700,000 weekly.

The employment index for October was 62.1 and the pay roll index 56.0 per cent of the 1923-25 average. Both indexes were about 25 per cent lower than in October, 1931.

Electricity Output Higher for Week

Yield Is 11,000,000 Kilowatt Greater; Still Under '31 Period.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Electric power production in the United States rose about 11,000,000 kilowatt hours last week to a total of 1,531,584,000, but the percentage decline from a year ago was 7.5, compared with 6.3 in each of the previous weeks. In 1931 output showed a sharp gain in the corresponding week. The statistics are compiled by the National Electric Light Association.

The Atlantic seaboard's output last week was 7 per cent under 1931, against a drop of 3.2 in the previous week. New England alone was off 7.4 per cent, against 1 per cent in the week ended November 12.

The central industrial region's production was 9.2 per cent below a year ago, compared with 8.9 per cent in the previous week, while the Pacific Coast showed a 7.6 per cent decline, against 10.9.

COTTON PRICES CUT BY SELLING DRIVES

March Breaks to 6.05 as General Market Drops 14 to 17 Points.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Cotton prices broke into new low ground for the movement today under liquidation and scattered selling which appeared to be prompted by the action of the grain and stock markets.

March contracts broke to 6.05, or 3 points below the low level touched on the decline of last Government report day. The general market closed barely steady at net losses of 14 to 17 points.

The opening was 1 to 4 points higher in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables. There was some further trade, Liverpool and continental buying, but the demand was soon supplied and prices turned easier under liquidation.

Liquidation Becomes Active.

The liquidation became more active later as the decline brought out some of the cotton bought on recent rallies. Trade buying was encountered on a scale down, but in spite of this and some covering the lowest prices were reached in the late trading. December contracts broke to 5.90 and May to 6.15. Closing quotations were at or within a point of the lowest.

December liquidation in preparation for possible notices on Friday was again a feature. Trade interests continued to buy December against sales of the later months at about the recently prevailing differences.

Liverpool cables reported trade calling with scattered continental and Bombay buying in that market, and said there was a fair inquiry for cotton cloths in Manchester with differences in price views between buyers and sellers narrower.

A private crop reporting authority said that analysis of ginning returns to November 14 suggests a crop slightly in excess of 12,000,000 bales. Exports today, 41,860, making 2,808,030 so far this season. Port receipts, 44,728.

Cottonseed Oil.

Cottonseed oil closed weak; prime summer, yellow, 3.60; prime crude, 2.50@3.00. November, 3.65; December, 3.70; January, 3.74; March, 3.87; May, 4.00; June, 4.00. Sales, 13 contracts.

Rubber Futures Easier.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Crude rubber futures closed easier. Dec., 8.29@3.31; Jan., 3.36; March, 3.48@3.50; May, 3.55@3.56.

HOUGHTON TO BUILD 30-ROOM RESIDENCE

Largest Home Construction in Capital for Months Is Open for Bids.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Erection of the largest private residence to be started locally within the past twelve months may follow the opening of bids by Frederick H. Brooke, 1218 Connecticut avenue northwest, the architect, at noon December 3, for building a new home for Alanson B. Houghton, former Ambassador to Great Britain and Germany, to be located at 3001 Massachusetts avenue northwest.

A closed list reveals 17 firms preparing bids for the general construction, plumbing, heating and electrical work contracts in connection with the project which will be a limestone and brick structure of three stories and basement, approximately 94 feet wide by 68 feet deep.

Mr. Houghton, now residing in a fashionable apartment building at 1785 Massachusetts avenue, where Andrew Mellon, now Ambassador to Great Britain and former Secretary of the Treasury, lived, purchased the site of approximately 20,000 square feet from its out-of-town owners in 1931. A great deal of landscaping is planned for the lot.

30 Rooms Planned.

Plans provide for a dwelling of more than 30 rooms and with a cubical content of 200,000 feet. Basement plans call for a maids' laundry, drying room, general laundry, incinerator, three large storage rooms, boiler room, automatic lift and plant for a vapor-heating system.

First-floor plans now contemplate an entrance lobby of pink Tennessee marble, a large, open, hall stairway extending from first to third floors, with a drawing room, 20 by 38 feet, and a dining room, 38 by 18 feet, to the left. Past these is a wing containing a large pantry, kitchen, pressing room and servants' hall.

On the right of the lobby is a library, 45 by 33 feet, with built-in bookcases, a private study, a flagstone-floored loggia and secretary's office. Both library and dining room will open on a flag-stoned terrace. Cloakrooms, lavatories and a flower room complete the present first-floor plan.

On the second floor, under present arrangements, there will be three bedrooms, sitting room and a wing devoted to servants' quarters on the left and on the right a sleeping porch, boudoir and four baths, one for servants. There are two more bedrooms and two fully equipped baths on the third floor, plans for which are completed by servants' quarters, servants' bath and trunk room. There is ample cedar closet space throughout the house.

Firms Considering Bids.

Firms to submit bids for the general contract are Davis, Wick, Rosengarten Co., Inc., 1406 G street northwest; Charles H. Tompkins Co., 1608 K street northwest; Andrew Murray, 4100 Ingomar street northwest; R. Wilmer Bolling, 1822 M street northwest; H. A. McQuary, 7601 Twelfth street northwest.

Electrical work bidders will be Capital Electric Co., 1829 Fourteenth street northwest; E. C. Ernst, 1634 Fourteenth street northwest; Biggs & Kirchner, 713 Sixth street northwest; L. L. Hayes, 1618 Hamlin street northeast.

Bidding for the plumbing contract will be Maurice J. Colbert Co., Inc., 1908 M street northwest; John J. Daly, 1724 Fifteenth street northwest; George W. Hanes, Inc., 1219 I street northwest; Robert J. Barrett, 2539 Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

Bids on the heating will be submitted by Maurice J. Colbert Co., Inc.; Slyder-Clough Heating Co., 910 Tenth street northwest; Morris & Eagan Co., 2143 K street northwest; Zellers & Co., 2035 K street northwest. M. S. Rich, 1427 I street northwest, is structural engineer for the project and M. S. Cooley, 5 East Irving street, Chevy Chase, Md., the mechanical engineer.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Financial markets in the United States will be closed tomorrow in observance of Thanksgiving Day.

Loadings of the Rock Island Railroad System last week totaled 19,786 cars, compared with 19,343 in the previous week and 25,601 a year ago.

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday, the weekly condition report of the Federal Reserve System will be issued on Friday. Brokers' loans, also usually released on Thursday, will be held over until Saturday.

Omission of the preferred dividend on American Locomotive Co. after continuous payments at the $7 rate since the company's organization more than 30 years ago, is regarded by Wall street as another strong commentary on the adverse conditions affecting the railroad equipment industry during the past few years.

The New York Stock Exchange has advised railroads whose securities are listed on the exchange that in the future no deviation from the rule requiring the filing of annual statements fifteen days in advance of annual meetings will be permitted except under unusual circumstances. This action by the exchange is in line with its policy of requiring corporations to conform to the letter of its listing requirements.

ORDERS FOR STEEL LESS DURING WEEK

Recession Cuts Ingot Yield to 16 Per Cent Capacity; Detroit Is Exception.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—A recession in new orders for finished steel starting in late October became more pronounced in the past week, resulting in a drop in the country's ingot output to 16 per cent of capacity, against 19 per cent last week, Iron Age said today.

"Exceptions to the downward trend," said the review, "are to be found in the Detroit district, where production is at 24 per cent, against 13 per cent in recent weeks, and at Birmingham, where there has been some resumption by steel-making units following a drop to about 10 per cent last week."

The review asserted that prospects for the remainder of the year are not especially good, owing to year-end inventory considerations and general uncertainty as to congressional action on such pressing problems as foreign debts, the Federal budget, taxation and the tariff.

"Although there may be a slight rise in steel-making activity next week," the review continued, "the attention of the trade is centered largely on the new year and the possibilities for a seasonal rise in orders and production during the first quarter. The automobile industry is the most promising source of steel tonnage after the turn of the year. A moderate expansion in production by farm equipment manufacturers for spring trade is one of the fairly certain developments of the coming quarter, as agricultural machinery stocks in the hands of both makers and dealers are virtually exhausted."

Receivers Appointed For Theatrical Club

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—A receiver was appointed today for all property of the Friars, famous theatrical club which has numbered among its members many of the world's greatest actors. The receiver was appointed because the club was unable to pay a bill of $1,130.44 for butter, eggs and cheese.

Supreme Court Justice Joseph M. Callahan appointed an attorney to take charge of the club's property. The receiver was appointed at the request of George Ehlenberger & Co., dealers in butter, eggs and cheese. In its complaint the company alleged that the club had not paid a judgment obtained in city court more than a year ago to satisfy a bill for food furnished the club's dining room.

Special to The Washington Post.

UNIVERSITY, Va., Nov. 23.—One more link in the chain of the oldest gridiron rivalry between Southern Conference rivals will be forged when Virginia and North Carolina meet in Scott Stadium tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Tarheels and Cavaliers both had their final drills today. The visitors from Chapel Hill are spending the night just over the mountain ridge to the southeast, in Orange, where they practiced this afternoon. Virginia's brief workout in the stadium consisted largely of a final swift signal running.

North Carolina has been credited with an edge over Virginia by dopesters who have compared the records of the rivals. But they have noted how often it has happened in the past that the underdog has bitten a hole in the dope container.

Virginia Team Heavier.

Virginia's eleven probable starters will together weigh close to 1 ton. Carolina's men will scale something less. The Cavaliers have a line weight advantage of about 4 pounds to the man, and have an even greater superiority in the back field.

Virginia's advantage will disappear when substitutions are made. Coach Fred Dawson will, in almost every position, be forced to replace heavy men by players much lighter. Coach Chuck Collins, on the other hand, can fill in with several 200-pound tackles, 195-pound guards and centers, and the like.

The probable line-ups, with individual weights, follow:

Virginia.	Position.	North Carolina.
Condon (175)	L. E.	(170) Walker
Foss (192)	L. T.	(200) Hodges
Tompkins (170)	L. G.	(174) Barclay
Reiss (C) (188)	Center.	(200) Underwood
Dial (174)	R. G.	(175) Kahn
Burger (189)	R. T.	(190) Smith
Wyatt (198)	R. E.	(174) Brandt
Johnson (190)	Q. B.	(157) Burnette
Rippley (163)	L. H.	(170) Phipps
Stevens (156)	R. H.	(148) Daniel
Berger (178)	F. B.	(162) Chandler

Referee—Foster (Hampden-Sydney). Umpire—Brewer (Maryland). Field Judge—Ervine (Drake). Head linesman—Tolley (Sewanee).

Penn Cadets to Battle Annapolis St. John's

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 23.—An old gridiron rivalry that dates back 35 years, but in which there has been a hiatus since 1929, will be resumed tomorrow at Chester, Pa., when Pennsylvania Military College and St. John's College, of Annapolis, will clash.

In bygone years these teams always fought on "Turkey Day," to climax their seasons. St. John's formerly was in the category of a military school, and rivalry was born largely from the prowess of the respective institutions along that line.

M. Talbot (Tody) Riggs, head coach at St. John's, will take a squad of 23 players to the Pennsylvania city, leaving here early tomorrow morning. The local lads will enter the game under a handicap of injuries, similar to that which has beset them for the last four weeks. Capt. Lou Scheffanacker and Carl MacCartee, regular field men, are in poor condition and will not even make the trip. Though P. M. C. appears by far the stronger team, the Johnnies will make a determined effort to end their campaign with victory. Losing five out of seven games is a poor record for a St. John's team. They defeated Oswego Teachers and St. Joseph's, of Philadelphia, in the first games of the schedule, but bowed to Hopkins, Virginia, Maryland, Lafayette and Hampden-Sidney.

G. W. AND OKLAHOMA AWAIT CLASH TODAY

dynamic G. W. coeds, a cannon (for celebrating G. W. touchdowns), two big bands and an extra special stunt which no amount of reportorial cajolery could wring from him.

First Home-Coming For G. W.

It is the first home-coming game in the 112-year-old history of the school, and completes a schedule and season unparalleled in the annals of the institution. G. W.'s alumni, which heretofore has been about as active as the corner stone of the new Commerce Department, is worked up into a patriotic lather and has taken two entire sections in the stadium. The Oklahoma State Society will be there to sing "I'd Sooner Be a Sooner" in company with the 100-piece Oklahoma University Band.

The time: 2:30 o'clock. The place: Griffith Stadium. The prices: From 50 cents to $1.50. The track: A bit damp. Probable attendance: The sunny side of 30,000. The prospects: A hard, even game, in which the breaks should rule the result.

TOURNEY AT BUFFALO.

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—John E. Parker, jr., president of the Intercollegiate Golf Association, today announced that the course of the Country Club of Buffalo had been selected as the scene of the 1933 intercollegiate championship. The tournament will be played the week of June 26.

FRED MORRISON WINS.

Pasadena, Calif., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Fred Morrison, Sturdy Agua Caliente, Mexico, open champion, today won the California open golf title with a 72-hole card of 275, nine under par. He shot 67s on successive days and turned in a 69 in the morning, and a 72 final round today to cinch first place money of $900.

GRID DOUBLE-HEADER.

The Silver Spring Giants will play a double-header today for some unknown reason. At 11 o'clock they play the Rebels and at 1 o'clock they meet the Rock Creek Servicenter.

K. C. FIVE AT BALTIMORE.

Knights of Columbus 118-pound quint will play the Easterwood five of Baltimore this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the former's hall.

CONGRESS PLAYERS, NOTE.

Congress Heights A. C. players are requested to appear at the field this morning at 10:30 o'clock for practice in preparation for the game with the Northeast Trojans at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Anderson Thrills With Cue Tricks

Trick-Shot Artist Gives Exhibition at Lewis & Krauss.

Clarence Anderson, young Kane, Pa., trick-shot pocket-billiard artist, who is generally acclaimed "king of the small tables," more than lived up to advance press notices in an exhibition last night at the Lewis & Krauss parlors.

Two factors which differed from the run-of-the-mine exhibitions of this kind was Kane's ability to usually make the shots he attempted on his first trial and the speed with which he set up the balls for the shots.

More than 40 trick and fancy shots were run off before an enthusiastic gallery, his repertoire covering every phase of the billiard game, even to the Chinese chopstick style.

Later in the evening Anderson journeyed to Alexandria, where he made hits both at the Elks Club and at Lyle's billiard parlors.

Steponovich Dropped From St. Mary's Team

Moraga, Calif., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—For failure to observe training rules, Mike Steponovich, star guard of the St. Mary's Football Team, today was dropped permanently from the squad. Angel Brovelli, full back, was restored to good standing, but will not be allowed to leave the campus for the balance of the scholastic year without written permission.

The board of athletic control said the players failed "to adequately explain why they had not returned from Los Angeles with the rest of the team after the U. C. L. A. game, November 11."

Brovelli will be eligible to play in the game against Oregon in San Francisco tomorrow, but Steponovich's absence is expected to handicap the Gaels.

Fisher's Morse Code Showing Form Return

Special to The Washington Post.

Bowie, Md., Nov. 23.—Frank Bray, who trains Morse Code for Bud Fisher, cartoonist, is playing for high stakes in Havana racing. The 4-year-old son of Sporting Blood—Nellie Morse, which went wrong at the height of his 2-year-old form in getting ready for the Florida Derby, now is said to be sound and turning in swift trials in Maryland. Fisher, sharing Bray's confidence, is manifesting unusual interest in the progress the colt is making.

Leg trouble caused Morse Code to be retired to the farm of Thomas Piatt in Kentucky. In the interval, he has attained a height of 16.1, filled out to nearly perfect proportion and is a grand looker, according to Bray.

Morse Code was brought from Kentucky to Laurel. Over that course, he has been doing all that has been asked in a manner more than pleasing to his handler. Morse Code, never sent to the post, is well-mannered, seemingly aware of the requirements he is expected to meet. Bray insists that the colt has the speed of his dam, a Preakness winner.

North Carolina Beats Virginia Netmen, 7-2

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 23 (A.P.).—The University of North Carolina Tennis Team, which has lost only one game in three seasons, started its fourth season today with a 7-to-2 victory over the University of Virginia netters.

The most colorful match saw Hines, of Carolina, defeat Morrison, of Virginia, 8—6, 7—5.

SINGLES — Hines (Carolina) defeated Morrison, 8—6, 7—5; Bowen (Virginia) defeated Harris, 6—2, 6—3; Taylor (Virginia) defeated Morgan, 4—6, 11—9, 6—4; Willis (Carolina) defeated Hedges, 6—4, 6—4; Minor (Carolina) defeated Fletcher, 6—2, 6—1; Levitan (Carolina) defeated Rohman, 7—5, 6—4.

DOUBLES—Hines and Morgan defeated Bowen and Taylor, 6—1, 3—6, 8—6; Harris and Levitan defeated Morrison and Hedges, 4—6, 6—3; Minor and Willis defeated Fletcher and Rohman, 6—3, 6—1.

CELTICS SEEK GAME.

Cancellation of the Mohawk-St. Mary's Celtic game yesterday forced Manager Buck Grier of the latter team to look around for a game Sunday. Teams interested in scheduling a contest are requested to call him at Columbia 7108.

MARTINO ARRAIGNED.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 23.—Vincent Martino, 31 years old, a former Georgetown University athlete and now a politician, was arraigned before Magistrate Emmett J. Dugan, on five charges of election fraud. At the request of State Senator Emerson L. Richards, his counsel, the case was continued until next Tuesday. Seventeen arrests have been made in similar cases since election day, and more warrants are being prepared, according to Magistrate Dugan.

OHIO U. PLAYS PURDUE.

Athens, Ohio, Nov. 23 (A.P.).—Purdue, runner-up in the Big Ten football race this season, will replace Indiana on the 1933 Ohio University gridiron schedule, university officials said today. The game is scheduled October 7, at Lafayette. Indiana has been the opening attraction for the Bobcats for three years, Ohio U. winning the first meeting and Indiana taking the next two by 1-point margins.

Hitting the Headpin

TWO all-time records were set in the Bankers League at the Arcadia bowling alleys last night by the W. B. Hibbs & Co., which shot a high team game of 647 and high team set of 1,810.

Clark, of the victors, hit the maples for a 398 set, while he tied with Howard, Osborne and Souder for high game honors at 146.

Cook, of Reciprocity, shot a 130 to win high game honors in the Civic Club League at Arcadia last night. Tilley, of Kiwanis, with 358, had high set. Kiwanis' 584 won high team game honors, while the same team tallied the highest set with 1,599.

Edwards, of Tornadoes, reeled off a 136 for high game honors, and Beyer, of Ladkatz, had a 365 for high set. Wrecking Crew's 558 and Little Potatoes' 1,532 featured for the teams.

Bazzuro Engineering Co. maintained its hold on first place in the North Washington League, Section 3, last night at Silver Spring alleys. The team led with a set of 1,627 and a high game of 600. Clarence Fling, of Dudley-Kiefer, reeled off high set with 371, while George Culp, of Independent Oil Co., shot the high game, 147.

The Arcade Bowling Alleys are giving silver dollars to the high game for men and women today.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

11-24-32

THE great American holiday, Thanksgiving, was not uniformly observed throughout the United States until more than 200 years after the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock. Although George Washington proclaimed a day of thanksgiving during his term of office and other Presidents set aside thanksgiving days for one or another reason, President Lincoln was the first President to name the last Thursday in November as the annual day of thanksgiving.

Since Lincoln's proclamation in 1863, it has been the custom of United States Presidents to set aside this same day as Thanksgiving Day. The holiday is a tradition. It is not a national legal holiday.

Lincoln's proclamation resulted from a long and vigorous campaign by Sarah Josepha Hale, editor of "Godey's Lady's Book," for the observance of a national Thanksgiving Day. Mrs. Hale's efforts toward universal observance of the day in America won for her the title of "mother of Thanksgiving Day," although she was born 167 years after the Pilgrims gathered around their meager board in 1621 to give thanks for their first harvest.

Strange as it seems, the traditional bird of the Thanksgiving feast, the turkey, is in no way connected with Turkey. In fact it is the only domesticated fowl which is a native of America. In Turkey the bird is called, quite properly, the American Bird.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

THE ONCE OVER

H. I. PHILLIPS

AFTER IT'S OVER.

NOW that it's over,
Now that it's done,
What does it matter—
What have we won?
Who'd ever know it?
What's there to show
It was worth all our Worrying so?

Now that the counting's
Finished and through,
What will it get us?
What's it to you?
Isn't your bridge game
Clearly as bad?
Isn't your golf swing
Still pretty sad?

Isn't the soup still
Thin as the rain?
Doesn't the coal bill
Give you a pain?
When you play poker
What have you got?
Who holds the aces?
Who takes the pot?

Now that the people's Verdict is known,
What has it proven,
What has it shown?
Isn't the pie crust
Still pretty tough?
Isn't your coffee
Terrible stuff?

Isn't the mattress
Still like a plank?
Isn't the "Closed" sign
Still on the bank?
Doesn't the laundry
Still tear your shirts?
Doesn't the landlord
Still answer "nerts?"

What if the peepul's
Voice has been heard,
Doesn't your wife still
Get the last word?
What if the "outs" have Now been put in,
Aren't your pants still
Shiny and thin?

Aren't your phone calls
Still put through wrong?
Doesn't the red light
Last just as long?
Doesn't a north wind
Still chill the house?
Isn't the country
Still Mickey Mouse?

Aren't the crooners
Still on the air?
(Ask for a recount—
See if I care!)
Doesn't the roof still
Leak in a rain?
Darn that election—
Let's vote again!

NOT OVERWORKED.

ELMER TWITCHELL had a pretty soft election-day job. He was official counter for the vote for Upshaw, the Prohibition party's candidate.

Timid Turk

Gobbler Fears Beheading and Flees; Chase Is Free-for-All.

It may have been a turkey's premonition, but it is more likely that some one forgot to latch his coop securely.

Anyway, an old-fashioned turkey chase was enacted in the 400-block of Florida avenue northwest yesterday afternoon, with women and children, and finally the police taking part.

The frightened turkey gobbler, weighing about 20 pounds, flew from house-top to house-top, scurrying out of reach of his pursuers. Policemen A. L. Embrey and E. G. Warren, of the Second Precinct, who responded to the call about a turkey being at large, finally brought about its capture, with Warren making the "catch" after pursuing the bird over several roofs.

The gobbler was being held last night at the Second Precinct station, pending the final disposition of its case.

Teachers Discuss Credit Union Plan

Salary Cuts and Collapse of Promotion Among Subjects Studied.

Development of a credit union was made the basis of study last night by the Washington Elementary Teachers Union at a meeting held in the parlors of the Phyllis Wheatley Young Women's Christian Association, called for expansion of that body to include the entire colored teaching personnel of the public schools. The union also directed that a committee be appointed for exhaustive study of a new rating sheet for teachers.

Legislation affecting status of teachers, who would have reached class D or class B except for pay cuts and failures of promotions, was also made the basis for study.

The meeting also was addressed by Edward H. Lawson, former president, and by E. L. Scott, president of Federal Employes Union, No. 71. The union directed reaffiliation with the Central Labor Union, and affiliation with the Union of Federal Employes. Reports were made by Miss Nancy Atwood, Miss Juanita Howard and Mrs. Mary Mason Jones, president of various activities during the summer and fall. Mrs. E. B. King was chairman of the committee on program.

$78 Is Stolen From Home.

Miss Jennie Alpert, of 1709 Euclid street northwest, reported last night that $78 in cash was stolen from her home. She said the screen was clipped and lock jimmied by the burglars.

RETURN OF SALOONS IMPOSSIBLE, POLING TELLS CHURCH BODY

Declares Young People Will Block Revival in Any Form; Talk Cheered.

The young people of the Christian churches will never consent to the return of the saloon in any guise, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, editor of The Christian Herald and prominent prohibitionist, declared last night before a mass meeting of the Christian Endeavor Union of the District at the Church of the Covenant.

This assertion was greeted with prolonged applause from the congregation of 800 which was composed for the most part of young men and women from Christian Endeavor Unions in the Protestant churches of Washington.

Dr. Poling declared that work against the liquor traffic is not half done, and that the Christian Endeavor can contribute a great deal toward the task by conducting an educational program in "telling the truth about alcohol."

Objectives Praised.

The union, he siad, is also presented with a great opportunity to bring about peace and good will throughout the world.

Dr. Poling's address was part of a Nation-wide campaign he is conducting to obtain funds for the Christian Endeavor Union, of which he is international president. He revealed that the organization has suffered considerably from the depression, necessitating the reduction of staff officers.

He praised the objectives of the union as an incentive toward uniting young people and cited reasons why he is a whole-hearted worker for the cause. His address was preceded by a banquet attended by the presidents of the various unions of the District and the pastors of the churches represented. He was introduced by Dr. Darrell Crain, president of the District unions.

View on Robins' Case.

Asked after the meeting by a Post reporter for his opinion on the disappearance of Col. Raymond Robins, of whom he is a close friend, Dr. Poling expressed his emphatic belief that the dry leader was the victim of amnesia. He heatedly discounted the allegations he said had been made "in more sensational newspapers that Dr. Robins is faking."

"I had lunch with Dr. Robins the day he disappeared," Dr. Poling revealed, "and he appeared to be perfectly normal. I believe that he was stricken suddenly with the lapse of memory."

Ideal of Sharing Urged In Speech to Rotarians

A world based on the ideal of sharing is the challenge of this Thanksgiving, the Rev. Russell J. Clinchy, of the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, told the Washington Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting yesterday at Willard Hotel.

"In times of depression like the present life becomes real in a deeper sense," he said. "We realize more fully our personal responsibilities as citizens and we develop what might be termed sharing communities. This ideal should be carried forward into the future."

Old Ironsides Plaque Will Honor Children

The part school children of the United States played in restoring Old Ironsides will be memorialized in a bronze plaque to be placed on board the historic warship before it sails from Washington December 10, it was revealed yesterday.

A contest to determine the best wording for the plaque is being conducted among the pupils of the George Mason High School in Alexandria, Va. The Constitution's commanding officer, Commander Louis J. Gulliver, addressed the school yesterday and expressed his gratitude for the interest taken by the children of America in the ship.

$276 in Clothing Stolen.

Clothing valued at $276 was reported stolen from the apartment of Mrs. Grace Jones at 304 F street northwest. The door of the apartment was jimmied.

SCENES IN CAPITAL ON EVE OF ANNUAL DAY OF THANKS

Post Staff Photos.

GRANT MAY REQUEST VACANCIES BE FILLED

Park Director Is Expected to Ask Treasury to Free Impounded Funds.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, Director of Public Buildings and Parks, may request that impounded funds in the Treasury, placed there through the operation of the economy act, be released in order that vacancies in his force may be filled.

Col. Grant's office has been especially hard hit by the economy legislation, as the appropriation for salaries has been slashed about $500,000. Furloughs as long as four months were made necessary. Many employes went to postiions in other departments, where reduction was not so sharp.

He feels that he should allow the release of his employes who are bettering themselves by securing positions in departments where no administrative furloughs have been necessary.

Practically all employes of Col. Grant's office have so take a 30-day administrative furlough, in addition to the 30 legislative furlough made necessary by the 8 1-3 per cent salary cut. Ten days of the administrative furlough must be taken by December 1.

Gala Show Opening Feature Of First G. W. Homecoming

Glee Club's Selections and Skits on Program; Round of Events to End Tonight With Dance at the Mayflower.

George Washington University last night paraded its notables and activities across the stage at Washington Auditorium in a gala show of fun before more than 5,000 alumni, students and faculty members in honor of the university's first homecoming.

It was a show from the overture by the university band until the combined men's and women's glee clubs rang down the final curtain three hours later with a group of selections.

President Cloyd Heck Marvin opened the festivities with a serious note in which he called attention to the university's progress in the last few years, and paid tribute to the response of the alumni to the first homecoming.

He was followed by Dr. Daniel L. Borden, president of the General Alumni Association, who lauded President Marvin and Jim Pixlee, football coach, in a brief address.

Pixlee was next called to the stage. Enthusiastically applauded, he told his hearers they should be justly proud of their football team, which will close the season today with the home-coming game with Oklahoma University.

The team did not attend the gathering as scheduled, but a group of coeds in the suits of the "big team," entertained on the stage with a feminine idea of football, featuring the forward pass.

Both glee clubs, men's and women's, sang groups of selections and closed the show singing together.

A group of campus beauties, in costumes from Frank R. Jelleff's, representing the Pan-Hellenic Association of sororities, were seen in a fashion show.

The university's fraternities burlesqued their own activities in a skit which included a performance by the campus "male chorus." Skits by freshmen and sophomores were presented. Faculty members and campus personalities were satirized in the sophomore skit.

A scene from last year's production of the "Trobadours," "Happy Landings," was a major part of the night's events. Included among the performers were Ruth Molyneaux, who sang, and Marjorie Mitchell and Sock Kennedy, tap dancers.

The homecoming will end today. The big event will be the football game at Griffith Stadium. The windup will come with a reception and dance at the Mayflower Hotel.

WALES IS GRANTED OFFICE CONTINUANCE

Hoover Order Prevents Age Retirement of Civil Service Official.

President Hoover granted a continuance to Commissioner George R. Wales, of the Civil Service Commission, when he reached the retirement age of 70 years yesterday.

It was reported that Mr. Wales, who worked in the commission for 37 years, had submitted his resignation to the President. Had it been accepted, it was learned, he would have been eligible for another Government post. Had he been retired he would not be eligible for reappointment.

Mr. Wales was affected by the retirement clause of the economy act because he rose from the ranks in the commission, thus retaining his Civil Service status.

William H. McReynolds, director of Classification of the personnel classification board, has been reported as under consideration for the commissionership.

Troupers in Debut Tomorrow.

The first offering of the Troupers of East Washington Community Center for the 1932-33 season will be given tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock in Eastern High School auditorium at Seventeenth and East Capitol streets. The opening seasonal presentation will be "The Wolf at the Door," by Daniel E. Hanlon, and "Babbitt's Boy," by Glenn Hughes, and will be under the direction of Arthur Rhodes.

1,500 Attend Elks Ball; Proceeds Will Help Poor

More than 1,500 persons attended the thirteenth annual charity ball held under auspices of the Washington Lodge of Elks in the grand ballroom of the Willard Hotel last night.

Proceeds of the ball will be used to aid Washington's poor at Christmas time and to entertain orphans on an annual outing, the date of which has not been set. Joseph J. Leary, chairman of the social committee, will distribute between 400 and 500 Christmas baskets this year.

More than $15,000 is expended annually by the lodge in dispensing charity.

Among the prominent persons present at the ball were Leonard M. Gawler, exalted ruler of the Elks, and Mrs. Gawler; William S. Shelby, former assistant superintendent of police, and Mrs. Shelby; Mr. and Mrs. Harry King, Dr. John Ready, Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, Charles L. Rouse, chairman of the ball committee, and Mr. and Mrs. David LaPort.

Music was furnished by the official Elks Orchestra, under leadership of David McWilliams.

Man Given 20 Years For Murder in Brawl

A sentence of 20 years in the penitentiary was meted out to Erwin McFadden, colored barber, yesterday in the District Supreme Court by Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue. McFadden pleaded guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree.

The charge against McFadden was that he cut the throat of James C. Havenner, at 320 C street southwest, on May 17. The pair had been drinking, McFadden said, and an argument arose.

Thieves Get $1,440 In Women's Clothing

After a complete check, police last night announced that furs and dresses totaling $1,440 in value were stolen from N. Pasternak, a woman's clothing store at 1219 Connecticut avenue, Tuesday night.

It was at first thought that only a few dresses had been taken by the thieves, who fled when a burglar alarm sounded.

Osborne Radio Contest Won by Pauline Loria

Pauline Loria, 23, an employe of the Bureau of Engraving, last night was adjudged to have the best radio voice in the Will Osborne radio contest. She was presented with a silver cup given by the radio star, and will receive a contract to broadcast with the Osborne Orchestra.

Clare Borjes won second place in the contest, in which more than 400 girls participated. Albert Miller, jr., pianist, was judged the best junior artist. The auditions were held under Osborne's supervision during the last week at studios of WOL.

TRAFFIC TOLL TO DATE.

Stop! Look! Listen! Is a driving motto applicable not only to railroad crossways, but to busy intersections, when drawing away from the curb and on the approach of an emergency siren. Washington police and traffic experts are starting a drive to reduce the number of fatalities and injuries due to traffic, and it is only through a full measure of cooperation of the citizenry that their efforts can be successful.

To date there have been 45 more deaths and 237 more injuries than during the corresponding period of 1931. The number of accidents has decreased by 415. The figures are:

	1931.	1932.
Deaths	69	114
Injuries	3,196	3,432
Accidents	7,454	7,039

HRDLICKA LECTURES ON FIRST AMERICANS

Race of 2,000 Years Ago Is Described by Curator at Museum.

More than 300 interested Washingtonians were conducted on a tour back through 2,000 years, to the time when the ancients first started migrating to America by way of Alaska, by Ales Hrdlicka, curator of physical anthropology of the United States National Museum, in the museum auditorium last night.

It has been definitely proved that some sort of race inhabited parts of Alaska more than 2,000 years ago by Mr. Hrdlicka, as he has spent seven years excavating the Island of Kodiak, a large island just off the southern peninsula of the coast of Alaska. This year he brought back many interesting remains dug out of 15 feet of hard glacerial ground.

He accompanied his lecture last night with many photographs taken last season, of actual digging and finds, which consisted of peculiarly shaped skulls, skeletons, housing facilities, utensils and fighting materials. These objects are now on display at the Natural History Museum.

Mr. Hrdlicka who during the past seven years has spent each summer excavating with two or three students of research by means of shovel, pick and wheelbarrow, without the use of any mechanical device, is satisfied that the remains found during his excavations are those of the first people to migrate to this country. Some of the remains have been found 15 feet underground, presumably just as they were left 2,000 years ago.

Woman Dies From Gas; Found in Home by Son

Mrs. Amy Seely, 52, of 1613 Isherwood street northeast, was discovered in an unconscious condition sitting at a table in the kitchen of her home yesterday with gas flowing from all of the jets on a range. Her son, Frank Seely, discovered his mother. She was pronounced dead by a Casualty Hospital physician.

A note found beside her on the table read: "This is the only way out, dear."

Blow of Cleaver Routs Bandit Trio

Suspect Picked up Shortly After Holdup Has Arm Removed.

His arm nearly severed, a colored man was being held at Freedmen's Hospital yesterday under police guard as a suspected member of the trio of bandits who entered a delicatessen at 1256 Ninth street northwest, late Tuesday night, and were thwarted in their attempts to rob the store by Felice D. Caprino, who fought them off with a meat cleaver.

Caprino, who captured a holdup man who tried to rob him two years ago, swung the cleaver when the trio drew guns. He told police that he slashed one of the men and fought the others off. Show cases and a glass door were smashed in the melee.

William Hill, 21, colored, of Portsmouth, Va., was later found wandering in the street at Seventh and T streets northwest, and was taken to the hospital, where the injured arm was amputated. He was charged with investigation.

LEVIN, SEIZED PRIOR TO BIG LIQUOR RAID, OUT ON $1,500 BOND

Trial Is Set for December 2; His Lawyer Announces He Will Fight Charge.

Bert Levin, 27, who was arrested Tuesday night just prior to one of the largest seizures of fine liquors and wines ever made in the District of Columbia, valued at approximately $13,000, was released on a $1,500 bond yesterday when he was arraigned in Police Court on a charge of transportation of liquor.

According to police and prohibition agents, there were 33 quarts of liquor in his car when he was arrested at Seventh and Farragut streets northwest.

1,100 Quarts Are Taken.

Shortly after the arrest, the police went to a house on Seventh street extended, where they found about 1,100 quarts of assorted liquors.

The contraband, which included champagne, wine and grain alcohol, was taken, but no one was arrested and thus far no one has been charged with owning it.

According to members of the raiding squad headed by Deputy Prohibition Administrator William R. Blandford, they had the Seventh street house under observation for some time, and Tuesday night saw a car emerge from a garage in the rear. They followed it to Seventh and Farragut streets and arrested the driver, Levin.

Levin, through Attorney Harold Hawken, announced his intention of fighting the charge. His formal arraignment and trial will be on December 2.

Prof. Winn Lectures On Accident Liability

The "family purpose" doctrine, under which the head of a household is held financially responsible for acts committed by members of the family while driving the family motor car, is now accepted by almost 24 States, it was declared yesterday by Prof. R. H. Winn, of the Southeastern University School of Law, in a radio addreess over Station WMAL.

Liability thus placed on the owner of the car, he explained, arises not merely because of the legal relationship of parent to child, but because of the rule of agency. He argued that since the parent purchased the car for the pleasure of himself and family, children who drive it are carrying out the father's purpose in obtaining the car and are, therefore, his agents, for whose acts he is responsible.

Boy Scout Stamp Club Announces Cover Cachet

For the benefit of those interested in collecting first-day and historic covers and envelopes mailed and postmarked from various spots of historical importance, the Boy Scout Stamp Club of Washington, D. C., will sponsor a cachet on covers sent to them prior to December 10.

The cachet pictures a Scout seated gazing admiringly at a portrait of George Washington while across the top are the words, "Boy Scout Stamp Club of Washington, D. C.," and across the bottom, "Anniversary of Washington's Death, December 14, 1932." The cachet will be applied to covers received, after which they will be taken to the postoffice at Mount Vernon, Va., to be mailed on December 14.

Trade Board Suggests U. S. Lease of Airport

Recommendation that Washington-Hoover Airport be leased and operated by the Federal Government, with the option of purchase for a sum not to exceed $2,000,000, was made yesterday by the aviation committee of the Washington Board of Trade, in a report to the board of directors.

The committee urged that the trade board be represented if hearings are held on the McMillan bill, providing for this disposition of the airport. This action was taken following a study of the bill by Lawrence Williams, chairman of the committee.

Man Bruised and Cut When Struck by Car

Charles S. Easterling, 74, 1223 Euclid street northwest, suffered severe cuts and bruises last night when struck by the car of Clarence C. Appler, 19, 1407 Terry place northwest, near Fourteenth and Euclid streets northwest. He had just stepped from the street car loading platform.

Mr. Easterling was treated at Garfield Hospital, where it was reported his condition was undetermined.

Hoover Tomorrow Opens Seals Sale

President and First Lady to Release Pigeons at Start of Drive.

President and Mrs. Hoover will officially open the annual Tuberculosis Christmas Seals Sale tomorrow morning at 10:20 o'clock when they release two homing pigeons from the front door of the White House.

The pigeons will carry the President's proclamation on the opening of the sales to the northern part of New Jersey, just outside of New York, when the message will be taken to the tuberculosis headquarters in New York. At 3:30 p. m. President Hoover will read his proclamation over a coast-to-coast radio hook-up.

In a letter to Mrs. Ernest R. Grant, president of the Tuberculosis Association, yesterday, with regard to the opening of the Christmas Seals Sale, L. H. Reichelderfer, president of the Board of Commissioners, heartily indorsed the project and expressed his desire, for the sake of those for whom the seals will be sold, that every citizen will, so far as possible, assist in making this sale successful.

Poisoned Man Taken to Hospital.

Herbert Griffin, 46, was removed from his home at 314 H street northwest yesterday and treated at the Emergency Hospital for poisoning. His condition is said not to be serious.
